THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

Governor Hurley addressed the 150th session of the Massachusetts General Court when that body convened on Wednesday. Much of the Governor's address was devoted to accomplishments of the past year and an appeal for the continuance of the co-operation which he received from the legislature during the early months of 1937. The Governor, however, rightly criticized the Federal government for its failure to "go through" on its alleged promise in regard to flood control projects in New England. To prevent a recurrence of the ravages which took place in the 1936 floods attention to this subject cannot be prolonged far into the future. Action is desirable and necessary.

THE MAYOR'S RECOMMENDATIONS

In his inaugural address last Saturday Mayor Childs makes numerous recommendations. He points out, however, that more than half a million dollars could be spent on projects which are sought by groups in various sections of the city. In these days when governmental economy is so essential, first consideration must be given those which are necessary, those which are self-supporting, and those which will render better and more economical service to the entire tax-paying public.

TO PRAISE OR CRITICIZE

During the past week we have received comments which both praise and criticize the street department for the work it was called upon to do during and after the storm on New Year's Day. There is little question of the impossibility which exists of pleasing everybody in conditions which arise during a week-end storm. However, when we contrast conditions in Newton with those in surrounding communities we have a basis for relative comparison. Following the past storm it took little traveling around Greater Boston to learn that Newton's handling of the storm deserves more praise than criticism.

Despicable Practice

By their works ye shall know them. The road-hog cuts a wide swath all right and takes in much more territory than the law and the rules of courtesy permit. But just remember, it's dangerous to dispute his right to your part of the road. He just takes the whole street and lets other drivers take what they can get. He's a despicable, selfish boor. It's hard to pierce the cloak of egotism and about the only line of talk that gets down beneath his thick skin is when the traffic judge looks at him and growls "30 days."

Lodges

On Monday, Jan. 10, the Sumner P. Lawrence will have a Pie Social after the regular meeting Tuesday, Jan. 11th, the Board of Directors of the Building Association will hold its monthly meeting. There will be a bridge and whist in Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, Jan. 11th, given by the Building Association.

On Friday evening, Jan. 14th, Sumner P. Lawrence will have a Pie Social at the home of Mrs. George Andolina, 611 Washington st., at 8 p. m.

Police To Use "Iron Claw"

Newton police will soon have added to their equipment a gadget which within the past few years has been adopted by many police departments throughout this country. It is known as the "iron claw" and is used instead of twisters to bring pugnacious prisoners into subjection after they have been arrested. The device was demonstrated to members of the Newton police department last week by a former New York policeman who invented it. The "iron claw" was gripped on a number of members of the department and they quickly cried "Uncle." Chief Hughes and Captain Vedeucio approve of the contraption. They say it is more effective than twisters, subdues a resisting man more quickly, and unlike the twisters, does not cut the wrist or arm of anyone to whom it is applied. The price of the device is $5.75 and Chief Hughes is going to ask for an appropriation in his annual budget to permit members of the Newton Police Department being supplied with them.

Mayor Childs Urges Preparation For Loss Of Federal WPA Funds

Tenth Inaugural Address Contains Many Recommendations—Financial Condition of City Is Excellent

Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen:

In accordance with law and custom, we meet today to organize our municipal government. At the outset I extend to you and to all of our people my sincere wishes that the New Year may be not only happy and helpful but also hopeful for you all.

We have been elected to our various offices by our friends and followers, nevertheless we are the servants of all the people, and every man, woman and little child in this city has a claim for the best sort of service which we can render.

To us has been entrusted the business of the city. We direct the affairs of a municipal corporation, which differs from a business corporation. A business corporation is conducted for profit; a municipal corporation for service. That service is rendered largely through departments, commissions and boards, but no department of city government and no particular method of conducting city affairs is so important as real service to our citizens, that service which is primarily the object for which departments and methods are created.

We have different duties to perform but only one end in view, namely to accomplish the greatest good for the largest number of our people. Those who have preceded us in town and city government have left us a great heritage. Our duty is to pass it on enriched and unimpaired. That heritage accounts largely for the standing of our city among her sister cities in this Commonwealth. And the standing is high.

Harvard Course

Harvard College in establishing a new course in municipal government has selected Newton as one of the cities for her students to study and young men from all parts of the world training under Professor Lambie come here to our department heads for light on problems in municipal government.

It is of interest to note that the famous psychologist, Professor Edward Lee Thorndike, of Columbia University Teachers College, in a test begun two years ago to see what cities were fit for man to dwell in selected 117 middle sized cities, gathering data about them on 120 traits. From these he picked 28 items which he thought most people would agree were attributes of a good town. At the top, from the standpoint of per capita income, he placed Newton, with Hartford, Connecticut, second; followed by Easton, Pennsylvania; and Cambridge, Massachusetts. From the standpoint of a low death rate, high per capita expenditures for education, libraries, parks and recreation, rarity of extreme poverty, high in proportion of home ownership, high proportion of youths over 16 in school, large per capita circulation of good magazines, widespread installation of gas and electricity, excess of doctors, nurses and teachers over male domestic servants, he ranked Newton high in general goodness; not from the standpoint of sophistication or show but from the standpoint of health and decency.

Good City Better

We may take a just pride in the privilege of directing the affairs of such a city, and I am sure that our sole aim will be to make a good city better.

And we will make it better if we constantly bear in mind that the greatest needs in government today are common honesty and common sense. I don't know why they call them common. But if practiced they will solve problems and reduce the cost of government everywhere.

America is a free and democratic country today, but it will be neither free nor democratic tomorrow unless its people love freedom and democracy enough to demand the highest possible standard of conduct on the part of all public officials.

At this time I wish to express my appreciation for the active and unselfish interest of the members of last year's Board of Aldermen, in dealing with the many problems of city government. Commendation is also due to administrative heads, boards and commissions and to the employees of the City for their loyal cooperation and support. A common love for a common task appears to have been manifested by all.

The financial condition of the city is sound. Cost of borrowings has been exceptionally low and bonds have sold well. This is because the city has the confidence and respect of the bankers, is generally regarded as well governed, with a minimum of bad practices, political and otherwise.

City Debt Cut

The debt has been reduced. Valuations for the most part are fair. Two millions have been crossed off during the past two years, and ten millions since 1932. The city has an honest tax rate, the lowest of any city in the Commonwealth. The net debt of the city is approximately six and one-half million, and our borrowing capacity practically a million.

A very large proportion of our debt is for schools and sewers, and there is something to show for the entire debt.

The health of the city has been satisfactory with the exception of an outbreak of scarlet fever in Newton Upper Falls, which has been controlled. Records of tuberculosis in Newton have been completely revised, and a very complete study of the tuberculosis situation here has been made by a representative of the National Tuberculosis Association. This work was carried on in cooperation with the Health Committee of the Newton Welfare Bureau.

A field survey of the health of preschool children in Newton has been made in the State Health Department in cooperation with the Newton District Nursing Association. The facts revealed will doubtless make it possible to plan some type of health service for this heretofore neglected group of children.

The school dental service has been completely organized and the equipment modernized with emphasis placed on preventive and prophylactic dental service. The milk control service has been reorganized so that at the present time the milk supply in Newton is under better supervision than at any time in the history of the city.

The communicable disease hospital owned by the city and located at the Newton Hospital has been completely renovated and new equipment purchased.

Pre-School Health

In planning for the future, the most pressing need in the health service of the city is the establishment of some type of preschool health service. The need for this was clearly demonstrated by our low rating in the health conservation contest, and also by the study made here during the past year of our preschool children.

The procedure for the control of the mosquito nuisance in the summer time, a complete study of which has been made by the State Department of Agriculture, should receive consideration.

The Health Department is well equipped and with additions which will be later recommended, to personnel and service, will be rendering the city complete and adequate health service.

The problem of unemployment and relief still continues to be one of major importance. It adds an increased burden to the taxpayer in current tax payments, but it is also providing permanent and necessary capital improvement which ultimately would have to be provided at the sole expense of the local tax payer.

On the last WPA payroll there were 417 workers while the average weekly roll for the year has been 340. Altogether the Federal Government has provided $328,700 to relieve unemployment here during the past year. This is a little less than the amount provided in 1936. The question for us the present year is whether to submit more projects or complete what are already under way and gradually withdraw from the receipt of Federal aid. More and more the Federal Government will shift the burden of relief to municipalities. Some day that aid will be withdrawn. Maybe we ought to be preparing for that day.

Federal Aid

The cost with and without Federal aid will be a determining factor as to just what policy to pursue.

An endeavor has been made through the Welfare Department to respond to every worthy need and while the burden has been heavy here as in every other municipality, we have been able to meet it on the "pay as you go" policy. Instead of issuing bonds as many cities have been obliged to do.

Strict supervision by an altogether too limited number of investigators has led to the discovery of some "chiselers" on the part of those asking for aid, but on the whole the record is remarkably good.

Aid for dependent children and old age assistance have brought an additional burden which taxpayers in every community have been glad to carry.

There are 37 more cases of dependent children and 94 more in old age assistance than a year ago. This work is new, compulsory and increasing.

Our schools which have always been the foundation of our country's greatness have been maintained at the usual high standard and have been a big factor in attracting new citizens and inducing them to make their homes with us.

That same standard will be maintained by the School Committee, our Superintendent and his efficient corps of teachers who are doing much to stimulate the mental, physical, yes, and spiritual growth of junior citizens of the republic. Character is caught not taught.

Zoning Modified

The zoning law, always being studied, has been modified to meet changing conditions, and most creditable work has been done. City planning has kept ahead of municipal work, and much is being done which can be fully appreciated only by future generations.

The Planning Board recommends that a traffic circle be constructed at Commonwealth ave. and Washington st.; that filling stations be not allowed within 400 feet of a school, church, public building, and, I might suggest, a playground.

Suggestion has also been made that a 15-foot setback be required of any one whose zoning is changed from residential to business and that on all new streets a 50-foot width be required instead of 40-foot as at present.

Much has been accomplished along many lines which will be a benefit to our people. The Safety Council has been organized and has been a working body from the start. Much has been planned which will ultimately result in greater safety for all. Most helpful suggestions have already been accepted and adopted by departments having various phases of safety work under their care.

In construction, 30,000 additional feet of water mains have been added to our distributing system, and the Northern Belt Loop which will afford better fire protection for the en-

Newton Republican, Jan. 8, 1876

The debate on the city government was opened by James T. Allen. He said that money had been uselessly applied in various departments, especially in our public schools. He said the office of Superintendent could be sustained by the masters of the schools, and that special teachers for music, drawing and penmanship are unnecessary, as they only direct the young ladies who do the teaching. He argued that Newton schools have been built in a most extravagant manner, and it costs more to educate a child in Newton than in any other place in Massachusetts. He said that taxes are becoming burdensome, have tripled in 10 years, and still our city debt increases. What are we to expect with the building of a water system unless retrenchment is made in every city department. S. R. Urbino did not believe that Newton should try to compete with Boston in schools. He believed in dispensing with the Superintendent of Schools.

N. T. Allen said the free library at Newton Corner is equal to an expense of $100,000 to the city, as it will cost $6000 annually to maintain. The reading room is only available to the people of that village, while every other village must support their own, if they have one.

Walter Allen said the Superintendent of Schools is the lever which moves our schools. He is the most important man in the department. He causes a regular maximum standard in each school, so that each does the same work at the same time. Mr. Sheldon thought this "maximum standard" is what we should remove from our schools, and let the individuality of the scholar be preserved. The "maximum standard" is like a mill or machine where the children are put in, and by a rotating process, all come out alike. He said this principle is totally wrong. He argued for a school committee composed of persons who can afford to give their best attention to the interests of the schools, that the office of superintendent be dispensed with, and the salaries of the teachers not be decreased.

At the inaugural exercises on January 3rd, Mayor Speare said the debt of the city had increased $79,361 the past two years. He advocated necessity as the boundary line of expense in all departments, and a reduction in the clerical force and salaries. He commended the schools and said no new building will be needed this year. He would build no new streets this year and would cut the highway expense to $57,000 for the year. The latter recommendation of Mayor Speare will touch a tender spot in many Newtonians, judging by the array of petitions which have poured in the past two years for new streets, and the improvement of old ones. Mayor Speare said the police force is too large, and the salaries of policemen should be reduced. He favors the appointment of a Chief of Police and the establishment of a police court in Newton. He said a Superintendent of Street Lights will result in a saving to the city. During the past two years 215 new street lights have been installed, and no further increase should be made this year.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Jan. 6, 1888

Edwin O. Childs hospitably entertained some brother Odd Fellows on Monday evening.

Several new-style telephones called the "Pulsion" telephone have been installed in this city. Engine 1 house, Henry C. Daniels and H. H. Miles are using them and report they are satisfactory.

Some years ago H. D. Bassett of Cambridge, Mass., was one of the most welcome callers on New Year's Day and it was through his efforts that the practice became so general in Newton. Recalling this, a large number of friends called on him on Monday to wish him "A Happy New Year," and to show him that they are still following the excellent example he set them.

(Editorial.) The grade crossings on the line of the Boston & Albany railroad in Newton are virtually death traps, waiting for their unwary victims, and the railroad commissioners say there is imperative necessity that they should be abolished. The citizens of Newton will agree with this statement, but they wish that the commissioners did more than simply make the statement. They promise, however, to call the attention of the legislature to the matter, and to recommend legislation requiring an immediate separation of grades. The Boston & Albany railroad professes to desire the separation of grades and to be willing to bear their share of the expense, but their desire is not urgent enough to lead them to furnish a plan for the abolition of grade crossings or an estimate of the probable cost. That they are willing to bear their share of the cost is commendable, but why should they not bear the whole expense? They have created the danger, and not the people of Newton. They receive the profit from the railroad, and the people of Newton must pay for whatever benefit they receive from the existence of the railroad. If the railroad had to pay a heavy fine for every person killed at these grade crossings, it would be more anxious than the people that the grade crossings be abolished.

Powers' Paragraphs

Following the bombing of the gunboat Panay on the Yangtze River in China by the Japanese, we read much about the alleged remarkable moving pictures which were taken of this event by Norman Alley, a news photographer, who boarded the Panay at Nanking just before the bombing. According to the newspaper reports these pictures showed the complete details of the bombing. Alley made speedy flights over the Pacific, and across this continent in airplanes, rushing the films to New York, and last week the pictures were displayed in many theatres throughout this country. We went to the Keith Theatre in Boston to see the "complete pictures" of the Panay bombing, and like many others the writer was quite disappointed when the film was presented. The film showed no bombing, in fact it did not show the Japanese airplanes which did the bombing. It did show the Panay at anchor before the incident, and then the film pictured members of the gunboat's crew rushing to man the guns on the boat.

The next views shown on the film were taken after bombing had stopped, when the Panay had started to sink, and the crew and passengers were taking to the gunboats. Apparently the moving picture photographer had retreated to some sheltered part of the gunboat while the bombing was in progress. This was a discreet and natural thing for him to do. But he didn't get a complete picture of the bombing and such advertising of the film duped thousands of persons, including the writer.

Mayor Childs' inaugural address contains numerous interesting comments and recommendations, some of which we agree with, and some of which we do not approve. The Mayor intimated that this city might withdraw gradually from the receipt of Federal aid, which totaled $328,700 in 1937. We believe that inasmuch as residents of this city are paying plenty in taxes, both tangible and intangible, or visible and invisible to the Federal government, that Newton should in return receive its fair allotment from Washington. We believe that the Mayor and Aldermen will continue to accept grants from the Federal government, and be glad to get them in order to keep our local tax rate from increasing considerably.

We agree with the Mayor in his comments — "The ability of the taxpayer to meet his taxes must be considered in our expenditures; — taxes are a privilege, but are fast becoming a burden." Since the depression started back in 1929 taxes have become an increasing burden which millions of people, including many in Newton, cannot carry. The Mayor recognized this fact in his 1936 inaugural when in referring to taxes he said—"We can eliminate non-essentials. We can guard against waste and needless expense. Wise economy should be our watchword." Because of these reasons we cannot understand why the Mayor suggests the creation of another public job in this city, a Commissioner of Public Safety. We have a Chief of the Fire Department, a Public Buildings Commissioner, Street Commissioner, a Public Health Officer and a Police Chief with 135 men under him, all supposed to be protecting public safety. Within the past month or two a Traffic Division has been established within the police department and a Lieutenant assigned to have charge of it. The Police Department cost citizens of Newton $330,852 last year and with additions to its personnel will cost more this year. The Fire Department cost $271,992 last year. The Police and Fire Departments of Newton compare more than favorably with those in most cities. Newton leads in freedom from crime, in safeguards for the protection of its residents. Why create an unneeded, new public office in this city, an office whose functions would duplicate those of other public officials? Of course it would make a nice, soft job for somebody, and a "build-up" for this proposed office has been in progress the past year. But the taxpayers are entitled to consideration, the welfare burden is increasing, and the tax rate in Newton will probably increase this year. If the city has any money to spare, it can be well spent for food, fuel and clothing for those in need, not to establish additional, unnecessary public offices.

A Director or Commissioner of Public Safety, or half a dozen with such titles in Newton or elsewhere, would not appreciably lessen automobile accidents. It is common knowledge that until laws relative to automobile traffic on highways are enforced, the disgraceful carnage caused by motor vehicles will continue in this country. Over 41,000 persons were killed or fatally injured last year, and hundreds of thousands injured. When policemen stop fixing cases for persons who violate traffic laws; when judges cease showing clemency to drunken drivers by fining them small amounts, or suspending their fines; when judges discontinue filing cases of speeders and reckless drivers, including those who ignore traffic signals; and when juries stop finding drunken and dangerous drivers not guilty, then, and not until then, will the U. S. A., including Massachusetts, diminish to any marked degree the terrible record of highway fatalities which is a disgrace to this country.

Mayor Childs' inaugural recommendation that there be a real consolidation of the Street, Water and Engineering Departments under a Public Works Director has caused much comment in view of the fact that in 1936 he caused the abolition of this office, when he refused to recommend any appropriation in the budget of that year for its continuance. This resulted in much criticism by members of the Board of Aldermen, and several attempts on the part of the Aldermen to persuade the Mayor to change his attitude. But he refused, with the result that Richard H. Ellis, who had been promoted from the office of Water Commissioner to that of Director of Public Works, under the administration of Mayor Weeks, was dismissed from the service of the city, and the office abolished.

President Roosevelt was far less condemnatory of big business and the inordinately wealthy than was Secretary Ickes or Asst. Attorney General Jackson, but his speech to Congress has not produced much applause from the conservatives. Both big business and government can be criticized. Many of our financial and industrial leaders have been insatiable in their quest for wealth, and have resorted to practices that are neither ethical nor patriotic. We have compulsory education in this country, its inhabitants are not actively ignorant as were the Russian serfs. So, the millions of more or less intelligent Americans who have been reduced to poverty and near poverty since our economic condition has become jeopardized, are poorer, more and more bitter at concentration of wealth. On the other hand, the millions of common people who have been struggling to remain independent have observed such waste of public moneys, seen so many sinecures being paid from public treas-

Watch Out for Tumbles

Ashes or sand? Which shall be used to make secure our outdoor footing when the walking is slippery? One group demands sand and points out that a lot of householders don't have ashes any more. The other answers that sand costs money. Then comes the retort that ashes tracked into the house play the mischief with floors and rugs, although sand, had enough, is not quite as terrible. Let the debate proceed but first make certain that one or the other is spread in liberal quantities. With them we stand, without them we fall.

Nothing Can Stop it

It was my intention to attend the inaugural ceremonies at City Hall last Saturday but I was prevented by the snow storm. Possibly if I had owned or succeeded in borrowing a pair of snowshoes I might have been on hand. One group demands sand and points out that a lot of householders don't have ashes any more. The other answers that sand costs money. Then comes the retort that ashes tracked into the house play the mischief with floors and rugs, although sand, had enough, is not quite as terrible. Let the debate proceed but first make certain that one or the other is spread in liberal quantities. With them we stand, without them we fall.

"Night Before" Episode

Although Twelfth Night has come and gone I think this "night before Christmas" incident, right here in Newton, is very much worth while. The "little man" of the house, a firm believer in Santa Claus' ability to provide anything at very short notice, had a few last minute messages which the family were not expecting. One of these, dictated at 11 p. m. and placed at the bottom of the tree, read, "Dear Santa, Please leave three bones for the dogs." It meant that Santa Claus was to provide each of the pets with whom the little fellow plays regularly, a suitable Christmas gift. A hurried consultation, examination of the ice box, frantic calls by phone to several neighbors and finally the bones were secured. They hung on the tree Christmas morning and were no doubt thoroughly appreciated by the recipients. Tight squeeze though for Santa Claus and his staff.

Easily Satisfied

Point of view, after all, has greater significance than many imagine, especially if we go about making uninvited comparisons. A friend of mine told me of an incident, which proves how easily satisfied some people may be. Standing at the front entrance of a big New York hotel where he had registered he observed a spruce looking old gentleman burst through the revolving door and plant himself on the sidewalk. My friend had just driven down from his summer home in the Vermont hills and was in that mood which causes one to almost hate the city, its clouds of smoke and stench of gasoline, etc. He watched the old gentleman and was astonished when the latter threw out his chest and began to breathe deeply. "On Lexington ave. and Broadway of all places," thought my friend. The other must have sensed my friend's thoughts. Turning, he explained, "I just came out to get some of this wonderful fresh air!" And he was in earnest.

Worth Thinking Over

Honestly, I am no propagandist. What my private views of the Japanese may be I'd be glad to reveal if asked. But I've got to pass this observation along. It came from a man who has lived wisely and traveled far. Said he, "As long as only Americans are killed by Japanese everything will be peaceful. Let an American kill a Jap and there'll be something doing."

Recent Weddings

HOLLAND-JOHNSON

Miss Astrid Elisabeth Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanfrid Knut Johnson of 167 Morton st., Newton Centre, was married to Raymond Prunty Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holland of Scarsdale, New York at four o'clock on Friday afternoon, December 31 in the First Church in Newton, Newton Centre. Rev. Morrison Russell Boynton performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Edward T. Sullivan.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a princess gown of ivory satin, a full length tulle veil caught to a cap of rosepoint lace and carried lilies of the valley and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ingrid Johnson, as maid of honor, who wore a gown of wine colored velvet with a matching veil and gold coronet and carried tallman roses and yellow snapdragons. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Barstow, Mrs. Thomas Reed Kinraid, Miss Ruth Ulmer and Miss Louis A. Sheppard. Jail Sentence
Balks Marriage

M. John Enegees, probation officer of the Newton district court has helped solve many matrimonial tangles, but he didn't cooperate with Cupid the past week. In fact Mr. Enegees was responsible for thwarting, for two months at least, the marriage of Herbert Brayman, 40, of 1204 Chestnut st., Newton Upper Falls, and Christine McPherson, 37, of 507 Ward st., Newton Centre. Mr. Brayman, who had been employed as a WPA worker had his New Year's Eve rudely disturbed when he was arrested by Patrolmen Brayton and Gagnon. And Mr. Enegees was responsible for Mr. Brayman being seized. The probation officer happened to read in a newspaper that Mr. Brayman was planning to marry Miss McPherson. Inasmuch as the intended groom happened to be on probation under Mr. Enegees' control for failing to contribute to the support of his two children, who reside with Brayman's divorced wife at Newton Centre, the probation officer was of the opinion that Mr. Brayman should not enter into a second matrimonial venture when he was not fulfilling obligations incurred by his first marriage.

In the Newton court on Monday Judge Mayberry sentenced Brayman to serve 60 days in Middlesex County prison at Billerica. The interruption to Mr. Brayman's romance did not daunt him, for he stated that the marriage license is good for 6 months, and he will use it when his prison term is concluded.

"Zorro Rides Again"—New SerialMany Boston Agencies
Render Service To Newton

Figures on the extent of direct service rendered by Greater Boston's Community Fund agencies to the people of Newton, were announced this week by Ripley L. Dana, local chairman for the 1938 campaign, to be conducted from January 21 to February 8, in 75 cities and towns comprising Greater Boston.

"Newton has certain local resources and agencies which render a part of the health and social service this community requires and these local services rightly have the loyal support of our citizens," Mr. Dana said.

"However, Greater Boston's Community Fund supports 109 hospitals, health, protective and social service agencies, most of which have headquarters in Boston as a matter of convenience. These agencies aid and supplement the local services and render many services not available locally.

"When the people of Newton subscribe to Greater Boston's Community Fund, they are sharing in the support of services vitally needed by their own fellow townsmen," Mr. Dana said. To substantiate this statement, he announced figures on direct service rendered by Community Fund agencies to people of Newton last year. They were as follows:

Total days care in hospitals	4,575
Total treatments in clinics and dispensaries	8,475
Other health services	18
Family service and relief	226
Service to aged and handicapped	88
Service to children	141
Settlement and youth service	930
Miscellaneous service	13

All of these figures are actual, except those for days of hospital care and number of clinic treatments. These hospital and clinic figures are based on four one-day censuses and are regarded as very conservative.

Newton Glass
Company Shows
Big Business Gain

The advertisement of the Newton Glass Company in the GRAPHIC last week produced such a tremendous response, that Mr. Frederick, President and Treasurer of the firm invited our representative to call at their shops and see the large volume of picture framing in the process of completion. The advertisement set forth the facts that in anticipation of the usual "After Christmas" let-up in the Framing Department, and in order to keep the pre-Christmas staff of employees employed, a concession in price on certain types of work would be made during January and February.

Mr. Frederick is a firm believer in newspaper advertising and is therefore not unduly surprised at the results obtained by this particular advertisement. He is however gratified to see that Newton residents manifest such an interest in his solicitude for his employees.

For a number of years prior to the opening of the Newton Glass Co., Mr. Frederick conceived the idea and became convinced that a store of this kind properly organized and managed efficiently, with the end in view of giving faithful service and selling quality merchandise only, would fill a need in the community and achieve success for itself.

Mr. Frederick had been connected with the Standard Plate Glass Co. for many years holding an important position with that firm; he made a study of glass, its manufacture, uses, etc., which together with the practical training that his work gave him, qualified him as an authority on this interesting product.

At first the store was simply a glass store where could be purchased building glass, auto glass, framed mirrors and pictures. Soon it developed that a picture framing department must be added. This department has now grown to be one of the busiest in the business. It is as complete as any in greater Boston.

In 1933 table glass was added which consisted of the products of such famous makers as "Duncan-Miller," "Cambridge," "Fostoria," and "Helsely."

Roseville pottery, Eagle Wall Brackets and bowls were stocked as well as the famous Stuart line of wrought iron.

When talking with a representative of the GRAPHIC recently Mr. Frederick said, "The public looks for and appreciates a square deal. We attribute our success to the manner in which we have dealt with our customers. Selling only the highest grade of merchandise plus the prompt and efficient services which we render, keeps our regular customers satisfied, attracts new ones, and builds up a good will which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. We have been consistent advertisers in the GRAPHIC, and our advertising has served to acquaint Newton residents with our services and our merchandise.

Toboggan Hits
Auto, Three Hurt

Two young men and a girl, coasting near Lasell Junior College, were injured last Wednesday night when their toboggan crashed into an automobile on Berkeley st. Charles M. Thrasher, 26, of Natick suffered a fractured left leg. Carl G. Hedin, 23, also of Natick, fractured a wrist. Edna Harper, 20, of 28 Grove st., Auburndale, was treated by Dr. Henry P. Keever. Hope Reynolds, also of Auburndale, another passenger on the toboggan was uninjured. The two young men were removed to the hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolman Charles Goodale and Frank O'Donnell.

The automobile, operated by Mrs. Jennie T. Amesbury of Berkeley pl., was proceeding on Berkeley pl. The report to the police stated that the accident happened about 11:15 when the toboggan came down the chute from the street, coasted into the street, and struck the car. Although the street had been sanded snow had been spread over the sand to enable toboggans to coast across.

Federal Agency
Wants Street Laid

The Home Owners Loan Corporation as an owner of property on Coolidge rd., Newton Centre, has filed a petition at city hall seeking the acceptance of the road by the city. The petition calls for the laying out, grading, and acceptance of the street, now a private way, from Ward st. to Eastbourne rd. The street would be 40 feet in width and its cost would be assessed on abutting property owners. The Board of Aldermen will hold a public hearing on the petition on a date to be assigned.

Burglars Ransack
Home in Newton

The family of Arthur H. Higgins returned to their home at 115 Waban park yesterday to find that burglars had ransacked the house sometime this week. Although the family had been away since last September members of the family had visited the house on Sunday, when they found everything in order. Mrs. Higgins notified the police and Sergeant Thomas F. Leehan and a squad of patrolmen were sent. They found that the thieves had entered the house through a cellar window and forced a door leading to the first floor. When they departed the burglars left the front door open. Extent of the theft was not known until Mrs. Higgins could complete a checkup of household possessions.

Religious Film To Be Shown At Auburndale Church

The Men's Club of the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale will present Cecil B. deMille's famous religious film "The King of Kings" in the Parish House of the church on Thursday, January 13. The film will be presented with sound and music, the afternoon performance at 2 p. m. and the evening performance at 8.

The "King of Kings" is an elaborate and reverent production of the greatest story in the world. It opens with a scene in the house of Mary of Magdala, where an elaboration of luxury is used to contrast with the Magdalene's shame and repentance when she finds herself face to face with Christ. The character of Judas is developed with subtlety and skill. The Miracles and the gentle care for children and the lowly are shown in picture after picture. There is dramatic force in the driving of the moneychangers from the Temple where our Lord appears as a strong man filled with righteous resentment. And so the drama reaches its climax in Gethsemane in the meeting place of the Sanhedrin, in the hall of Pilate's palace and finally on Mount Calvary. Immense pains have been taken to make each character vivid and individual.

The public is cordially invited to see the production of this reverent and inspiring motion picture.

Day Jr. High School

The members of the Student Government Staffs are planning a dance to be held on Friday, January 14th, which the school is giving in recognition of their services for the first half of the year. The officers of the Student Council, Raymond Hunting, Virginia Kyle, and Stanley Merrill, and the captain of the Girls' Cafeteria Staff, Janet McEwan, are to act as hosts and hostesses. Robert Beatty, Dorothy Cox, Jack Kellar, Francis Leone, Joan McGrath and William Thompson are to be the usherettes. Virginia Kyle is in charge of music. Jack Kellar is making the general arrangements, and Marie Gallagher is chairman of the refreshment committee which consists of Betty Cook, Betty Brown, Anne Morehouse, Charles Thomas, and Jack DuPont.

Mr. Blue and Miss Peoples are giving their gym class an opportunity to receive instruction in social dancing during the regular gym periods. The instruction is given to groups in which the need is apparent.

The WPA Orchestra under the baton of Mr. Herman Sulzen is to give its first concert of the school year at the P. A. Day School on Friday, January 7th.

The seventh grade rally is to take place on Tuesday, Jan. 15th, to be followed two days later by the annual election of class officers. The election campaign began before the Christmas holidays, and the posters around the halls of the building advertise cleverly the following candidates: For President, John DuPont and Charles McKusick; for Vice President, George Holman, Evelyn Prosser, and Robert White; for Secretary, Betty Bern and Mary De Stefano; for Treasurer, William Hurt, Rose Forte, Mary Leonard and Margery Snow.

uries, that they are in doubt whether it is preferable to receive less than their rightful share of wealth under a defective, greedy capitalistic system, or be bled white under pyramidizing taxes to pay for wasteful, inefficient governmental activities, including those of cities, States and the Federal government.

Even in our business districts the snow and ice has not been removed from many sidewalk areas. Why doesn't the police enforce the city ordinance?

On December 31st Ernest E. Forsyth closed his market at 296 Centre st., Newton, and many older residents of the city genuinely regret the passing of Forsyth's Market. For 39 years Ernest Forsyth honorably and intelligently served the people of Newton. Coming here as a young man from Coldbrook, N. S., he was employed for 14 years by the late Gilman Brackett who conducted a provision business from his estate at the corner of Centre and Bellevue sts. Mr. Brackett, a member of an old Newton family, purveyed to prominent residents of Newton and vicinity. He sold only the best of available meats and other food. In 1913 Mr. Forsyth took over Mr. Brackett's business and for 25 years maintained the reputation of conducting a market which specialized in selling meats of the highest quality, a market which accorded to its patrons conscientious service. Now at the age of 74, Mr. Forsyth's health forces his retirement. He has earned an excellent reputation as a business man and as a citizen. His many friends wish him improved health in the future, and well merited relaxation in his declining years.

Girl Scouts

On January 6th several of the younger women of West Newton met at 10 a. m. at the Second Church for a rally to arouse interest in West Newton Girl Scouts. Morning coffee was served. Mrs. Theron B. Walker, scout commissioner of Newton, and H. C. Ballard, volunteer worker, spoke.

Girl Scouts in West Newton have recently been reorganized with Mrs. W. R. Bowditch as chairman, Mrs. H. C. Barton and Mrs. C. H. Ward as vice chairman and Mrs. M. Bush as treasurer.

The six troops in West Newton, as they are increasing in numbers need additional leaders. A course in child training and scout leadership which is to be started on January 11th, has evinced great interest and was discussed at the meeting.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

Students returned for the opening of college on Tuesday afternoon. Marjorie Naquin, of Kukuhaele, Hawaii, spent the vacation with classmates and relatives in New York. Sonia Soldado, of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was a guest in the home of the Honduran consul. The assembly speaker for today was the Honorable Herbert C. Parsons, Director of the Massachusetts Child Council. Mrs. Wiley Sypher resumed her weekly current event talks on Thursday.

Mayor Childs' Inaugural Address

fire area north of the Boston and Albany Railroad tracks has been completed and at a price much below the estimated cost.

New Wells

Two new wells on the water reservation will give us a supply of water adequate for present needs as well as for some years to come.

Many betterment streets have been completed and street construction, resurfacing, sewer and drainage work have been carried on as planned, adding much to the comfort and convenience of our people.

Park and playground improvements have been made and with WPA assistance, much to promote recreation and solve the problem of leisure for young people and those of older growth, has been accomplished which might otherwise have been long delayed.

Life and property have been protected by Police and Fire Departments. Recommendations looking to improvement in this service will be made as time goes on by the heads of these two most important departments.

The Library with its many branches old and new has made an excellent record. Additional activities and improvements together with the personal efforts of the Librarian and his assistants have contributed much to the enjoyment of our reading public and especially the children.

Truly we can look back upon the year just closed with its problems and difficulties and take satisfaction in the progress made in all departments of city government.

Tax Burden

As we look to the future the great question is what can we afford to do under present conditions. The ability of the taxpayer to meet his taxes must be considered in our expenditures. Mr. Justice Holmes used to say that taxes are a privilege and not a burden.

True, they are a privilege, because through taxes we are able to buy a great many services and conveniences at low rates. But if that honored justice were living today he might modify his statement by saying that taxes are a privilege but are fast becoming a burden.

And yet half a million dollars could be easily spent in doing what different groups in different sections of the city demand immediate action as absolute necessities.

What we do must be paid for and tax day is always ahead. It would seem right now things not urgent in point of time, although most desirable, should be postponed. There are some projects already begun which should be completed, and some new matters which should receive attention.

The new Franklin School should be built. The Schofield land and building adjoining the Hawthorn Playground should be taken, and the McGlinchey house which logically belongs to the High School property should be acquired.

Ice House Site

I believe that the best interests of the city demand that the site of the Crystal Lake ice houses should be owned by the city in order that the land may be properly developed. Cold Spring swamp should also be acquired. By the planting of poplars along the Beacon st. front, the city can have a place for many years at its very center for the dumping of ashes and refuse. This dump can be judiciously controlled and a swamp will be eliminated and land which can be developed into a beautiful park will be ours. Future generations will benefit by this action. Failure to take advantage of this opportunity would be a monumental shortsightedness, in my judgment.

I believe that arrangements can be made with the owners for the removal of the unsightly buildings at the old Brackett Coal Yard with small expense to the city. This property should have been taken by the city when Washington st. was widened forty years ago.

I believe also that arrangements can be made with the abutters on Silver Lake so that the city may control the water and shore and supervise skating for people in that locality. Ways and means should be devised for making Rumford ave. passable for the buses of the Middlesex and Boston and for our Fire Department if called for service in that part of the city.

The long needed comfort station at Newton Corner should become a reality, and consideration should be given to the enlargement of the soldiers lot in the Newton Cemetery before available land is sold to other parties.

The utilization of the land in the rear of Police Headquarters and the Court House for parking facilities is another matter which may well be considered the present year.

The Oak Hill belt loop main from the Pumping Station through Winchester and Nahantons sts. and eventually to Dedham st. should be started. This will afford better fire protection for the Working Boys Home, the Oak Hill section and Peabody Home.

We have already gone on record that the two-platoon system for the Fire Department should be adopted as soon as the finances of the city will bear the additional burden without sacrifice of more pressing needs or unreasonable increase in the tax rate. Whether that time has arrived cannot be determined at the present moment.

These are some of the projects which should be considered the present year. Taking a longer look ahead, we can always have in mind projects to be undertaken in the future. Among these are:

The Grove Street Playground at Auburndale.

The Webster Playground at Newton Centre.

The Oak Hill Playground.

Additional tennis courts at Newton Centre.

Consolidation of north and south side Fire Stations.

Completion of Thoroughfare rd. from Parker to Dedham at Newton. Additional land for Auburndale Playground and the development of the Lowell Avenue Playground. The children of West Newton hill have no handy playground, and the upper level of the Lowell ave. land offers an opportunity for a playing field for small children and boys up to nine years of age.

Last but not least a new bridge over the river at Charles st. is needed.

School Program

The ten year school program already mapped out, I bring to the attention of the new members of the Board. This calls for the new Franklin School in 1938. Elliot, Lincoln School in 1939. Addition to Burr School, together with administration building for School Department and Committee in 1940. Trade School in 1941. Replacement of the Rice School by the construction of three elementary schools in 1942. Replacement of Williams School and a new Junior High School in 1944.

The need of community centers should ever be kept in mind even though their establishment is for some time delayed. There is a pressing need for these at Nonantum, Upper Falls, West Newton and Thompsonville. These centers in congested areas where people with different backgrounds can get together will not only stimulate national thinking but will bring about a spirit of friendliness, understanding and goodwill. They should be located near playgrounds in order that outdoor and indoor activities may overlap. This will materially affect the cost of supervision.

Existing facilities should be carefully studied and until such time as a building program can be definitely started and the needs of various neighborhoods met, a more liberal use of public buildings should be made.

When these four centers shall have been realized, there will doubtless follow in the distant future a general large centre for all of Newton where large public meetings, musical festivals and dramatic productions may be held and where arts and crafts may be developed. I picture this building on the hill at the Newton Centre playground, but as yet a long way off.

With neighborhood centres, work carried on so successfully in the summer time can be continued during the winter months. This will mean a decrease in juvenile delinquency and will be the best sort of preventive work.

Department Changes

When the present city charter was adopted, Newton was a somewhat different city than today. The passing years have brought new problems and changes in our charter and ordinances have been suggested.

Biennial elections of city officials have already been approved. I wonder if our people are ready to approve study might well be given to the question of whether further changes are advisable, so as to establish a purchasing agent; to affect a real consolidation of Street, Water and Engineering Departments under a Public Works Director; separation of the office of Treasurer and Collector; establishment of a Public Safety Commission; full time for members of the Board of Assessors; and the long delayed changes in Ward lines.

Some of these changes will doubtless come in the years ahead even if the time seems not ripe for them now.

I cannot close without expressing my appreciation for the splendid service rendered in and to our city by the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Community Chest, the Welfare Bureau, the Red Cross, the Newton Hospital and its allied organizations and our Veteran organizations. While not directly connected with the city, their service is invaluable to us and to all of our people.

The Veteran organizations have been particularly helpful and have responded promptly to every call from Newton Post No. 48 of the American Legion is to be congratulated upon the honors reflected on the Post and the City by the Drill Team which won the Championship at the recent New York convention.

Post Drill Team

I am sure that our citizens will feel it a privilege to join with Post 48 in its endeavor to send to the next convention this Team which according to custom will act as the escort for the National Commander.

When the City Hall was built, the Spanish War Veterans were completely forgotten when our country's wars were pictured in the rotunda of the War Memorial. There is still one panel for a mural, and I shall recommend an appropriation at the proper time for the painting of such a one which will ever remind us of the heroes of that war.

These are some of the matters upon which we may center our thoughts, study of which may be of benefit to our citizens.

A great opportunity and a great task confront us. It has been customary from the beginning to open inauguration exercises with prayer—to call upon Almighty God to associate himself with men in the important work which they are about to undertake. A clergyman, in this service. This reminds us that not only the home and the school but also the church has a great part in the building of a city and in the making of that program which is both onward and upward.

After all the strength of any city doesn't lie wholly in schools and in education, in labor and industries, or even in her patriotism or her charities. It lies in the character of her citizens. The Church is a great character builder, and I pay tribute to the work of our clergy of all denominations for the great program which they are carrying out. The value of their work cannot be overestimated, for while in these later days there has been a rapid increase in external knowledge, that is in science and in the command of men over material things, he has lost his grip on spiritual truths.

When that great seer of Holy Writ (in that book which few people read) described that vision of the ideal social order, He pictured it as a city which He called the "New Jerusalem"; in other words, his old home town made over. It hadn't arrived, but it was coming.

Such a city never comes out of the gutter. It always comes down from heaven. And that is as He saw it. Maybe we can have a part in the making of something approaching that ideal city, that city which has on the east three gates, on the west three gates, on the north three gates and on the south three gates, facing in every direction and fronting squarely and directly on every conceivable human interest and activity; that city whose length and breadth and height are equal and where His servants serve Him.

File Claims Against City

Among the claims recently filed against the city of Newton, one from Leona Murphy of 8 Eldredge street, Newton, for injuries received when she fell on Dec. 4 on the sidewalk at 214 Washington st. She claims that the fall was caused by a defect in an iron grating on the sidewalk. Leona Murphy of Newton has presented a claim for damages. On Dec. 9 she stepped into a posthole in the sidewalk at Washington and Cherry sts., West Newton. The hole had been covered with sand. Miss Murphy states her left knee was injured and her clothing damaged. William Finn and Ada Finn presented claims as the result of their automobile dropping into a trench on Parker st., Newton Centre, on December 11. They allege that the trench was not properly guarded or marked. Finn asks for damages to his car, and Ada Finn for personal injuries.

Catholic Welfare Committee Meets

The Newton Catholic Welfare Committee held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night at Our Lady's Rectory in Newton.

Reports received from the five conferences of St. Vincent de Paul in this city showed that they distributed 272 Christmas baskets to needy families in this city, in addition to donations of cash, fuel and clothing. In the Sacred St. Francis St. Francis Guild co-operated by providing toys for poor children.

The annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee will be held on Sunday, January 30 in the auditorium of Our Lady's High School. The principal speaker at this meeting will be Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance, and formerly in charge of the Welfare Dept. in the City of Boston. William P. Eustis will give a talk on the activities of the St. Vincent de Paul Conferences in this city.

To Conduct Series Of Neighborly Dances

Newton's Neighborly Dances, a new feature of the community's adult recreational programs, will begin on Tuesday evening, January 18th under the auspices of the Newton Circle. Present plans call for dances every Tuesday evening at the Underwood School on Vernon st., Newton Corner, throughout the winter.

Young people of the city will welcome the new opportunity for an inexpensive evening of dancing with Lou Haffermehl's orchestra in the pleasant hall of the Underwood School the sponsoring committee believes. The dances are planned primarily for Newton young people over eighteen. It has been found that there is plenty of recreation for school children, but not for those just through school or young married couples. The Newton Circle is sponsoring the present series of dances as a community project in adult recreation. The only charge will be a nominal admission fee.

All the dances will be run from 8 to 11 o'clock and to assist those who would like to learn to dance better an instructor from the Champagne School of Dancing will be in attendance at the first six dances. The committee invites the co-operation of industrial clubs and others interested in establishing the dances as a part of Newton's community life.

Americanization Class Are Guests At New Year's Party

The Americanization Class of Newton Upper Falls with their instructor, Mrs. M. Estelle Seaver, were entertained at a New Year's Party on Tuesday, Jan. 4, from 2 to 5 p. m. in the Parish Hall of the First M. E. Church.

Mrs. G. Vaughn Shedd assisted by a group of ladies from the Home Missionary Society were the hostesses of the afternoon. Miss Ruth Hartshorn assisted by a group of young friends gave a Puppet Show which was followed by a piano selection by Mrs. M. Estelle Seaver, games and singing. Refreshments were served the guests by a group of ladies.

This class has been meeting under the leadership of Mrs. M. Estelle Seaver, in the R. U. Emerson School on Tuesday afternoons and Friday mornings during the school year and is attended by parents of the school children including Russian, Polish, Italian and Armenian nationalities. An attendance of 12 to 14 students. Eight members have received their first instructions in the duties of an American citizen. The class is a great character builder, and I pay tribute to the work of our clergy of all denominations for the great program which they are carrying out. The value of their work cannot be overestimated, for while in these later days there has been a rapid increase in external knowledge, that is in science and in the command of men over material things, he has lost his grip on spiritual truths.

In informal fashion, Miss Flora G. Porter and D. T. Burnett discussed the problem of furnishing a newly-finished, unpainted six-room house for the sum of $2500, just as they would discuss it in their own Boston shop.

American Home Day of the Newton Community Club will be celebrated on Thursday, January 13th, at 2 p. m., in the Underwood School Hall. Miss Mary Sue Wigley will be the speaker, her subject being "Problems of the Home."

Miss Wigley, a gifted daughter of Alabama, rose from a humble experience of living in a log house to great success in life. She will be remembered as a most entertaining speaker at the State Federation Annual Meeting at Swampscott.

In a unique and entertaining way Miss Wigley gives each listener an insight into the real home values of our American life.

The American Home committee is planning, also, a delightful feature in a "Family Treasure" Exhibit, in which all members are asked to co-operate by contributing interesting heirlooms.

The International Relations committee will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Peter Turpin, 25 Huntington rd., Newton, at 2:15 p. m., on Monday, January 17th.

Those interested in methods to obtain better international understanding are invited to meet with this group.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

group of members of the Milton Woman's Club.

Through the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, chairman of its Women's Advisory Committee and a former president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an enjoyable and inspirational talk entitled "Budgeting Our Lives," at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Tuesday afternoon, January 4th, in the village Club House.

Introduced by the chairman of the Day, Mrs. Howard P. Converse, the speaker gave a delightful talk on work and life and play, spicing her remarks with many humorous anecdotes and wise sayings of the world's famous people.

Declaring that happiness is nearly always a rebound from hard work, Mrs. Palmer reminded her audience that this much-sought virtue is often found in little things. Quoting Margaret Slattery, she went on to say that success is often spelled S-H-I-L-L-K, while failure is spelled S-H-I-L-L-K, the difference being the importance of the wife and homemaker, Mrs. Palmer said that the responsibilities of such a job could never be estimated in dollars and cents, but that if every housewife were paid a salary of $15 a week it would represent a national weekly payroll of $30 millions of dollars. By efficiently managing our homes, she continued, we can help in the efficient management of our nation. "Simplicity," she quoted, "is making the journey of life with just baggage enough."

In closing, Mrs. Palmer left with her audience the observation made recently by a well-known Chicago doctor that people with a sincere religious faith live longer and happier lives than others.

Tea was served in the Lounge following the lecture, by Mrs. Silvanus Smith and the members of her Hospitality committee. The powers were the two new directors of the Club, Mrs. Grace H. Fluke and Mrs. George F. Howland.

At the business meeting earlier in the afternoon, conducted by the president, Mrs. James Dunlop, an announcement was made of the postponement of the Winter Flower Show of the Auburndale Garden Club until Monday, January 24th.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held at the Congregational Parish House on January 4th. A dessert-luncheon was served, with New Members as guests of honor, Mrs. Edwin Gibbs and Mrs. Theron Walker, both past presidents of the Club, presided at the coffee table.

Mrs. H. Herbert Hale, president, opened the meeting of the Club at 2:30 o'clock. Following routine business, Mrs. Hale introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation, who spoke briefly of two important projects of the Federation: first, of the need of using clothing for destitute people of the city, stating that bags to contain all contributions would be distributed at the close of the meeting; and second, announcement of a concert to be given at the Newton High School by the W. P. A. Symphony Orchestra. A percentage of the profits will be used for buying musical instruments to be the property of the city and to be used by deserving Newton young people. All residents of Newton are urged to support this very worthwhile endeavor.

Miss Dorothy Speare spoke in a most engaging manner under the topic "A Writer Visits Hollywood," telling many very amusing and intimate anecdotes of well-known people. The afternoon's lecture was closed by a very old comparison between moving picture production and women's clubs, to the effect that both have as the objective the greatest good for the greatest number, to be, and is, achieved only by complete co-operation.

New Year's Day

In spite of the inclement weather 32 out of 40 members of the Cadet Class at the Newton Y. M. C. A. and their parents were present on New Year's morning to enjoy a program of games in the Gymnasium and swimming in the Pool.

In the evening more than 250 were present to participate in the activities planned by the Social Committee, and to watch the various games and entertainment. Squash Racquets matches between Roland Coombs and Malcolm Clarke and Vaughan Pipes and Charles L. Goodrich were most interesting. The Table Tennis match between Mr. L. M. Shepardson and Mr. Edward Sweeney received much applause. Vaughan Pipes and Arthur Jacobs playing against Newton C. Burnett and Al Ragon showed the possibilities of Badminton.

Junior members, under Mr. V. A. Anderson's direction, gave a splendid exhibition of tumbling, marching, class work, and swimming. An exhibition of swimming was also put on by members of the Senior Swimming Team.

Soon after nine o'clock the Assembly Hall was filled to overflowing when Mr. F. Sayford Bacon, chairman of the Social Committee, introduced Pietro Mordella and his daughter Flora and Arthur Santell who were the entertainers for the evening.

President Frank A. Day and many of the Directors were present to aid the Social Committee in receiving their guests. President Day's New Year's Message was "May the New Year bring you Health and Happiness! Health, because life is drab without it; Happiness because in its absence we merely exist." He also expressed his own personal appreciation and the appreciation of the Staff of Secretaries for the fine cooperation which had been given by the members during the past year.

The members of the Social Committee tee who planned this event were: F. Sayford Bacon, chairman, Eldred M. Peterson, Newton C. Burnett, Arthur M. Jacobs, G. Arthur Linthwaite, E. J. Pease, Albert Rogan, Henry G. Pierce, and Arthur H. Clarke.

Christmas Seal Sale

The Christmas Health Seal Committee is still receiving replies to the letters sent at Thanksgiving and the following report shows an increase over that of last week. Receipts reported to January 4th are as follows:

Newton	$17.40
Newtonville	79.90
Newton Centre	1052.16

Newton Upper Falls	134.00
Newton Lower Falls	25.30
Total	$5503.56

The committee wishes to thank all who have helped during the campaign and to express appreciation to those who have assisted in the publicity given the Sale. The co-operation of the Newton Paramount Theatre in printing the Seal Trailer at many performances and of local markets in showing notices in their trade bulletins, as well as the generosity of the local newspapers in giving space weekly is particularly appreciated. Gratitude is also expressed to the management of the Newton High School paper, "The Newtonite" for the front page article and for the appealing editorial. The committee feels sure that these friends have aided materially in building up the drive.

The local chairman are still anxious to augment their receipts and will welcome additional contributions until the State Tuberculosis League calls for the final accounting.

American Red Cross

The Roll Call committee, headed by Mrs. Henry T. Patch, chairman, report the following figures towards their quota of 6,000 members for 1937:

The committee hopes that 603 other members will join their $1.00 memberships to Headquarters as soon as possible, so that the local work in Newton will not be curtailed.

CHILDREN GIVE CONCERT AT HOSPITAL

A selected group from the Children's Singing Guild visited the Newton Hospital last week and gave an hour's concert. Carols from the Kentucky mountains were sung, and a program of songs, dances and recitations was presented by the children, among whom were Stanley Ted Burkhardt of Newton, Masters Mercer of Brookline, and Constance Fields, June Sattel, Grace Mugford, Cynthia Clark, Constance Mosher, Elaine Vassalotti, Anne Downey, Barbara and Thelma Purbush, Shirley Gehling, Lorna Noble and Ed Regan. All the numbers were greeted with much applause but the work of six year old Fifi brought a veritable ovation, especially the clever wooden shoe dance from the "Heidi" picture. The concert was arranged by Mrs. Russell, the Guild director.

VOTERS' HOUR

The Newton League of Women Voters calls attention to the broadcast on the Massachusetts Training Schools which will take place on Tuesday, January 11, at 3:30-4:30 as heretofore—over Station WEEI.

The speaker, Mrs. LaRue Brown, is trustee of these schools and has been identified with many measures for furthering the welfare of children. She was during the World War a worker in the Children's Bureau in Washington. She will discuss on Tuesday the program of the Massachusetts Training Schools. This is a part of the effort sponsored by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters to bring to the knowledge of citizens what is being done by Massachusetts for the welfare of the children of the State.

Newtonville Woman Honor Guest At Malden Home

Doctor Mary A. Wilcox of Newtonville was guest of honor in Malden last Sunday at the opening of the large addition to Wilcox Hall, a home for working girls. On the death of Mrs. Wilcox, some twenty-five years ago and the consequent scattering of her children the family home was given to a club formed to take charge of it and to make it a home for young women whose wages would not permit them to find elsewhere comparable comforts.

Although the original house contained nearly twenty rooms the success of the club has necessitated an addition which besides more than doubling the number of bedrooms provides a large assembly hall with movable stage. Ceremonies consisted of addresses by the president of the organization and the architect of the addition and a lighting of a fire in the generous fireplace.

Two or three cases of a dog being brought into court charged with being a public menace have commanded space in the press of the country lately. Many dogs have been condemned to death mainly because the people whose language the judge could understand were all on the prosecution's side.

I recall one case in which the offender was of the Police dog breed, a puppy only three months of age, who was charged with having bitten a young girl. The owner claimed that what happened had been due solely to the dog's playfulness. Nevertheless he was haled into court charged with "allowing a vicious dog to be at large."

The day the case was called the owner arrived early with his dog. While waiting in the courtroom for judgment to be passed the puppy took quite a fancy to the attorneys arguing the case which preceded his. Every one in the courtroom, including the judge, enjoyed the dog's antics. In his own way the dog told the judge that he was only a puppy, and if he had ever done anything wrong it was only in a spirit of playfulness and to please find him not guilty. The judge did.

In many countries dogs are still used as beasts of burden. In almost any city or town in Belgium today dogs can be seen pulling carts with human beings as passengers. Many dogs are abused in this practice, but

Characteristics of Names
Shown At Newtonville Meeting

Stella Billings, who is an authority in the art of telling "What's in Your Name," entertained the members of the Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Church and a number of guests at the afternoon session of the all-day meeting of the association on Wednesday. First analyzing the names of several well-known people in public life, among them that of the former Grace Morrison Poole, known to every club woman, and that of Charles Fulton Ousler, editor of Liberty, she constantly surprised her audience with her discovery of the characteristic in the names of some of them, traits too real to be guesses. Her system is based on the meaning of the nine characters of the alphabetic language, which are applied to the letters of the alphabet, using them three times.

Possessing a keen sense of humor and at the same time holding the confidence of her listeners in her sincerity, Miss Billings was both entertaining and illuminating. True to the last word she assured her subjects when a characteristic was missing in their names that those very things could be acquired or that the assets were great enough to make the liabilities negligible.

The morning session was for the Cooper Community Centre in Boston. In the board meeting, Mrs. Louis W. Brummer, president of the Woman's Bible Class, reported an average attendance of 48 for December. She also reported that the class had sponsored a dinner on Christmas Day for students in the Boston University School of Theology and their wives who live in apartments at Morgan Memorial, about forty guests who prepared the dinner and served it in the Eliza Henry House. Mrs. Carl Foss, president of the Woman's Missionary Society announced that the next meeting would be held Thursday evening, Jan. 20 in connection with the World Vision Institute. The association will hold an all-group meeting Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 26, in the Church Parlor with members of Groups Two and Three as hostesses.

Safety Play
To Aid State
Safety Drive

In co-operation with the Safety Campaign which is being conducted throughout the State, the Automobile Legal Association, which has for many years lent both active and financial support in an effort to reduce the casualty list in automobile accidents, has through its Safety Department devised and put into practice educational programs for school children which have met with the enthusiasm and co-operation of school superintendents.

They have recently introduced a plan in the form of a one-act play entitled "Play Safe" which is being produced in the elementary grade schools and is enacted by the pupils. The play contains a graphic lesson in the need of proper mental attitude on the part of the pedestrian.

Through the co-operation of School Superintendent Julius E. Warren this play will be presented by pupils of the Underwood School in Newton on Monday, Jan. 10, at 2:45 p. m., for the pupils of the school and on Tuesday morning, Jan. 11, at 9:30, for the parents. Those taking part in the play are Paul James, John Olivigni, Gladys Rand, Ingeborg Hauke, Paul Gayzagian, Jean Barker, William Hayes, Jean Nichols, Jean Backman, Elvira Borghetti, Beryl Condon, Jean Avantaggio, William Hanson, Frederick Fawcett, Doris Spindle, Jessie Cowie, John Siegal, Richard Cutler and Virginia Crissey.

The play will also be produced at the Angier School in Waban on Friday, Jan. 21, and at the Mason School, Newton Centre, on Friday, Jan. 28.

The author of the play is Mrs. Marjorie Carlton, of Newtonville, who is a Smith graduate and author of several plays. The director, Mr. Wm. C. Grabe of the Safety Department of the A. L. A., is also a resident of Newtonville, was former dramatic critic of the New Haven Journal-Courier, and has directed a number of plays in Newton.

Harrowing statistical facts compiled from a national survey show 37,800 persons killed—967,840 persons injured in automobile accidents throughout this country in 1936.

The A. L. A. for many years has lent both its active and financial support to reduce this ever-increasing casualty list. Through its Safety Department, educational programs for school children have been developed and put into practice and these have had the enthusiasm and co-operation of many school superintendents.

There are justifiable hopes that as this instruction is amplified and extended to all schools a new kind of driver will come into existence.

Further statistics show that of every three children alive today, two will be in automobile accidents before they finish this span of life. Again, a sixteen year old boy or girl is practically assured of being in an automobile accident some time in his or her life.

These are the appalling facts which prevail at the present time but these figures can be reduced through supervised educational programs.

For this reason civic organizations, state officials, automobile clubs and associations are becoming more active each year in their endeavor to promote all work in the line of highway safety. In the face of this evidence, the A. L. A. now introduces a plan in the form of a one-act play entitled, "Play Safe," which is being produced in the elementary grade schools and is enacted by the pupils in each school in which it is presented. This play contains a graphic lesson in the need of a proper mental attitude on the part of the pedestrian. Through the means of this visual educational plan this organization is taking a progressive step towards preserving lives on the highways.

Each year this country produces a million potential drivers. In other words, there are this many children arriving at the legal driving age each year. If these children are imbued step by step through their school years with proper safety education, the driver of tomorrow is bound to be a more perfect product than the driver of today.

CAPITOL THEATRE, ALLSTON

William Powell, as an artist whose studio is a trailer, plays the most laugh provoking role of his amazing career in "Double Wedding" co-starring Myna Loy, which comes to the Capitol Theatre, Allston, for the entire week starting Friday, January 7.

Although Powell has proved himself, as has also Miss Loy, a star of dramatic roles as well as comedy, he has never had a more amusing vehicle than this. Arriving in a city he meets the charming manager of an exclusive gown shop and promptly falls in love with her.

The supporting cast is excellent, with Jessie Ralph, Edgar Kennedy, Sidney Toler, Mary Gordon, Barnett Parker and Priscilla Lawson.

"Double Wedding" is one of the best of the many excellent pictures in which the popular Powell-Loy team has been co-starred.

As a co-feature attraction the management will present a brilliant comedy, "First Lady," starring Kay Francis, Preston Foster and Anita Louise. The lovely dark Kay Francis is the star of the show and the chief political manipulator in its plot. She is an ambitious wife in the story and she tries to maneuver her husband into the White House, so that she can be the person that the movies title describes.

To add to the confusion, there's a new and handsome young politician—Victory Jory—for whose influence and oratorical assets, Kay Francis and Verne Teasdale contend. And a lovely young Deb from the South—Anita Louise—with whom he is in love.

Not to be taken seriously, "First Lady" provides, nevertheless, a most amusing evening.

NEWTON HOCKEY SIX
TO MEET RINDGE TECH

Newton High's entry in the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League lost its second game in a row last Saturday, succumbing to Medford High 1 to 0 in a nip and tuck battle. The defeat tumbled the orange and black sextet into a tie with Belmont and Arlington for sixth place in the standing.

The only goal of the game came in the third minute of the second period when Walter Hughes, Medford spare forward, suddenly laced out a long shot from a scrimmage near the blue line. Goalie Rich McClellan did not even see the shot when it started and never had a chance to make a save.

Despite the loss of the game Newton showed considerable improvement. Coach Johnson's outfit turned in a pretty passing and team game but lacked a player with a hard shot to beat opposing goalies. A little more speed will make the Newton six more dangerous as its neat passing game opens up numerous scoring opportunities.

The puck nestled in the Newton net twice but the score was invalidated as they came a split second after the whistle had blown stopping play.

Tomorrow the Newton sextet meets Rindge Tech, the high scoring team of the league, and tied for first in the standing with Medford and Melrose. Melrose provided the surprise of last week's games by topping the Cambridge Latin outfit 3 to 2 and keeping pace with Medford and Rindge. The latter was tied by Stoneham, 1-1, preventing the Cambridge six from stepping out front alone. Rindge is the only undefeated six in the league, having won one and tied two of its three games while Medford and Melrose have each won twice and lost once.

SPORT NOTES

At the Northwood prep school hockey tourney at Lake Placid last Saturday Ernie Savignano, former Newton High star athlete was in evidence. Playing on the Morrisstown School sextet he scored the only goal of a game which brought the consolation prize. The Morrisstown six was defeated in an early round of the tourney which was swept by a powerful Exeter Academy team. Incidentally another player on the Morrisstown team is Johnny Krol, former Waltham star athlete and a former rival of Savignano's when both were in high school.

Eight Stores
Open Illegally

The Newton License Commission yesterday announced that eight establishments, licensed as common victuaries last year, are carrying on their business illegally having failed to renew the licenses. The stores, which include tea rooms, cafeterias, and spas, neglected to apply for renewals and therefore the Commission did not issue the new licenses.

The licenses give the stores the right to serve meals and to keep open seven days a week. Unless applications are immediately filed for renewal of the licenses the commission will take steps to close these stores.

COOLIDGE CORNER THEATRE.

"Merry-Go-Round of 1938," starring a host of comedy actors, such as Bert Lahr, Alice Brady, Mischa Auer, Billy House, Billy Savo and Louie Fazenda, comes to the Coolidge Corner Theatre for a week's run starting Friday, January 7th. It is a laugh riot, a steam roller of hilarity, a deluge of delicious, delightful and grouch-destroying comedy.

Round and weighty Billy House, tall and thin Mischa Auer, short and shy Jimmy Savo and raucous Bert Lahr are teamed in what is one of the funniest fourmes of the season.

"Merry-Go-Round of 1938" is of a farce comedy plot, with plenty of good music, a host of comedy gags, gangs of pretty girls, and songs by Boston's own Jimmy McHugh. It is one of the season's best mad and merry musicals. Nineteen-thirty-eight finds four broken down and poverty stricken vaudeville comedians faced with the task of straightening out the love affairs of their adopted daughter.

The cast also includes Joy Hodges, Dave Apollon and his Orchestra, 4-year-old Beverly Ann Welch, John King, Barbara Read and Vera Steadman.

The co-feature is "Charlie Chan on Broadway" with Warner Oland as Charlie Chan and Joan Marsh in the leading roles. It is a swift-paced murder mystery involving a Broadway dancer whose diary is valuable to many because of her knowledge of the activities of gangsters and politicians. Charlie Chan, the inscrutable Oriental sleuth, aided by his peppy young son Keye Luke, unravels this complicated mystery in his usual suave manner. Others in the cast are Keye Luke, J. Edward Bromberg, Douglas Fowley, Louise Henry and Donald Woods.

In addition to the two excellent features on this program will be a new Mickey Mouse cartoon in color called "Mascian Mickey" and the latest Coolidge Corner Theatre Newsreel.

Coming during the entire week of Friday, January 14th, is the perfect picture starring Tyrone Power and Loretta Young. It's "Second Honeymoon" with Stuart Erwin and Claire Trevor also in the cast.

NEWTON THEATRE, WEST
NEWTON

Fun-making Eddie Cantor and hit-making Twentieth Century-Fox have combined their talents for the first time as the comedy king of screen and radio stars in the most hide-hilarious, extra-glorious entertainment either have ever made "All Baba Goes to Town," featuring Tony Martin, Roland Young, June Lang, Louise Hovick and a tremendous cast, opens Sunday at the Newton Theatre, West Newton.

"All Baba Goes to Town" is the most magnificent combination of colorful extravaganza, sidesplitting comedy, song hits, beautiful girls, exotic dances, brilliant dialogue and lavish sets in the history of fun.

The new, surprising Cantor-nado of laughter becomes a grab-bagful of fun as Eddie turns Bagdad into Gaggad when he snaps it up to date with a head-tax on harems, a tail-tax on camels, a harem-reduction program, slips carpet tacks under the sit-down strikers, and snaps the Sultan into step with the march of time.

Among the hi-de-highlights in the spectacular mirth-musical are Eddie aboard the Magic Carpet dispersing the enemy's army; the sumptuous, colorful Bagdad banquet with Eddie as master of ceremonies; the Magic Carpet campaign and election returns in Bagdad; the Queen of the Harem, Louise Hovick, making love to banjo-eyed Eddie; a thousand and one other sights and hit tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, "I've Got My Heart Set On You" with Tony Martin singing and June Lang dancing, "Laugh Your Way Through Life," a happy hit led by Cantor, and "Swing Is Here to Stay," to which Eddie, the Peters Sisters, Jeni Le Gon and the swinging, swaying chorus perform a riotous, rhythmic routine. Raymond Scott leads his famous Quintet playing his own modernistic composition, "Twilight in Turkey" at a Harem dance.

A tremendous cast of entertainers, including John Carradine, Virginia Field, Alan Dinehart and Douglas Dumbrille in addition to hundreds of lush harem beauties, about a million wild-riding Arab horsemen and hundreds of dancing Oriental darlings, is featured.

Origin of Pointer in Doubt

The origin of the pointer is not clear. The theory that it originally came from Spain has been shattered in recent years. It is generally conceded that pointers came into use in the British Isles and on the continent of Europe about the same time. However, to the English goes the credit for developing the English pointer. As for the pointer's lineage, there isn't much doubt that several breeds have helped make the English pointer as we have him.

Caterpillars Can Hear

This statement has been made because experiments have shown that these insects have the ability to hear; for certain sounds result in sudden movements of the body. Hairs that absorb sound are provided in place of ears. In experiments, when these hairs were coated with shellac and noises were made, the caterpillar did not respond.

Agnes Macphail Talks on Canada At Newton Forum

Says Roosevelt Is Very Popular In Canada

Hon. Agnes Macphail, first and only woman member of Canada's parliament, spoke last Sunday at the Newton High School on "Us, the Good Neighbors" instead of "Canada and Her Destiny" as previously announced.

Miss Macphail thoroughly believes that the good will existing between Canada and the U. S. is largely dependent upon the interchange of visitors and statesmen between the two nations. Apropos of President Roosevelt's recent visit to Canada, she said that he was obviously more popular there than he apparently is in his own country. Canada takes a keen interest in the affairs of the U. S., particularly as regards politics and economics. The citizens of Canada read a large percentage of American magazines and newspapers and listen to our broadcasts more than to their own.

The speaker said that Canada and the U. S. have a great deal in common to bring them together and that the Canadian people are at the same time both very British and very American. Not only is our speech similar, but foreign policies are alike, thus affording a greater opportunity for the growth of democracy in North America. The tourist trade that Canada receives each year is another fact or that tends toward creating an understanding, for 30,000,000 people cross the border each year and in that way we are helping Canada pay her debt to the U. S., or, as Miss Macphail put it, we are paying it ourselves, whether or not we realize it.

At the present time Americans have $4,000,000,000 invested in Canada, which is twice that just prior to the war. Canada has $1,000,000,000 invested in the U. S., making a total of $5,000,000,000 investment between the two countries.

Miss Macphail said that many Canadians move to the U. S. each year and remain here, 37 per cent of Canada's University graduates settle in the U. S. because the training they receive in college fits them for business in this country, thus taking many able citizens away from Canada. Then there are many who receive their education here who also remain here in business.

"One of the strongest ties," Miss Macphail stated, "between our nations is the Trade Pact that was signed in January 1, 1936."

It is interesting to note that Americans as a whole are not too highly regarded across the border, but the individual American is very well liked. On the other hand Great Britain as a whole is all right, but the individual Britisher is jolly well detested. Canada's sympathies are for a number of reasons with the U. S. rather than with Great Britain; primarily, perhaps because she feels fairly certain that our one object above all else is to keep out of another foreign war, and England's interests, for both geographical and political reasons, lie pretty much in Europe.

Miss Macphail reiterated that although there are many Canadians holding positions in this country, on the other hand, there are numerous Americans employed in Canada; particularly in the gold mines in which Canada is rich. Miss Macphail feels that the gold mines are not an asset to Canada, for those living in the mining towns are practically destitute, many families having only one room in which to live and that of the poorest sort imaginable. She was recently on a tour of the mines and was offered a fairly sizable nugget and to the donor's horror and amazement, turned it down saying, "What do I want that for? It means nothing to me."

Girl Tobogganing Fatally Injured

Gladys Colantuono, 22, of 66 Clinton st., Newton, died at the Newton Hospital on Monday night of internal injuries received on the night of January 3 when she was hit by a toboggan at the Newton Centre playground. Miss Colantuono had been coasting at the toboggan chute when the playground with friends and was riding on a toboggan which was being pulled back toward the chute when the accident occurred. Another toboggan carrying several young men had come down one of the chutes and was traveling across the playground when it collided with the toboggan on which Miss Colantuono was riding. The girl was assisted to the playground building and later was driven back to her home in a friend's automobile. On Tuesday, January 4 her condition became serious and Dr. Hyman Shrier was called. He advised her removal to the Newton Hospital to be treated for internal injuries. Her brothers, Anthony and Nicholas gave blood transfusions in an effort to save her life.

Miss Colantuono was born in Newton and had been employed at the Raytheon factory in Nonantum. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Colantuono; six sisters, Mrs. James Simone, Mrs. Francis Saulnier, Mrs. James Marchello, Mrs. Anthony Spiranzo, Mrs. Angelo Archione and Dorothy Colantuono; and four brothers, Anthony, Stanley, Thomas and Nicholas. Snow Removal Cost $26,000

The cost of removing snow from streets of Newton following the snowstorm on Jan. 1, plus the cost of sanding streets, amounted to about $26,000. At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Jan. 1, the sum of $25,000 was appropriated for snow removal. As this did not cover the cost occasioned by the recent storm, another appropriation of $25,000 will be asked at the meeting of the Board on next Monday night to provide funds for snow removal and sanding in expectation of other storms before this winter will be over.

Fined $300 For Criminal Attack

Paul C. Moran, 27, of 56 Gilbert st., Watertown, was fined $300 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton Court on Monday and given a suspended sentence of 2 years in the House of Correction. He was found guilty of assault with intent to commit rape on Vivian Mills, 17, of 17 Prescott st., Watertown. The girl, a pupil at Watertown High School, testified that on the afternoon of December 24 she saw Moran at Watertown sq. and asked him to give her a ride to her home. Both reside in the same neighborhood and she had known him for years. Moran told her he had to go to Allston on some business, so she rode there with him. On the return trip, instead of going directly to Watertown, Moran drove along the Newton side of the Charles River between Faneuil and Newton, parked the car and took liberties with her. In the dusk a Metropolitan policeman came along, stopped to investigate, and after talking with Moran, then drove off. Moran then drove the car to Charlesbank rd. in Newton and attacked the girl. He then drove her to her home and she told her parents of her experience. Watertown police were notified and Newton police arrested Moran on a warrant. Moran, who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator at the last primaries, did not take the stand to testify.

Burglar Enters W. Newton House

The timely return of Mrs. William P. Ryan to her home at 33 Chesterfield rd., West Newton, about 9 o'clock on last Friday night caused a burglar who had entered the residence to flee before he could take any loot with him. As Mrs. Ryan approached the house she noticed a light burning and when she entered her home she discovered a pane of glass had been broken in the back door. The house had been ransacked, but the only article missed was a pillow case which the burglar is supposed to have taken for the purpose of filling with whatever loot he would have stolen.

New Ruling On Newton Milk Supply

The Newton Health Department has asked City Solicitor Bartlett to rule on the legality of a proposed ruling which will compel all milk dealers starting in the future to retail milk in Newton to pasteurize their own milk. Newton has had an ordinance for years compelling the pasteurization of all milk sold in this city. Sometime ago the Newton Health Department passed a ruling compelling milk dealers to have printed on labels of bottles the place where the milk they sell is pasteurized. This was for the purpose of enabling the milk inspector to trace the source of supply of the milk sold. During the past year or two a number of men, mostly from outside Newton, have started to retail small quantities of milk in this city. They buy on the open market, and change their sources of supply frequently. It has been very difficult for the Newton Health Department to keep track of such milk sources, and it is to curb this new phase of the milk industry in Newton that the new ruling is proposed. The ruling would not affect retailers already established in this city.

Two milk dealers were warned by the Health Department on Tuesday that their licenses will be revoked if they repeat violations of department rules. One small dealer had been obtaining milk from a farm where cows had mastitis, a disease of the udders which causes a septic poison in persons who drink milk from such cows. The other dealer has changed his pasteurization place without notifying the Health Department. There are 61 retail milk dealers delivering milk in this city.

Newton Repairing LaGrange Street

LaGrange st., the direct way from Newton and Brighton to West Roxbury and St. Joseph's and Mount Benedict Cemeteries was closed to traffic on Tuesday because the City of Newton is resurfacing the street. There is about a half mile of LaGrange st. in Newton where a corner of this city hedges in on West Roxbury and Brookline. In recent years Brookline and Boston widened and improved their sections of LaGrange st., and the short Newton section suffered by comparison. As there is a large and increasing amount of traffic over the street, the City of Newton recently decided to resurface and widen its portion of the street. It will be eventually widened from 16 to 59 feet to conform with the Boston and Brookline sections. At present the work consists of widening and extending a drain and excavating peat which is from 3 to 16 feet deep. The present project will cost $24,000; of which the city defrays $12,000 and the State $8000. The complete cost will be $40,000.

Newton Repairing LaGrange Street

Detours to West Roxbury can be made by West Roxbury and Veterans Highways from the end of Hammond st., in Brookline, or by Brookline and Dedham sts., through Oak Hill.

Aldermen Attend Newton Safety Council Meeting

The Newton Safety Council held its first meeting of this year on Wednesday night at police headquarters, West Newton. General Daniel Needham, chairman of the council, presided. The matter of the deadlock between Mayor Childs and the Board of Aldermen on the question of establishing a traffic bureau in the Newton Police Department was discussed. This bureau was proposed by the Safety Council and recommended by the Mayor, but the Aldermen have so far refused to appropriate money for salaries of the personnel. The Aldermen contended that they have received no information regarding the details of the proposed traffic bureau.

The officers of the Safety Council had invited President Floyd of the Board of Aldermen, and other members of the Board to attend the meeting. Aldermen Floyd, Gaddis and Jamieson were present. Mr. Needham said that a mistake had been made in not asking members of the Board of Aldermen to be members of the Safety Council. Vice President Richard Dunn of the Safety Council stated that obstacles in the cooperation of the Aldermen had been removed and the traffic bureau will soon be functioning in the police department.

Chairman Needham announced that Newton had advanced during the past year from having been near the bottom of the list of cities in Massachusetts as regards highway safety, to the third best record in the State. He said at the next meeting of the council the question of bicycles and the traffic problems they create will be discussed. Motion pictures were shown by a representative of the Harvard Bureau of Traffic Research. Reports were made by Alfred Miner for the Engineering Committee of the Council, and Mrs. J. Earle Parker of the Adult Education Committee.

Yale Students Who Invaded Lasell In Fatal Accident

The three Yale College students, who entered the main building of Lasell Junior College at Auburndale early on the morning of Nov. 21, following the Harvard-Yale football game, were in a tragic accident last Friday night near Manchester, Conn. They were arrested at Lasell in the early morning hours of Nov. 21 on a charge of trespassing. They asked to have their trial postponed until the Christmas holiday season and were to have appeared in the Newton district court last Saturday. The three were William B. Wilson, 22, of Cape Cottage, Maine, a junior; Robert Humphrey of Kalamazoo, Mich., a sophomore; and William C. Putnam of Carthage, Missouri, a freshman. The latter, who was driving, lost control of the car on the State Highway near Manchester.

The vehicle turned over several times and plunged into the ice covered Hockanum River. Wilson and Humphrey were critically injured, and were carried from the river by Putnam and John Shevlin of Brookline, another Yale student who was riding with the trio. Passing autoists assisted in the rescue. Wilson died several hours later at the Manchester Hospital of a fractured skull. Humphrey received internal injuries. Putnam and Shevlin received cuts and contusions on the face and body.

She went to the office of Dr. T. M. Gallagher and stated she was injured. Toombs told Serg. Bannon who investigated the case that the woman walked from behind a street car and came close to his automobile. He said the woman stated she was "all right" and walked away.

Decision For City In Gravel Pit Case

On Monday of this week Judge Raoul Boudreau of the Superior Court affirmed the report made sometime ago by a master in the litigation between the City of Newton and George S. Wilbur relative to the operation of the big gravel pit at Oak Hill near the West Roxbury line. In September 1936 the Newton Board of Aldermen voted not to renew the temporary permit for the operation of the machinery at the big gravel plant. Renewals had been granted yearly for 8 years, although Wilbur had stated when he applied for the first renewal that he would have completed the excavation operations on the large area of land he owned off Dedham and Wiswall estates. The large amount of trucking over Oak Hill streets from the gravel plant, caused many protests, and scores of acres were stripped bare of loam and gravel, seriously affecting future development for residential purposes.

Following the action of the Newton aldermen in 1936, Wilbur obtained an injunction from the Superior Court preventing the city from stopping the operations at the gravel pit. The matter was referred to a master, Bennett Sanderson, and after many months he made a ruling favorable to the city. The judge did not make a decision on the master's findings until this week. In the meantime the gravel pit has been operating on a big scale. Wilbur also obtained an injunction from the Superior Court forbidding the city from enforcing an ordinance prohibiting heavy traffic along Dedham st., Oak Hill. This was also referred to a master who made a report favorable to the city. Wilbur then took an appeal to the Supreme Court of this State, and City Solicitor Bartlett and counsel for Wilbur presented their arguments to the Supreme Court last week.

Gas Overcomes Newton Woman

Mrs. Victoria Kaprelliam of 67 Jackson rd., Newton, was overcome on Monday afternoon by fumes of fuel gas. Mrs. A. C. Maloney of Morse st., employed at the Kaprelliam home, returned to the house about 4 o'clock after having taken the woman's baby for an airing and found Mrs. Kaprelliam lying on the kitchen floor overcome by fumes which were escaping from jets on the kitchen range. She opened windows and shouted for help. Henry Carr of 41 Jackson rd. phoned police headquarters and Dr. Davenport was also summoned. The police ambulance responded but the woman's condition was not serious enough to necessitate taking her to the hospital.

High School Pupils Protest Because Schools Not Closed

Thursday morning about 8:30 between 65 and 100 boys who attend Newton High School, marched from the school to Newton City Hall and kept shouting protests because Newton schools were not closed on that morning. The group gathered outside the entrance to City Hall, kept shouting "We want no school," and demanded to see the Mayor. Police headquarters was notified and Patrolmen Halloran and O'Donnell hastened to City Hall in a police car. When Mayor Childs arrived at the hall, he informed the students that he would interview a committee of three of their number. He informed them that the Superintendent of Schools, and not the Mayor decides whether or not schools shall be kept open on a stormy day. Supt. of Schools Warren and Principal Ellicker of the High School soon reached City Hall, and addressed the demonstrating pupils. The group then marched in orderly manner back to the high school buildings.

An empty cigarette carton was also found. The trail led to the office of a filling station at the corner of Washington and Hovey sts., where an apparent attempt to enter had been made, and thence to Gardner st. Bertrand and Hines will be arraigned in the Newton court on Friday.

PROSPECTS OF A SALES TAX

Prospects of a sales tax in this Commonwealth have for some time been occupying the minds of officials whose duties are to conduct the financial affairs of the state. There are many objections to a sales tax as an independent tax or in addition to the present tax methods and program now used in Massachusetts. It should be stressed and remembered that the proposed plan for a sales tax is but a part of a program which in effect revises and is designed to correct many of the weaknesses of our present tax structure.

It is generally recognized that real estate is and has been for some time paying more than its just burden of the expenses of government and of the expenses for those services performed by the state which are necessary. These services cannot be eliminated without affecting the welfare of the citizens. If there is to be a revision of our tax structure, and we believe that it is a vital necessity to give this problem serious study, the sales tax must be given as much thought as a revenue producing measure as well as the real estate, income, and gas taxes now imposed.

Two of the features of the proposed sales tax are significant. One is that it is strictly a relief tax, to be used solely for welfare and relief purposes, and the other that it is flexible, fluctuating so that it will meet only the needs of relief purposes. Undoubtedly there will be many arguments and much discussion over the proposal in the near future. A final opinion cannot be given in the matter until the report of the commission which makes the proposal is issued and has been given thorough study.

Two Women Sue West Newton Man

Wentworth V. Lander, 70, of 62 Lenox st., West Newton, was named as defendant in two $50,000 suits entered against him last week, both for breach of promise to marry. The first suit was entered on January 6 in Suffolk Superior Court by Mrs. Mary P. Avery of Newtonville. The second suit was filed last Friday in the Middlesex Superior Court by Mrs. Caroline Schroeder of Brookline. Last June Lander married Mrs. Grace Burbank of Reading. He denies having proposed marriage to either of the two women who are suing him.

BY NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Highway Enemy No. 1

There's nothing very smart about driving after you have been drinking. Quite to the contrary—it is a dumb stunt, dangerously dumb. Alcohol blurs the mental faculties, fogs the vision and slows one's reaction time. From 7 to 10 per cent of our motor vehicle accidents would not occur if the drivers were sober. The rate of pedestrian injuries, in which pedestrians were drunk or had been drinking, is still higher. Why take a chance? It's so much easier to take a taxi—or a street car.

THE NEWELL CLUB

The January meeting of the Newell Club was held on the eleventh at the home of Mrs. Ellison G. Day, 90 Hull st., Newtonville. The president, Mrs. Thomas V. Cleveland, presided. Two letters of thanks for Christmas remembrances were read: one from the superintendent of the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children and the other from the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion. Mrs. Roswell Furman announced that her committee had tickets for the lecture by Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond on "Current Books" to be held on January twenty-fifth at the Newton Centre Library.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, gave a most interesting talk on the "Problems of Parents." In the social hour following the discussion, Mrs. Day was assisted by Mrs. William H. Keohane, Mrs. Charles J. Lawson and Mrs. Seth D. Tucker.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

Many reservations have been made for a Luncheon Bridge to be given by the Committee on Social Events at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, next Monday, January 17th, at 1 o'clock. The hostesses are Mrs. Sidney R. David and Mrs. Robert L. Emerson of Brookline; Mrs. Thomas J. Cahill of Cambridge and Mrs. E. Carl Matheson of Wellesley Farms.

Sunbeam Chats

My! a good sleep makes you feel like a million. I spend most of my time sleeping—four naps during the day and to bed at six in the evening. The District Nurse says I'm growing fine and I sure feel great. Daddy's funny—he turns hand springs to make me laugh. Guess I'll be doing them soon.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

Missionary Accomplishments Shown By Newtonville Institute

The guests of honor for this evening will be a group of Oriental students and people from several countries, who have felt the influence of both home and foreign missions.

A group of local talent will present a play of Persia, "Kasim," in the Assembly Hall at 7:45 on Thursday evening. Members of the cast are: Howell E. DePuy, Jr., Betty Brown, Mrs. C. L. Swan, Carl W. Timble, Frederic E. Drew, Jr., Henry W. Webster, Mrs. H. F. Keiser, Winifred Greenleaf, Pearl I. Drew, Robert Nielson. This evening is under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society.

On Friday evening at 7:30 Dr. Tehyi Hsieh will speak on "Sins Over Asia," following the monthly Clavin Club Dinner in the Assembly Hall. Rev. Harry W. Worley, President of Union Theological Seminary, Fochow, China, will talk on "Christianity and the Far Eastern Crisis" at the Sunday morning service, Jan. 23, at eleven o'clock. He will speak again in the evening at the Young People's Rally at 6:30.

The purpose of these various programs is to make vivid the true meaning of both home and foreign missions. Last year over $800 was raised through the various projects which this year will include scholarships in mission schools, care of the pious which Rev. Harry Hanson must reach his work in Garhwal, India, money for the social centre in Peking, which was started by Mrs. George L. Davis of Madison ave., to supply nourishing food, particularly soy bean milk for children of the poor, ricksha pullers, also money for Christian literature and aid for the Hull Street Methodist Mission and the Hattle B. Cooper Community Centre both in Boston and the Willbur Health Home in Natick.

There will be no admission charge to any of these sessions to which the public is cordially invited, with the exception of the dinner Friday evening. Prof. Robert E. Bruce, chairman of the committee on World Service in the church and Dr. Knotts have charge of the program.

Library Issues Important Boys' and Girls' Book List

The Newton Free Library last week issued its annual list of "One Hundred Important Books for Boys and Girls." This attractive booklet is the seventh number of this series which has been produced since 1931. As its title indicates, the list does not pretend to contain all the good books which have been published for boys and girls. Last year more than a thousand such books were published in the English language. The Newton Library purchased about 300 of these, and this list of 100 books which are especially recommended has been selected from those purchased.

These annual children's book lists have earned increasing recognition and use by parents and teachers of the Newtons, and from directors of children's library work throughout the country, to whom the list is available for a small price covering the cost of publication. When chief librarian Julius Lucht was returning from his vacation last summer he dropped in at the children's library in St. Paul to be greeted by the librarian with, "I know about the Newton Library. I know that excellent children's book list from you every year."

The list may be had by any Newton Parent or by anyone interested in child guidance for the asking at the desk of the Vernon Street Boys' and Girls' in Newton or at the desks of any of the ten branches in the other villages.

The following figures indicate something of the importance of children's work of the Newton Free Library System: Of the 31,000 registered patrons of the Library last year, 11,000 were children between kindergarten and junior high school ages, the age groups served by the Boys' and Girls' department. Of a total circulation of approximately 330,000 books and magazines last year, about one third was with children.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Gay and colorful paintings of well loved garden flowers by Emma Bailey Fraser, recently shown at the Robert C. Vose Galleries in Boston, will be on exhibition in the main corridor and Art Room of the Newton Free Library from January 16 to 29.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Jan. 15, 1876

As will be seen by Ex-Mayor Hyde's column notice this week he is ready to attend to business. Being now freed from official cares he is now ready to devote himself with renewed energy to his cherished vocation and the hundreds for whom he has transacted business in the past will testify to his fidelity in every trust reposed in him. For dealing in real estate he has superior facilities, and for placing insurance, no better companies can be found than those he represents.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held on Thursday evening with Mayor Speare presiding. The committee on police recommended the appointment of a Chief of Police, who will also be superintendent of street lights, to be mounted, find his own horse and pay for its keep. His salary will be $1500. The committee also recommended two mounted day policemen, the city to provide the horses and pay for the same; their salaries to be $800 each. Also ten night patrolmen with salaries of $900. Each policeman is to provide his own uniform. Alderman Carpenter thought taxpayers should know where money is spent. He presented bills from the Fire Department received during the past two months—for badges for 171 firemen, $318; carpets, $186.50; spittoons, $12. He thought the badges a needless expense. Alderman Barnes said the city ordinances state the firemen shall wear badges, and they are not an extravagance.

The question—"Is the City of Newton Unnecessarily Expensive?" brought a crowded audience to City Hall at the Lyceum Meeting on Monday night. In the absence of the leading disputants, James T. Allen of Allen's Classical School, West Newton, opened the debate. He wanted to carry his arguments on the expenses of our schools further than he did at the previous meeting. He said it costs more to educate a child in Newton than in any other city or town in this State. It is safe to say it costs more than anywhere in this country. He would not decrease salaries of primary school teachers, but would take a fair per cent from the teachers in the higher grades. He said if the teachers are not competent to teach drawing, writing and music, which we believe they are fully competent to do, then let us employ teachers who can. There are no extra charges in every department in this city, and if this continues, our citizens will emigrate, as they have done in Worcester and other places where taxes become burdensome.

Mr. Van Duzee said that our schools are superintended to death, scholars attempt too much, and accomplish little that is practical. Reading, writing and arithmetic are the fundamentals which should be taught in our schools. Ornamental branches are often introduced to the detriment of the other studies. Mr. Willard, superintendent of schools said that the average salary of lady teachers is $650 which with board at $7 per week leaves them with $280 a year for clothing and other expenses. These teachers are not mere servants; they are expected to go into good society and dress equally well with other ladies. Can they possibly do so on smaller salaries? He said our drawing teacher is one of the best in the State, instructs not only the teachers, but also teaches high school pupils drawing and penmanship. Our music teacher teaches pupils in every grade in our schools, and provides his own horse and buggy. The teaching of drawing in Newton is important if we want our scholars to be able to distinguish American prints from French or English prints.

Levi Warren, speaking for the children of Oak Hill, Newton Centre and Upper Falls referred to the argument offered by someone last Monday night at the Lyceum against providing a bar for these children, and who argued that if we supply a conveyance for children who ride to school, we ought to buy boots and shoes for others who walk. Mr. Warren said—"Just place your children who live at the threshold of the high school at the remote parts of the city, and you will realize what a blessing this omnibus is." James Allen did not believe in carrying scholars to school. If they want an education they should be willing to walk. It is necessary for the improvement of their health.

Newton Graphic, January 13, 1888

At the funeral of Erasmus Moore in Newton the other day, Rev. Wolcott Calkins, pastor of Eliot Church, who conducted the service, read from his autobiography some statements which have a wider interest than Mr. Moore could have anticipated when he wrote them. He was the founder of the "Congregationalist," and in his account of its origin he stated that he was impelled by the professors at Andover to start the paper in order to defend them from the charge of heresy, which was becoming more serious than they could endure from the conservative clergy. Dr. Calkins could not have read anything from this precious document of greater present interest than the "Congregationalist" originated in the effort of the then Andover professors to relieve themselves from charges of heresy. Such are the reveries of time that in recent days the same paper was the first to smother heresy in the successors of these same men in this prophetic school.

Powers' Paragraphs

You read in your school days of Alaric, Attila, of the Goths and the Huns who overcame Europe, who murdered, ravaged and pillaged, who set back civilization centuries. These scourges desolated Europe over 1500 years ago, and you thought such savagery could not occur in a modern, enlightened age such as we live in. But it is happening. You have read of the slaughter of thousands and thousands of helpless Chinese in Nanking by Japanese soldiers, of the orgy of rape and plunder by the Japs in that city. You read of the systematic bombing of most large Chinese cities, including Canton, whence came most of the Chinese in this country. Do you desire the power of Japan to increase until it can train millions of conquered Chinese to help overcome the white races in the future? If you do not help curb the Japanese now by boycotting all Japanese products—silk being the principal export of Japan to the United States. Cease buying articles made of silk. Boake Carter asks—What jobs will we find for 128,000 United States citizens who will be jobless when such a boycott closes silk mills in this country? The cotton, cotton or rayon mills. If the boycott lasted for any length of time, Boake, it might result in renewed life for many cotton mills in New England which have been closed, or idle much of the time since the "silk vogue" hit this country during the boom years.

Despite the fact that the Supreme Court of this State reviewed the appeals taken by the attorney for the two DiStasios who fiendishly murdered a stranger in a cold-blooded plot to fraudulently obtain insurance, and that court concurred with the findings of the Superior Court and judges who found the DiStasios guilty and sentenced these heartless murderers to death, Governor Hurley in an exhibition of spinelessness has granted another hearing to William Scharton, counsel for DiStasio in a plea that the younger DiStasio should not be executed next week, but should even be freed. Scharton has delayed the execution of these two murderers by taking appeals not only to the State Supreme Court but to the Federal Supreme Court, the latter body refusing to interfere in the matter. Crowley, the victim, was picked up in Boston in May, 1935, taken to a lonely spot in Hudson, slugged and then burned to death in a gasoline soaked old automobile.

The elder DiStasio carried Crowley in the car which was burned, and his son followed in a second car, waiting nearby and bringing his father back toward Boston after the crime had been committed. Hugh Boyd of this city, as assistant district attorney, secured the conviction of the young DiStasio. The Governor granted several requests, and now, after both Massachusetts and United States Supreme Courts have turned down Scharton's appeals, the Governor grants another hearing.

Last week in this column we commented that the practical and only effective way to appreciably lessen automobile fatalities and accidents is by the enforcement of traffic laws, the proper punishment of offenders by judges, and the cessation of "fixing" cases by police. The police are not the real offenders in the "fixing" racket. Those to blame for this insidious practice, prevalent generally in this country, and certainly in Massachusetts, are allegedly respectable citizens. Men and women who profess to be law-abiding, but who do not hesitate to bring influences of various kinds to bear on policemen who approach speeders, reckless and drunken drivers, and those who habitually violate traffic rules and ignore traffic signals. The "fixers" include clergymen, physicians, bankers, civic leaders, and of course—politicians who use such means to increase their popularity. Membership in fraternal and social organizations is used to prevent the minority of automobile drivers responsible for the great majority of accidents and fatalities from being summoned into court, or punished in accord with the laws. And "fixing" has spread from automobile cases until it now includes all forms of criminal offences.

The action of a comparatively small number of pupils of the Newton High School in marching from the school to City Hall on Thursday morning and clamoring to see the Mayor in a demand that there be "no school" on that day because of a light fall of snow, reflects no credit on the youths who made themselves ridiculous. Newton schools have been commendably free from such exhibitions of temperament on the part of pupils. Other communities have been unfavorably advertised because of "school strikes." This is the first time that pupils of Newton High School have evidenced such lack of discipline. It should be the last. The 2400 pupils of the school who refused to participate in the "smart" maneuver, deserve praise.

We have been asked to call attention to the practice of some motorists in leaving the motor of the car running while gasoline is being poured into the car tank at a filling station. This is an extremely dangerous practice and many serious accidents, including deaths have resulted from it. Attendants at gasoline stations, for their own protection, should refuse to put gasoline in the tank of any motor vehicle until the motor has been shut off.

The Newton Street Department did good work in clearing snow off the streets on Thursday. The Newton police department should do better work in enforcing the city ordinance which calls for the removal of snow from sidewalks in business districts within 24 hours following the end of a snow fall.

The action of President Roosevelt in calling industrial leaders to Washington to confer with him on business conditions, in an attempt to end the current depression, should be productive of results. This country will not return to prosperity until the government, financial, industrial and labor leaders all co-operate in working for the welfare of the nation as a whole.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Annoying Delay
When I'd dress for the street
In a jiff,
It is then that my zippers won't zip.
All such struggle and strife
I could end with a knife—
If my overshoes, too, wouldn't rip.

Things You'd Like to Say

Although I try not to be unduly or even duly critical of fellow mortals it is a struggle. There is one time in particular when I almost hit the ceiling and that is when a man starts to tell a funny story and begins laughing before he has uttered half-dozen words. Of course you're glad he is amused but how can he expect you to be mirthful until you hear the joke. Not long ago one man in a group, of which I happened to be a member, began, "Fellers, listen to what happened in my office today." With that he burst into a roar of mirth and was going strong when interrupted by an associate, who said, "Hey, wait! If it's really funny, we'll do the laughing."

Mayor Childs' Words

Somebody who thought I'd be impressed by statistics told me that Mayor Childs used eleven "We's" and fifteen "I's" in his inaugural address. They didn't seem to think it an unusual number, either. But that wasn't what interested me about it. I was carried away with the Mayor's facility. He writes in a chatty style, doesn't seem to get ponderous and yet makes his point. I thought he covered an awful lot of ground, too. It struck me that not one foot of the Newtons' 19 square miles had been overlooked. I couldn't help thinking, the way the Mayor dealt with what had taken place in Newton during the past year, how much it read like a letter from home to one far away. I made up my mind that if ever I went on a trip and expected to remain any length of time I would make the Mayor promise to write me. If he forgot I'd send him my next inaugural address which would almost fill the bill. There is, as I started to say, a sort of "intimate friend" touch to the Mayor's way of writing his official messages. Then comes the customary paternal admonition to be good boys and girls. I've read a lot of addresses by Mayors, but none can approach our own.

"Cops" and "Iron Claws"

Here we are talking about the police and the "Iron claw" they expect to use more effectively to hook unruly drunks and other stupid people who resist arrest. I can't seem to get much of an idea about this new implement except that it costs $5.75. I should like to see at least a picture of one of these claws before I joined the enthusiastic citizenry in indorsing purchase of a gross for our policemen. I suppose the "Iron claw" may be put down definitely as the very antithesis of the "gold hand." Beyond that I have little information, although I find it was invented in New York, where, I am told, if they once get their claw on you you're sunk. As far as I am concerned, if in the opinion of our "cops" this gadget is the goods let there be claws to use on every offender and may the most troublesome be well scratched. I have not much self-control so it would never do to make me a police officer and give me an "Iron claw." The first thing I'd be trying it on the nearest innocent bystander to see how the darned thing worked.

Fellow Sufferers

Just when you congratulate yourself that you are not one of the "sixty families" something happens to make you say, "Well, I don't know if they have such a hard time after all. Look at me, I've got to pay an income tax to the Federal and State government, and that's all that's asked of them."

Recent Weddings

MANNING—WIGHT

Miss Elizabeth E. Wight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Houghton Wight of 25 Moreland ave., Newton Centre, was married to J. Nelson Manning, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson Manning of 41 Berwick rd., Newton Centre on Saturday evening, January 8 in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre. The ceremony which took place at eight o'clock was performed by Rev. Charles A. Arbuckle. The altar was banked with evergreens and white lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of white satin with a collar of heirloom Duchesse lace. Her veil of silk tulle was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried calla lilies. The matron of honor, Mrs. A. Winfield Schley, and the maid of honor, Miss Helen Merrett, wore copper colored silk moire with gold coronets and carried tallies of roses and yellow snapdragons. The bridesmaids, Miss Martha Post Wight, sister of the bride, and Miss Charlotte F. Manning, sister of the groom, wore dusty-green silk moire with gold coronets and carried bouquets of yellow roses and yellow snapdragons.

John Welles Booth was the best man and the ushers were J. Waldo Bond, Jr., Charles Newton Prouty, Jr.,

Turner Dow, Ellis L. Gates, Jr. and Richard Bent.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

Charged With Reckless Driving

Herbert Hubert of Dearborn st., Wellesley was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday charged with driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. His case was continued until January 21. Hubert was the driver of a car which on December 13 collided on the Worcester turnpike with a car driven by Dr. Abram Cohen of Crosby rd., Newton Centre. Four persons were injured in the crash.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

BASKETBALL FIVE SWAMPS 2 OPPONENTS

Coach Frank Simmons 1938, Newton High basketball team, opened its season with two overwhelming victories. The first came last Friday when a potentially strong Watertown five felt Newton's sting to the tune of 35 to 14. On Tuesday the Newton five trounced Cambridge Latin in a Suburban League game, 31 to 6. This afternoon Newton goes to Rindge Tech for another league encounter. The game was originally scheduled for the Newton floor but dramatics in the adjoining auditorium make use of the Newton facilities for basketball impossible. Thus Newton's first home game will not take place until January 23rd.

At Watertown the Newton team stood almost frozen to the floor while the home outfit chalked up two quick baskets. It looked bad for the orange and black. Newton came back strong, however, to hold off Watertown for the entire rest of the half and in addition built up a 20 to 4 lead. Watertown outscored Newton by the margin of the basket in the third period but in the final canto Newton put on an offensive show for eleven points to wind it up at the 35 to 14 figures.

Don Abbott lead the Newton scorers with five field goals and two foul shots for 12 points. Captain Leger, who retrieved many backboard shots at both ends of the court, tossed in four for eight counters. Wally Maguire made three baskets and Olivigni two with Flag and Cedrone each making a flag shot for the remaining baskets. Flag's foul shot for a single point brought the day's count to 35.

The Cambridge Latin five was no match for Newton and the victory was the first a Newton team has scored in six years at Cambridge. Perhaps it is a token of good luck for this afternoon's game at Rindge when the locals will not be facing a jinx complex. In the 31 to 6 win the Cantabs were held scoreless throughout the second half. With Abbott the leading scorer at Watertown the Cantabs covered him rather closely with the result that Maguire had field day with 13 points only one of which on a free try. Abbott scored two floor shots and Flag two. Olivigni scored four points, on one basket from the floor and two on foul tries with Leger and Martin adding three points each on a score of each kind.

TRACK TEAM OPENS SEASON AT BROCKTON

Coach Don Enoch's 1938 Newton High track team opens its season tomorrow with a dual meet at the Brockton Armory against the Brockton High team. The meet was originally scheduled for today but the postponement was necessary. With co-captains Bud Hines and Jerry Allen in shape and with several other tried performers to back them up it is apparent that second and third place points by lesser lights on the Newton team will be vital factors in a team victory against the Shoe City runners. The Newton squad, one of the largest in years, should in all probability develop these minor point winners who will come through.

Five events are well fortified with veterans. Naturally Hines and Allen head this group. Hines was the state outdoor 100-yard dash champion and his present time on the Newton track gives hope that he may break the 34 second record for the 300 on the Garden track when the big meets come along. Hines will forsake the short dash in the indoor meets to concentrate on the 200. Allen, who did well in the 300 last year has moved up to the 600 where he will give the best of them a good race. Newton should be exceptionally strong in the high jump this year with Bill Pescosolido almost assuredly a standout if he keeps clear of eligibility restrictions. Last year Pesky's best effort was 6-3 and he has cleared six feet this season with comparative ease so that he may better his last year's mark. John Callahan and Mark Messier, other veteran high jumpers have cleared 5-10 and Bob Davis and Charles Cawley are better than 5-6. Coach Enoch indicates that Newton's strength in the high jump is the result of assistant coach Ed Boyle's efforts. The Newton head mentor claims his aide to be the best high jump coach in the country, high school or college.

Pete Babcock, veteran 100-yard runner, should be another standout for Newton this year. He placed fifth in the state meet last winter with 2:27. This time is ordinarily good enough to win but there was an excellent group of 100 yarders last year most of whom have passed beyond the realm of schoolboy competition. The fifth event in which Newton is well fortified is in the hurdles. Don McKinnon, 120-yard outdoor state champion last spring, is going better than ever. Whether or not he will equal Milton Green's efforts when the latter was developing as Enoch's best hurdler remains to be seen. Backing up McKinnon will be Pesky and Bob Davis who should score in dual meets at least.

Newcomers will dominate the dash with Kit Fisher, John Hurley, Don Foster, Henry Levenson, John Barber and Charles Featherstone the best bets. Although a couple of the boys are a year away from their best form they are all possibilities that cannot be overlooked. Shephardson, Thompson and Ashley, the latter a sophomore, will support Hines in the 300. Sophomore Fred Hall, junior Art Hughes, and senior Joe Antonelli are hopefuls with Allen in the "six" and Schafenberg and Bob Cotton have both been under 2:40 in the 1000.

Stewart MacNeill may get over 10 feet in the broad jump with Bill Albert reaching out about 9-4 for possible points in this event. Assistant Coach Considine is working hard with the shot-put candidates with but one lad bettering forty feet. This lad is Bill Walsh. Others working out with the weight are Walt Carley, Phil Chesaron, Wesley Markovitz and football halfback Paul Robey.

HOCKEY TEAM LOSES 3RD—MEET ARLINGTON

The Newton high hockey team lost its third straight league game last Saturday at the Boston Garden in the Greater Interscholastic circuit. The fast skating, smooth working and high scoring Rindge sextet pinned a 5 to 0 shutout on the orange and black to give the Cambridge outfit a clean cut lead in the 1938 race. Rindge is not only the leading scoring team of the circuit but also the only undefeated sextet, having won two and tied two of its four games. Cambridge Latin and Stoneham are deadlocked in second place, a point behind the leader, and Arlington, Medford and Melrose are tied for fourth, one point further down the ladder. Newton and Belmont hold up the rest of the league. Cambridge Latin kept on Rindge's heel last Saturday by taking Belmont, 5 to 1, while Arlington climbed to its present position by upsetting Medford, 2 to 1, and Stoneham kept pace with the Cantabs, shoving Melrose down, 4 to 1.

Tomorrow's games, which will be played at the Arena, find Newton meeting Arlington, Cambridge Latin and Stoneham fighting it out for second place. Belmont is attempting to upset Medford and climb out of the cellar, and Rindge facing Melrose.

Although Rindge chalked up 5 goals against Newton, only one of the tallies were free from taint. The first tally, two minutes after the game started, came on a passout of a shot by Dumond which glanced off Goalie Smith's skate. The second tally was deflected by a defense man just enough for Smith to lose sight of it and the third was a questionable decision on the part of the goal umpire who switched on the light although the puck apparently hit the post and bounced off, not going over the line. Ralph Powers and Hall teamed up to give Rindge a clean goal about a third of the way into the final session and the fifth tally came on a penalty shot by Hall. Goalie Smith was cut over the right eye early in the second period but after four stitches were taken and he had rested he came back for the third period.

Rindge was clearly the master of a none too aggressive Newton outfit but with the halfway mark at hand tomorrow, the Newton squad bids fair to give its opponents somewhat stiffer opposition for the remainder of the season. Coach Johnson has been giving experience to several promising sophomores and although too much cannot be expected of them, perhaps there will be an improvement in the team's play.

SKI TEAM TO COMPETE IN MT. HOOD EVENTS

The Newton High School Ski Team led by Hugh Van Roosen will be represented at the ski tournament in connection with the annual carnival at the Mt. Hood development, Melrose, January 22 and 23. The first day will be devoted to scholastic events and the next to open competitions in jumping, down-hill and slalom. The meet is the only U. S. eastern sanctioned event in the metropolitan area this year and two years ago drew a crowd of 25,000.

In the last competition held at Mt. Hood, Captain Roy Merchant of the Newton High School ski team won two out of the three events. He also won with two successive jumps of 57 and 60 feet from competitors of twelve other Massachusetts high schools.

THE EVENING COURSE IN PARENT
EDUCATION

As a follow-up of the course of lectures in parent education conducted at the Newton High School on the eleven Monday evenings before Christmas a meeting was held at the same hour on last Monday evening to organize a discussion group for more detailed consideration of some of the points presented during the series. There were twenty-three persons present including five members of the Committee that arranged the course. Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, counselor in Parent Education under the Division of Child Hygiene of the Mass. Dept. of Health opened the meeting; and it was continued by Dr. Laura Hooper, Director of Elementary Education in Newton, who drew from the group a list of specific questions that they would like to study. Mrs. Wm. V. W. Fawcett was chosen chairman for the meeting next Monday evening on the topic of "What should be the attitudes of parents toward their children's behavior?" It was voted to use a combination of case and question box methods with all participating in suggestions and the formulation of principles, and with the plan of dividing into more groups if the numbers attending make it advisable. There will be five discussion meetings in all on the next five Monday evenings at the High School beginning promptly at 7:30 and it was decided that other topics would be the social relations of the pre-school child, his use of play materials, his nutrition, protecting his emotional life, and training him in good habits.

New Beach Club Deck on SS Columbus

Steamship Co. Entertains
Agents On Beach Club Deck

More than 100 New England travel and steamship agents traveled on a special train from Boston to New York on last Thursday as guests of Christopher de Groot, general agent of the Hamburg American Line—North German Lloyd for New England, to inspect the newly built beach club deck of the North German Lloyd liner COLUMBUS.

Predominating among the extensive facilities provided by this new outdoor playground are the large, tiled swimming pool and the attractive dance terrace which are centrally located on the topmost deck of this famous North German Lloyd liner. Adjacent to the pool, which is constantly supplied with fresh sea water, and where a special steward is regularly in attendance, are tiled showers and a series of dressing rooms and lavatories, all conveniently accessible by stairway or elevator from the passenger decks below.

Further aft are deck tennis and shuffleboard courts, areas for golf and other shipboard games, and plenty of room and comfortable chairs for lounging and sun tanning. Surrounding the pool and the dance terrace are cozy tables, cool under the shade of gaily-striped umbrellas, and nearby is an attractive teakwood service bar, modernly equipped to cater to the wants of the passengers as they while away pleasant hours in the sun by day.

Then in the evening the scene subtly assumes a more glamorous aspect and the beach club deck becomes a veritable night club, where until the wee hours there are gayety and music while the orchestra plays and the couples dance under the heavenly canopy.

Newton Pupils in WIXAL

Katherine Anderson, class of 1939, and Basil Babcock, class of 1938, took part in a WIXAL program, "World Youth Speaks," Thursday afternoon. There will be a rebroadcast of this program, electrically transcribed, Saturday, Jan. 15, at 5:00 p. m. WIXAL is the Boston short wave station for World Wide Broadcasting Foundation.

Daniel Willard of the Social Studies department was the speaker at the Young People's Organization meeting, Sunday, Jan. 2, of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. His subject was "The Greatest American Problem."

Aviation Club

A demonstration of blind flying by Pilot Charles Cowan in a Waco was witnessed by members of the Aviation Club at the Boston-Metropolitan Airport in Canton on Saturday, Jan. 8. Several members of the club were flown over Newtonville, and viewed the high school area from aloft. The flying group comprised Ruth Phillips, James Phillips, Wilson Clark, Warren Kelsey and Daniel Willard. One of this group, John Durkee, has begun training as a student-pilot.

No School Signal

1. Radio announcement at 7:15 a. m. or shortly thereafter over WNAE, WEEI, WBZ.
2. Police Department 7:15-8:00 a. m. Parents may call if uncertain.
3. Fire Department 7:15-8:00 a. m. Bell Alarms 3-3—3 will be used as a signal. The fire stations where these alarms will be given are located as follows:

Washington st., Newtonville; Centre ave., Newton; Watertown st., Nonantum; Manet rd., Chestnut Hill; Mason School, Newton Centre; Pettes st., Newton Upper Falls; Grove st., Newton Lower Falls.

Parents are requested to refrain from calling the superintendent or principal so that their lines may remain free for the transaction of business necessary to make the above arrangements. The radio ought to be the best agency of obtaining information. Kindly note that the "No School Signal" will be sounded in cases of severe snowstorms when the streets are practically impassable. Parents and pupils should not assume that a "No School" announcement in neighboring communities indicates "No School" in Newton.

Entertains Juniors

On Wednesday, Jan. 5, the juniors had a hilarious and profitable assembly. Mr. Elicker introduced the speaker of the morning, Mr. Frederick Robbins. He gave his talk very informally on Holland and punctuated it with dances and comical monologues. The speaker was dressed in wooden shoes, pointing out that wooden shoes cost only 75 cents and lasted for about three months. Besides being used for footwear, they can be used to sit on.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 16.

The Golden Text is: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

In him was life; and the life was the light of men" (John 1:1, 4). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of thy life shall be many..."

When thou goest, thy steps shall not be straitened; and when thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble. Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her; for she is thy life" (Proverbs 4:10, 12-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they the spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes. Controlled by the divine intelligence, man is harmonious and eternal" (p. 184).

RECENT DEATHS

ALBERT D. AURYANSEN

Albert Denley Auryansen, for fifty years a resident of Newtonville, died on January 10. He was born in Piermont, New York, April 17, 1868, and left Hasbrouck Institute, Jersey City, in his senior year to take a position in the American Trust Co., Boston. When the company merged with the Old Colony he continued as Assistant Secretary in the Transfer Department and had nearly completed fifty years of consecutive service.

Mr. Auryansen was married in January 1898 to Miss Kate Shepard Chapman of Old Say Brook, Conn. He built a home in Newtonville where he has lived ever since. This home has been a center of genial hospitality and its beautiful garden has been a joy, not only to its makers, but to their many friends. He was an active member of the Central Congregational Church which he served on many responsible positions. Always interested in music he sang for years in a local choral society and was a member of the church choir when a recent breakdown in health made it necessary to give up his many activities.

Public-spirited he was ready to help in every movement for the community welfare and will be very much missed.

He leaves, besides his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Samuel A. Talbot of Baltimore, Maryland, son Winslow Auryansen of Newtonville, and one brother, Frederick Auryansen of Forest Hills, New York.

CHARLOTTE N. WILKINS

Miss Charlotte N. Wilkins of 94 Park st., Newton died on January 7. She was born in Boston 88 years ago, the daughter of Charles and Emilie Brooks Wilkins. She was a resident of Newton for about 50 years. Miss Wilkins is survived by a niece, Mrs. Annie Tuttle of Winchester; and a grandniece, Mrs. Gladys Chase. Her funeral service was held at her late home on Saturday. Rev. Smith of Grace Episcopal Church officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

MARGARET CRONIN

"Ebb Tide", Color Film
At West Newton Theatre

The most successful color film that has yet reached the screen is the first technicolor sea story, "Ebb Tide," which opens Sunday at the Newton Theatre, West Newton sq. There has been no setting so far which shows itself so perfectly adapted to technicolor photography as the South Seas locale of this story by Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne. The lush tropical vegetation, the bright blue of Pacific skies, and the water shading of the South Pacific all needed to be filmed in color, and in "Ebb Tide" all their beauty is recorded to the best possible advantage. The result is a film of unique beauty.

The cast of "Ebb Tide" is headed by Oscar Homolka, Frances Farmer, Ray Milland, Lloyd Nolan and Barry Fitzgerald. "Ebb Tide" tells the story of four strangely assorted lives that are entangled on a little South Sea island as a result of a death outside the group and are separated at last by violence taken on a forsaken trading post run by a sadistic madman.

COOLIDGE CORNER THEATRE,
BROOKLINE

Acclaimed by increasing numbers of fans with each new picture as the most exciting sweetheart of the screen, Tyrone Power and Loretta Young are co-starring again in "Second Honeymoon," opening for a week's run on Friday, January 14th, at the Coolidge Corner Theatre, Brookline. Already hailed as the merriest, "marry-est" romance of the year, "Second Honeymoon" is said to be their love perfect picture together. The love is new again, but this time they mean it with all their hearts. Loretta and Tyrone fall for each other twice in this gay hit. After parting in Reno, they meet accidentally under a thrilling Miami moon and kiss impulsively, to find they have fallen in love all over again. It requires an exciting, swiftly paced climax of events to result in the only proper solution. Others in the cast in addition to Loretta Young and Tyrone Power are Claire Trevor, Stuart Erwin, J. Edward Bromberg, Marjorie Weaver, Lyle Talbot and Mary Treen.

The co-feature "The Lady Fights Back" with Kent Taylor and Irene Hervey, presents Irene as the vivacious girl manager of a millionaires' fishing club on a river in the great northwoods. This smashing comedy gets off to a running start with the opening scene. Kent Taylor is cast opposite Miss Hervey. Featured in the large cast are William Lundigan, Willie Best, Chick Chandler, Paul Hurst and Ernest Cossart.

The short subjects on this program will include a new and hilarious comedy called "Playboy No. 1" featuring Willie Howard plus a new silly symphony color cartoon called "3 Blind Musketeers" and of course the latest Coolidge Corner Theatre Newsreel, presenting the news of the world.

Announced for showing for the entire week starting Friday, January 21st is "Stand-In" with Leslie Howard, Joan Blondell and Humphrey Bogart. Make plans now to see this sensational comedy, adapted from a Clarence Budington Kelland Saturday Evening Post story.

Christmas Seal Sale

For the first time in many years, the report of the National Tuberculosis Association for 1936, showed an increase in the mortality rate from the disease. As the Association explains, it is probably due to the "cumulative effects" of the depression.

It must still be considered as a menace to a community and the time has arrived to overlook the importance of treatment and prevention. The money from the Sale of Health Seals enables our community, through the Health Committee of the Newton Welfare Bureau to give special attention to Newton families. The Sale Committee hopes to reach its goal of six thousand dollars. The figures below reported on Jan. 10th by the treasurer, show the need of more contributions if the six thousand dollar total is to be attained.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

National Club Sponsors Broadcast

"Crime Prevention and Parole" will be the subject of the fourth in the series of monthly nationwide broadcasts in the "Education for Living" programs of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. It will be given on Thursday, January 20th, at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice; Judge Camille Kelley, of the Juvenile Court of Memphis, Tennessee, who has done much work along the line of crime prevention among the youth of her state; and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, who has spent over forty years working with prisoners and paroled men from our great penal institutions, will be speakers.

The General Federation will be represented by its chairman of the department of Public Welfare, Mrs. Clarence Frahm, of Wilmington, Delaware, who will open the program with a brief talk.

Mid-Winter Meeting

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold a joint meeting on Tuesday, January 18th, with the Newtonville Women's Club as hostess in their Club House. After the coffee and dessert hour at the Club House the business meeting will be held in the Newton High School Auditorium at 2:30 p. m. A program of music and a lecture have been arranged for the afternoon. Miss Dorothy Fuldheim, modern interpreter of economics, politics, and literature, will speak on "The Laymen's Challenge to the Educator." In the twelve years that Miss Fuldheim has been appearing on the lecture platform she has spoken before more than two thousand audiences, on more than four hundred subjects, ranging from "The History of the Russian Revolution" to "Is There a Gold Standard?" In Cleveland alone, where she makes her home, she has delivered more than eight hundred paid lectures, disproving in one case, at least, the old saying about a prophet being without honor in his own land.

Every clubwoman in the Newtons should avail herself of the opportunity to hear Miss Fuldheim.

Sponsored by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, a Concert will be given by the Newton WPA Symphony Orchestra at the Newton High School Auditorium on Friday evening, February 4th. Half of the proceeds will be spent for musical instruments and for music for pupils in the Newton Elementary, Junior, Senior and High Schools, who have talent but no money with which to buy musical instruments. These instruments will remain the property of the schools to be used by other worthy children.

The Federation members, neighbors, and friends of Newton are offered a splendid concert at a popular price to help a worthy local cause, and should reserve the evening for this gala occasion.

Newtonville Woman's Club

A very full and unusual program entertained the Newtonville Woman's Club, for its first meeting of 1938.

As part of the business meeting, Mr. Herman Buxbaum, of the Newton Safety Council, spoke on good, safe driving, giving as requisites, first, correct use of hand signals; second, correct road position; and third, a coordination of the two. He emphasized in a humorous, but none the less certain way, the importance of good posture, and of constant attention to the X, or unknown factor, or what the "other fellow" will do, giving a most plea that his listeners indulge in a little self-examination, so that all may benefit by safer highways.

Mrs. Benjamin Miller, Twelfth District director of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, brought friendly messages.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. George H. Tracy, the president, placed the meeting in the hands of Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, of the Music committee, and of Mrs. Thomas G. Walters, Program chairman. Mrs. Nichols presented the Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. William Ellis, Weston, coach-conductor. The following four selections, beautifully sung, met with enthusiastic applause: "Open Thy Blue Eyes," by Massinet; "Flower of Dreams," by Clokey; "Pan's Holiday," by Bridge; and "The Almighty," by Shubert. In the last the solo was by Mrs. I. Ivan Pettis.

Mrs. Walters then introduced Dean Howard Higgins, of Emerson College, and head of its division of Psychology and Education. He gave a most interesting demonstration-lecture entitled "Among the Spirits." After a few preliminary remarks, Dean Higgins gave first a séance, following it with an expose, in which he explained what had preceded. Much of what he said and showed came as a revelation to the audience. As a speaker, he was instructive, humorous, and thought-provoking, giving his listeners much as well as mirth.

On Wednesday, January 12th, at the home of Mrs. Harold Sherman, 264 Mill st., the American Home committee presented Mrs. Rebecca Cluckett Jackson, who spoke on "Collectors' Luck," after which tea was served.

Newton W. C. T. U.

The Newton W. C. T. U. held a meeting in the Parish House of the Newton Centre Baptist Church, on Thursday, January 6th, at 2:30 p. m. There was a short business meeting, with the president, Mrs. William E. Birdsall, presiding. Mrs. Hattie E. Shultz conducted an inspiring devotional period, and a solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. William F. Ferrin.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Max Eulin, a member of the International Relations department of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who spoke on "Our Chaotic International Relations." She analyzed the causes leading to war among the nations, stating that they were sometimes psychological as well as economic. She cited the present conflict between China and Japan, and referred to the Immigration Law enacted some years ago by which the Japanese were excluded from the United States. Mrs. Eulin suggested the possibility that the present aggressive attitude of Japan might be the outcome of its desire to counteract the feeling of inferiority which this act engendered, by proving to the world that it is the equal of any nation.

Mention was made of a mass meeting of religious, temperance, and civic organizations, and Women's Clubs, to be held in Boston, at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, January 16th, at Mechanics Hall, to witness "The Dramatic Court of Trial of Beverage Alcohol in the Supreme Court of Public Sentiment," under the topic "Safety Versus Tragedy." Complete information as to this program may be found on page 11 of The Christian Science Monitor of January 4th, in an article entitled "Booze in Trial." The program in the Boston paper of January 16th, in an article in the same newspaper of Monday, January 10th.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club met on Monday, January 3rd, in the Club Rooms of the Emerson School. The meeting opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful," followed by the members standing with bowed heads as a tribute to their late Club member, Mrs. Winifred May Clancy, second vice-president of the club, and chairman of the Hospitality committee who died December 21st following a six months' illness.

Miss Nellie Osborne, president, presided at a short business meeting. The reports were read by the various committees, at the close of which Miss Osborne presented Miss Edith Scotron, of Waltham, who gave an illustrated lecture upon "Italy," showing many beautiful buildings and parks and describing the home life among the peasant class in Naples, Italy.

Mrs. Charles R. Brown and daughter Doris were the hostesses of the evening.

Refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee. On Monday, January 17th, the meeting will be held in the Club Rooms at the Emerson School at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Maud Wallace Schrader (Mrs. Carl Schrader) of Belmont, past president of the State Federation, will give an illustrated talk upon "Cinema Highlights" at Hollywood, California.

DOG NOTE
by PETER BOGGS

The warden of a state prison on a tour of inspection noticed on the walls of one cell a picture of a wire-haired fox terrier and the occupant of the cell looking mournfully at it. The warden stopped, asked a few questions about the dog and finally inquired if the prisoner would like to see the animal. The inmate was overjoyed at the thought of seeing his former pet, but could not understand how it would be possible, because prison regulations permitted no animals to be brought in. The next visiting day the prisoner received word that there was someone to see him. On entering the visiting room he saw beyond the heavy wire screen the glad eyes and wagging tail of his dog. Further regulations were broken in allowing the animal inside the screen to be petted and stroked by its master.

The warden, a lover of dogs himself, had arranged the interview and within a short time the prisoner was paraded through the warden's efforts. For his faith in the prisoner who liked dogs, the warden was rewarded when the former inmate went forth and became a respected and worthy citizen. Today he owns his own business in a small midwestern city and I am sure that if you should call on him you will find a well-cared-for dog as a member of his household.

In Germany every man blinded in service for the Fatherland is given by the government a trained Police dog to guide him about his daily travels. Many such dogs can be seen throughout the country going about their duties wearing a little blanket with a red cross as protection against traffic.

A few weeks ago I stated in this column that a puppy's eyes usually open on the ninth day after birth. Today I received a letter stating that two of the writer's pups' eyes had not opened until the twelfth day. That is quite possible. In fact I have known cases where the eyes didn't open until the 14th day, but the normal length of time is nine days from birth.

Many an ignorant owner has drowned a pup on the tenth day because his eyes weren't open and he feared the dog would be permanently blind.

Don't tie your dog up in the house if you want him to be a 100 per cent fire alarm. A dog which is allowed the run of the house is certain to give an alarm—and give it quickly. Many dogs tied up or shut in a room have been prevented from warning the occupants of a fire with fatal results to all. Allow your dog the run of the house at night if you want proper protection.

I recall the case of a friend of mine who was awakened by a scratching on his bedroom door. He arose to investigate and discovered the house full of smoke. A serious fire was averted by his dog who didn't bark a warning. Perhaps your dog won't bark either, so let him have an opportunity to give the alarm in his own way by not tying him up at night or shutting him down cellar.

Your dog cannot drink ice. A careful watch of his drinking water should be kept and when the pan becomes a solid mass of ice it should be replaced. A dog requires water in winter as well as in summer.

Question: Are Cocker Spaniels born with short tails?—D. P.

Answer: No. A Cocker's tail is usually docked shortly after birth.

Question: How often should cod liver oil be given my dog?—S. L. R.

Answer: Every other day a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of cod liver oil should be mixed into your dog's food. It is a very important item in the winter diet of a dog—especially a young puppy.

Jury Finds Colwell Drove While Drunk

Leonard B. Colwell of Bartlett ave., Lexington, was found guilty by a jury in the Middlesex Superior Court at Cambridge on Monday of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Judge Hobson fined him $10 for drunkenness and $50 for drunken driving. Colwell had been fined these same amounts by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Dec. 16 and took an appeal. On Nov. 30 a car driven by Colwell ran over a curb at the Worcester pike near Woodward st. and went onto a nearby lawn. At Colwell's trial Dr. Abraham Green, a psychiatrist, testified to sustain Colwell's claim that his alleged drunken condition was caused by a head injury he received when the car hit the curb.

Colwell's lawyer was Edward Viola of Everett, a former Assistant District attorney of Middlesex County. Viola asked the arresting policemen, Thomas McCormick and Charles Jenkins, if they had tried to make heroes of themselves by making arrests. McCormick replied that if performing his duty is making a hero of himself, the lawyer's tale was correct. Jenkins retorted by telling Viola that he had given up any ambition of being a hero after serving in France during the World War.

The third set shows the "Flag of Liberty" in three parts, first Betsy Ross by her fireside; second, The Flag Is Born; and third, Betsy Ross presents the flag to George Washington. The fourth set is "Laurels of Liberty" with a tribute tableau showing Union, Justice and Peace.

Newton men who have accepted parts in the pageant are Clark B. Bristol, Douglas B. Francis, Edward E. Whiting, Donald McKay, Charles B. Floyd, Walter R. Amesbury, Herbert Hitchen, Lyson A. Field of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court will be the speaker. Judge George C. Sweeney of the Federal Court will speak on Friday, February 11th, Mayor

Childs will be the speaker on Saturday afternoon, February 12th. They will be introduced by Chairman Saltonstall.

Deadlock on Police Traffic Bureau

The Traffic Bureau of the Newton Police Department which was recommended late last year by Mayor Childs at the instigation of the Newton Schools Council, and which the Board of Aldermen approved by appropriating money to purchase office equipment, is still non-existent. The Safety Council recommended Sergeant Bannan to head the bureau, but Mayor Childs appointed Lieut. Moan. The Board of Aldermen refused to appropriate money recommended by the Mayor for salaries of personnel in the new bureau because they stated that they had not been acquainted with any details of the workings of the proposed new activity of the police department. Inasmuch as the Mayor has made no new recommendation for salaries in connection with the Traffic Bureau since the beginning of this year, the Board of Aldermen cannot take action on this matter until such a recommendation will be made.

Wellesley Doctor Has Narrow Escape

A car driven by Dr. Henry E. Berger, Jr. of Denton rd., Wellesley skidded on Hamilton st., Lower Falls on Wednesday morning, crashed through an iron fence and came to a halt, partly suspended over a 35 foot cliff. Dr. Berger leaped from the automobile as it seemed about to drop. The automobile was hauled back to the roadway by Patrolman Cronin of the Metropolitan police, assisted by a number of passersby who were attracted to the scene.

Capt. Bruce Ware Dies at San Diego

Captain Bruce Ware, U. S. N., retired, died on January 16 at the navy hospital in San Diego, California. He was born in Newton on February 27, 1887, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Ware. He was a descendant of Myles Standish and John Alden. He graduated from Bigelow School and while a sophomore at Newton high school in 1903 was appointed to the naval academy at Annapolis. He graduated from Annapolis in 1907, ranking fourth in his class. He was engaged to be married to Miss Nannie Norris of Baltimore but immediately after his graduation he was ordered on duty on a 14,000 mile cruise around South America and the Pacific. When his ship arrived at San Francisco his fiancée was awaiting him and the postponed wedding took place in that city.

In 1915 he was advanced to the grade of Lieutenant and when this country declared war on Germany Lieut. Ware was assigned to command a gun crew on the merchant ship "Mongolia." When that ship reached the English channel a German submarine was sighted. Lieut. Ware directed the aiming of the naval gun, and ordered the first shot fired by American armed forces in the war. It hit the conning tower of the submarine and a second shot sank the underwater boat. On his return to New York a banquet was given in his honor. He was retired from the navy in 1935 with the rank of Captain. He is survived by his widow, a son, Ensign Bruce R. Ware, 3rd, attached to the U. S. S. New Orleans; and a daughter, Mrs. Nancy Watts, wife of Lieut. C. R. Watts of the United States Navy.

Homer Rainey at Community Forum

Next Sunday afternoon, January 23, Homer P. Rainey will speak at the Newton High School on "The Youth Movement Here and Abroad." This meeting of the Newton Forum constitutes the sixth in the series of eight lectures for the current season.

Dr. Rainey, Director of the American Youth Commission since 1935, is well qualified to speak on this subject, and should enlighten the members of the audience as regards the activities of the various youth movements not only in this country, but throughout the world. Dr. Rainey was President of Franklin College from 1927 to 1931 and of Bucknell University from 1931 to 1935. He has been in close contact with young people throughout his career and is a firm believer in the enthusiasm and progressiveness of youth.

It is more than apparent that the world is sorely in need of reconstruction along certain lines. Is youth of today prepared to meet the situations that are bound to arise any better than yesterday's youth is meeting the problems of the present? Is today's educational standard based on the teachings of the past or are universities and colleges looking into the future and preparing their students for future difficulties?

It must be realized that in this country more than any other there is an opportunity for youth to assert itself to action, where, under the fascist regime of certain other nations its hands and feet are pretty well tied. Is it not, therefore, up to the youth of America to do something. Dr. Rainey will tell what American youth is doing and what it is prepared to do, and what its aspirations are as to the future and how it thinks present problems here and abroad can be solved.

Harriman Retires As El Trustee

Henry I. Harriman of Centre st., Newton tendered his resignation on Tuesday to Governor Hurley as a trustee of the Boston Elevated Railway. In his letter of resignation he said:

"I have recently been appointed one of the American representatives at the international labor conference at Geneva. This means that I shall make two trips annually to Europe, necessarily involving considerable absence from the city.

"In addition to this, I have other duties which occasionally take me from the city.

"Accordingly, I am herewith presenting you my resignation as a member of the board of public trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway, this resignation to take effect at your pleasure.

"I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the cooperation which has always existed between the members of the board itself and the state and local officials."

Catch Auto Thief At Newton Hlds.

Robert Hooper, 25, of 69 Cottage st., Newton Upper Falls was captured at Newton Highlands on Tuesday night as he was stealing an automobile. William Curtis of Dickerman rd., about 9:30 heard his automobile being backed out of the driveway at the Curtis home and with Roland Richardson of the same address, rushed out of his house. As they neared the automobile Hooper jumped from the car and started to run, but was caught by Curtis and Richardson on Bemuth rd. They knocked Hooper down and held him while a neighbor telephoned to the police. A police car rushed to the scene. In it were Sergeant Cleary, Patrolmen Stevens and Hehr. Hooper resisted and in the struggle tore Patrolman Stevens' pants. Incidentally, Hooper had a previous record, including theft of an automobile. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday charged with stealing the automobile and with drunkenness. He was sentenced by Judge Mayberry to serve 6 months in Billerica prison.

Clerical Tangle Causes WPA Halt

About 190 men assigned to the WPA project at Edmonds Park, Newton, were laid off on January 13 because the local officials handling WPA allotments from the Federal government had not received funds for the payment of these men. The matter was straightened out the end of the week and the men were again put back on the payroll the first of this week. The holdup was caused by bookkeeping difficulties. The snow storms the past month have greatly interfered with the WPA projects at playgrounds in Newton. Those on WPA rolls cannot be used in snow cleaning work, which would be of practical benefit here and elsewhere in New England. WPA funds cannot be used on maintenance work; they must be used for new construction.

Fire Routs Two W. Newton Families

Fire which started in a closet off a hallway on the third floor of the two family house at 858-860 Watertown st., West Newton early Monday morning, drove 10 persons from their beds and caused damage estimated at about $4500. David O'Connell and his wife, whose family occupy the upper floor of the house, were awakened about 5:40 a. m. by the crackling of flames. They aroused their three children, Frances, Ellen and David, and fled to the street, after arousing Mrs. Charles Brady and her four children, who resided in the lower apartment. A telephone alarm was sent to fire department headquarters and Box 212 was sounded. The blaze swept through the room on the top floor before it was brought under control.

Mail Truck Stolen At Newtonville

About 6:50 o'clock last Friday evening a United States mail truck was stolen from the rear of the Newtonville postoffice. William Maloney of Avon, who has driven the truck for years to the various Newton postoffices was in the postoffice, waiting for William McKenna of Warwick road, West Newton, a clerk, to sign the way bill when the noise of the truck's motor was heard as it suddenly started out of the driveway and toward Lowell avenue. Maloney rushed out the back door of the postoffice and saw the truck proceeding along Lowell avenue toward Watertown street, followed by a coupe which had swung in behind it. Newton police headquarters was notified and several police cars started cruising the streets in search of the stolen truck. Postoffice inspectors hastened from Boston to Newtonville and conferred with the superintendents of the Lower Falls, Auburndale, West Newton and Newtonville postoffices to check up on the contents of the 20 pouches and 20 sacks of mail which were in the truck.

About 9:30 Friday night James Hossley of 14 Woodrow avenue, Newtonville, while walking with his St. Bernard dog, found the mail truck abandoned on Parkway road, which runs near the Charles River. Hossley phoned police headquarters and Sgt. Bannan with Patrolmen Holmsted and McEneaney rushed to the place. They were soon followed by the postal officials. It was found that five pouches which had contained registered mail, in addition to several other pouches, had been stolen while the sacks and other pouches had been left in the truck. Apparently the thieves had unlocked the padlocks fastening the rear door of the truck and the door opening from the cab in front. Obviously the robbers had knowledge not only of the time James Hossley collected mail from the various postoffices, and of the procedure of leaving the truck unattended while he had to obtain his waybill signature at Newtonville, but they also knew which pouches contained the registered mail. Someone had planned the robbery who was acquainted with the various postoffices and also with local postoffice methods. During the Christmas season a large number of temporary substitutes are employed in the various postoffices and the theory was advanced that some person might thus obtain knowledge.

The truck was not on Parkway road a short time before Hossley discovered it, and postal inspectors believe it was driven to some garage in the vicinity of Newtonville to be looted, and then taken to the isolated section where it was later found abandoned. It is estimated that the stolen pouches contained from $3000 to $5000 in cash and other valuable matter. The Postoffice Department has offered a reward of $2000 for the apprehension of the robbers. The truck was towed to the Ipswich street postal garage in Boston where an effort was made to obtain fingerprints from the steering wheel, but the attempt was unsuccessful. Saturday afternoon one of the five missing pouches which had contained registered mail was found floating in the Mystic River near Charlestown. It had been slit open, the registered mail taken, and ordinary letters were left in the pouch.

Alderman McCabe Asserts Newton Police Ambulance Is Entirely Inadequate

Reads Statement Telling of Lack of Facilities To Carry Injured to Hospital

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night, Alderman McCabe of Ward 1 read a prepared statement relative to the need of a larger police ambulance in this city. McCabe's remarks were as follows—

"Mr. President and Gentlemen: "On Saturday, November 20, 1937, certain citizens called me in regard to an automobile accident the previous night in which some eight persons were injured, and asked me how long the citizens of Newton must put up with an unsuitable ambulance.

"Here are the facts: On November 19 at Cherry and Derby streets an accident injured eight persons. Five of them were taken to the hospital in our celebrated Newton Police Ambulance, and the other three were taken by a citizen.

"I phoned the Chief of Police and asked him to please let me have a copy of the report made in this case. He sent it to me by mail. Here it is: "Michael T. Hughes, "Chief of Police.

"Dear Sir: "In response to a telephone call on Friday, November 19, 1937, at 7:48 P.M. for the ambulance, I drove the police to the corner of Cherry and Derby Streets, West Newton. On arriving there I found five people had been injured in an auto accident. I found it a very hard job to put all five into the ambulance at one time as there is only one stretcher in this ambulance.

"The best I could do was put one young man on the stretcher, one up in the right hand corner, half sitting, leaving the truck unattended while he had to obtain his waybill signature at Newtonville, but they also knew which pouches contained the registered mail. Someone had planned the robbery who was acquainted with the various postoffices and also with local postoffice methods. During the Christmas season a large number of temporary substitutes are employed in the various postoffices and the theory was advanced that some person might thus obtain knowledge.

"The truck was not on Parkway road a short time before Hossley discovered it, and postal inspectors believe it was driven to some garage in the vicinity of Newtonville to be looted, and then taken to the isolated section where it was later found abandoned. It is estimated that the stolen pouches contained from $3000 to $5000 in cash and other valuable matter. The Postoffice Department has offered a reward of $2000 for the apprehension of the robbers. The truck was towed to the Ipswich street postal garage in Boston where an effort was made to obtain fingerprints from the steering wheel, but the attempt was unsuccessful. Saturday afternoon one of the five missing pouches which had contained registered mail was found floating in the Mystic River near Charlestown. It had been slit open, the registered mail taken, and ordinary letters were left in the pouch.

"I hope none of you, your families or your friends will be ever compelled to ride in this 1½-ton truck chassis as patients, even though since its purchase it has been equipped with extra springs and shock absorbers to make it ride with some degree of comfort. It is a fact that the old ambulance had room for two stretcher patients and practically every accident in the city has injured more than one person so that an ambulance with stretcher accommodations for at least two people is absolutely essential. The new ambulance has but one and the seat intended for the attendant is so small that nobody can sit on it and there is no provision for support for any person who may be attempting to occupy the seat.

"When we had hearings before the finance committee on the 1937 budget the Chief of Police told us he was asking for a Buick ambulance that would be a credit to and suitable for the needs of the city if it were properly maintained and not neglected as the Packard ambulance was. The Board of Aldermen approved $7900, exactly what the Mayor asked for. The chief of police later had nothing to do with the purchase of the vehicle we call an ambulance. That as I said before is the joint effort of the Mayor and his representative.

"Now, I have no other point to raise but this—we want a new and suitable ambulance. "It is my sincere hope and I hope the Board concurs in this, that the Mayor will recommend in his 1938 budget a sufficient sum for replacing this ambulance with an up-to-date machine which is not a make-shift and that in the 1938 budget the Board will be informed of the type of machine which he proposes to purchase. I also offer the further suggestion that when the machine is selected before it is actually purchased that it be approved by the City Physician and the agent of the Board of Health."

Hearing on Razing Of Old Buildings

A public hearing will be held on February 7 before the Board of Aldermen on the matter of razing the abandoned, old structures at the former coal yard on Washington st. opposite the property of the Church of Our Lady. The buildings include a large, frame structure which was used for coal pockets, and a smaller which was used as a combination dwelling and stable. There was also a small trestle carrying a spur track from the Boston & Albany railroad. The coal yard was located at the site over 60 years ago by Albert Brackett. Prior to that time Mr. Brackett had a small wharf on the Charles River at Newton at the foot of the present Russell rd., near Charlesbank rd., and coal was carried to that point in small barges. When the B. & A. tracks were depressed 42 years ago, and Washington st. widened between Newton Corner and West Newton, only two parcels of property were not wiped out as a result of the tracks depression and the widening. One was the Ladder 1 fire station between Newtonville and West Newton, the other was the Brackett coal yard. Many years ago a fire largely destroyed the coal building and an attempt was made under the city ordinance to prevent the rebuilding of the structure, but a permit was granted on the ground that the building was being repaired.

Some years ago the Brackett Coal Company sold its business to the Metropolitan Coal Company and for several years the yard has been abandoned. The buildings have been becoming more and more dilapidated and efforts have been made for years to have them condemned. Mayor Childs in his inaugural address, on Jan. 1st, recommended that action be taken relative to the removal of the structures. At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the Claims and Rules Committee offered an order asking that the owners of the buildings be asked to show cause why the structures should not be removed because they are unsafe and dilapidated.

NEWTON'S NAVAL HERO

Word was received this week of the death in California of Captain Bruce Ware, Jr., former Newton youth and the man who fired the first shot for the United States in the World War. In charge of the gun crew on the SS Mongolia, enroute to Europe, a German submarine was sighted in the English Channel. War had been declared about the time the boat sailed out of New York Harbor. Finding the range, two shots were all that were necessary to sink the underwater craft and the Navy had begun to fight. Older residents of Newton who remember Captain Bruce Ware as a very likable "real" boy regret his death at a comparatively young age. Newton is proud of the career of its first naval hero and pays tribute to his memory. It would be fitting for the city to recognize his deed by placing a permanent memorial to him in the War Memorial building.

MORE PROTESTS IN ORDER

Almost a year ago there was considerable agitation in Newton against the use of California street as a part of the proposed extension of the boulevard from the bridge at Watertown to Waltham. Following a public hearing on this matter before the legislative committee on Metropolitan Affairs the Newton Board of Aldermen and Mayor Childs went on record against the use of California street for this purpose. Last week a bill similar to that of 1937 was filed with the Legislature and will be given a hearing at a later date before the same committee. Once again we call attention to this matter and urge that Newton officials and citizens register their opposition to this extension unless there is definite assurance that the proposed roadway be located along the bank of the river. Any increase of traffic on California street, such as that which will result from this extension unless a new roadway is built along the river will unquestionably add to the hazards of an already dangerous situation. In recent years there have been several accidents on California street between the Watertown line and Bridge street and more than one fatality has been the outcome. We have little doubt that once acquainted with the facts in this matter the Metropolitan District will take the wishes of Newton citizens into consideration.

Girl Scouts

Miss Ruth Stevens, who represented the National Girl Scout organization in New England as director of the region's activities, will be in Newton on January 25 to discuss with Mrs. Theron Walker, Commissioner and Miss Margaret Adams, professional worker, the work of the past year in Newton Girl Scouts and to assist in making plans for 1938.

Miss Stevens has been connected with the Girl Scout movement for many years, having been state director of Girl Scouting in Massachusetts before joining the national staff in 1931. She directs the regional training school at Pine Tree Camp, near Plymouth, Mass., where an outstanding successful training course for Girl Scout council members as well as leaders is held each year.

Before her association with Girl Scouting, Miss Stevens held various positions in the social service field, with the Boston Children's Aid Association, and other organizations. She is a graduate of Smith College and makes her headquarters at the Girl Scout regional office in Boston.

The Newton Girl Scouts have been selected by the National Headquarters at Washington as one of the few localities to try the new program material on Nature before it is accepted for the whole Girl Scout organization. On Wednesday evening, January 19, there was a leaders' meeting held at the home of Mrs. Alexander Standish at 183 Lake ave., Newton Centre, where this matter was discussed.

Oxford Group Holds Team Meeting At Newtonville

An Oxford Group of twenty Newton people held their first "team" meeting on Thursday evening, January 13 at the home of Mrs. James Stafford, 340 Cabot Street, Newtonville.

The object of the meeting was to exchange information as to what use was being made by members of the fellowship of the remarkable pictorial, "Rising Tide," whose half-million American edition is already nearly exhausted.

Mr. Ned Grimes told of his many opportunities to answer questions of customers who saw the magazine at his garage. Miss Lucy Bonney, a librarian at Andover-Newton, told of its popularity in the library where copies are already "a good deal worn." One lady related that she had placed copies in waiting rooms of her doctor, dentist, club and bank.

"Rising Tide" is not merely an attempt to put over its message—"Human wisdom has failed but God has a plan"; it is also an example of magnificent propaganda photography. Says "The Record," the official publication of the Professional Photographers Association of Great Britain, "A group of volunteers... have provided a lesson for professional propagandists. To photographers, they showed how to produce a vast story can be told with photographs, how dramatically point after point can be made when photographs are marshalled with inspired imagination... an achievement which may well set an example to photographic literature."

The editors of "Rising Tide" were amateur journalists; whenever they were stumped by an editorial problem they prayed and they assert that God told them which picture to use and how to use it. For earthly confusion they employed excited photomontage; for divine calm, a full-page country landscape; opposite a church in flames is a vast cross; the despair of earthly advisers is indicated by a deserted conference room; war by a double page with inserts of an agonized wife and a wrecked home.

As one turns the pages again and again the message is ever clearer—Human wisdom has failed but God has a Plan.

Dr. Boynton Merrill To Preach at Evening Service

The Second Church in Newton, West Newton, being eager to find new ways to enlarge her ministry, inaugurated a series of Seven Sunday Services in October. This was done in an experimental way for Evening Services had not been held regularly in the church for many years. The experiment has already proved a success far beyond the expectations of the committee in charge. The attendance at the three services already held averaged over five hundred. A feature of these Evening Services has been the really magnificent congregational singing.

At the fourth service, to be held this Sunday, Jan. 23, at 8 o'clock in the church, Dr. Boynton Merrill, minister of the Second Church, will preach. His subject will be "Hidden Kings." The preachers at the other services have been preachers of renown from other churches, and the committee feels strongly that many hundreds of people in Newton and the surrounding cities will welcome this opportunity to hear Dr. Merrill. His sermons are always inspiring and helpful, and the power of his preaching has won for him a host of admiring friends throughout the east. In addition to his work in the churches, he is a frequent preacher at many of the eastern schools and colleges. He is the author of two books—"From Confusion to Certainty" and "Arrows of Light."

Kiwanis Club

President Archie C. Bellinger's first meeting of the year found present practically the entire membership of the Newton Kiwanis Club. All of the members responded most enthusiastically to President Archie's request for committee chairmen.

Former Assistant District Attorney Hugh Boyd was present, representing the Community Fund Drive for Greater Boston, and explained that last year well over twenty thousand ($20,000) from the Boston Community Chest Fund was expended on hospitalization of Newton residents, who were cared for in Boston hospitals and were unable to pay for their treatment. He expressed the hope that when the collectors call at the various homes that they will be well received and that donations will be liberal.

International Trustee Jim Gallagher of the Newton Club has been the guest Arthur Dunlap of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club. Mr. Dunlap is a field secretary of Kiwanis International and expressed his pleasure in being a guest of the Newton Club.

Past President Frank East of the Roslindale-West Roxbury Club was the speaker of the day and in a most interesting way he described the various vital glands of the human body and the important functions of each gland.

Mr. East remarked that nature never intended that we find it necessary to take medicine to balance our body equilibrium, but that all body heat and energy was to be supplied by raw foods.

He added that the original doctors or Medicine men of the ancient tribes, instead of using medicine used autogestion by exciting the human system and stimulating the excretion or hormones of the various glands.

He told glowingly of the tremendous strides made by the research chemists in their study of glands and glandular extracts which are now in common use by the medical men of our country.

After explaining in detail the functions of all of the glands, Mr. East made a plea to the good judgment of all those present that they refrain from using any glandular extract or gland stimulant without first being properly advised by their doctor.

Community Forum Committee Meets

A strong reaffirmation of its belief in the public forum as an institution for public enlightenment on highly controversial social problems marked the meeting of the Community Forum's Steering Committee at the home of Kirtley F. Mather who was unanimously re-elected president and chairman of the Forum.

Julius E. Warren, Superintendent of Schools, submitted the report of the sub-committee on organization charged with making nominations for the Steering Committee for 1938-39. Fifty Newton citizens were elected to the Steering Committee headed by Dr. Mather and Walter M. Taylor, Executive Secretary-Treasurer since the Forum's founding three years ago.

Notable additions to the Steering Committee included Sinclair Weeks, late critic of the Forum for its engaging of the American Civil Liberties Union lawyer; Arthur Garfield Hays, for the Forum of February 6; Harold D. Ames, American Legionnaire elected to the sub-committee on speakers and subjects; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay of West Newton, president of the state federation of women's clubs; former school committee chairman George H. Fernald, Jr. to the sub-committee on nominations; Kenneth S. May and Mrs. Charles S. Grover to the Executive Committee.

Notable omissions from those elected were Mrs. Francis J. Flag, Mrs. Waldo C. Peebles, and Frederic B. Eastman, all three of whom were on the original organizing committee of seven and all of whom declined nominations again on the basis that every effort should be made to prevent the Forum's becoming a closed organization. Sixteen new names appear on the 1938-39 Steering Committee. Although nominations were requested from the floor in addition to those submitted by the organization committee, none were forthcoming.

The elected officers and committee-men assume office at the close of the current Forum season, but organization was effected at this time to enable two committees, those on the selection of subjects and speakers, headed by Mrs. Ben H. Badenoch of Waban, and finance, headed by Kenneth S. May of West Newton, to commence their work at once.

Numerous suggestions for improving the meetings were considered, as a result of which Forum patrons will be given a chance to present written questions to the speaker next Sunday. Junior committee ushering will be done by the Forum's new committee on the interim between Homer T. Rainey's speech on "Youth Movements Here and Abroad" and the usual question period.

Mr. Rainey arrives in Newton on Saturday and is to be the guest of Henry I. Harriman of Newton Centre, a director of the American Youth Commission which Mr. Rainey heads. The Steering Committee for 1938-39, as elected last Sunday, comprises: President and chairman, Kirtley F. Mather.

AID FOR BLIND

The Alms Club with headquarters at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, is making a concerted drive for funds for the rehabilitation of the aged blind. The members of this club, prompted by philanthropic motives, meet two or three hours every day and by their efforts try to bring help to the aged blind in Metropolitan Boston. Contact is made by means of the telephone.

Outings are arranged for those who would be unable to get recreation of this kind, and actual necessities of life are supplied when the occasion demands. Beds, mattresses, radios and clothing are supplied to those who seem to have been passed by in this busy age.

BRIDGE PARTY

Plans have been completed for the Bridge and tea to be given at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday February 4, at two o'clock, the annual mid-winter activity of the Mothers' Rest Association.

Mrs. Charles E. Bailey of Lake ave. the new chairman of the finance committee, with Miss Maida Flanders, vice-chairman, has planned a large committee to make the affair a success. Many tables have been subscribed for and reservations may be made through any of the officers or members of the committee.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Jan. 22, 1876

Twelve members of the Legislature have refused passes sent to them by the railroads. Several lines of railroads issue only free passes to legislators. Why this distinction?

Newton is to have mounted policemen. Two patrolmen will be on duty days and their task will be to cover the whole city. They will ride a horse over the length and breadth of the city 10 or 12 hours a day and have the privilege of caring for their horses, all for $900 a year.

A goodly number assembled at the Newton Lyceum in City Hall on Monday evening. The question, "Resolved, That our methods of education involve a waste of time and strength," was opened by Rev. Francis Tiffany. He said it is pitiful to witness a child just learning our language attempting to write a given lesson in the spelling of words of similar sounds. It is cruel to inflict on our children these unnecessary afflictions, besides the waste of time so valuable to every scholar. Some of our best men are giving their attention to this subject, the phonographic alphabet, or the simplifying of our method of spelling.

Mr. Sheldon having had experience as a citizen and teacher said the fault does not belong to the teacher. It is the people who are not willing to come to the rescue. The book trade has some of this sin to answer for. There are thousands of worthless books thrown upon the schools each year, and teachers are often led by the temptations offered by them to give constant sanction to changes in text books. He knew what these bribes meant. He had been a teacher too many years not to know how these things are managed. When parents desire a radical change to be made in the education of their children, they will find the teachers ready to assist them. There are too many rules and regulations forced on our schools by antiquated men. He believed in having educated men and women on our school board.

Rev. Mr. Barnard said the fault is in our teaching as well as in our language. A young German came to Boston several years ago. He had acquired during 3 years of study in Germany a knowledge of rudiments of seven languages, including English. If it was possible for this boy to acquire enough knowledge of our language to read and speak it correctly, and six other languages besides, in the space of 3 years, we should go to Germany to learn the art of teaching. Joseph Allen would have a new system of teaching children to spell and read. It is possible to teach a bright, active child to read in 16 hours, and an adult in less than that time. In Germany such a thing as teaching spelling is unknown. If they can read they can spell. This is done by sound, but with us this is impossible because of our alphabet. We can't learn how to spell correctly. We shall always have to depend on the dictionary.

Mr. Warren said there is no system of education in Massachusetts. Every town and city has one of its own. The continual change of text books is not the fault of the teacher, and it is a waste of money not to have books used by older scholars handed down to the younger. It is hard on a poor man to have to sell old books as junk at a cent a pound, and then buy yearly upwards of $6 worth of books for one scholar.

Powers' Paragraphs

The Street Department has been impeded in its work of clearing streets of snow following the recent snowstorms because of automobiles parked all night on public highways. This condition is particularly bad on narrow streets in residential sections. On May 4, 1936, the Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance prohibiting all-night parking on streets as a means to stop the practice indulged in by many of using public streets as garages for their automobiles. One of the principal reasons advanced for this ordinance was because of the hardship it caused in preventing the plowing of snow off highways. At times the fire department has been retarded in its work by such parking, and many residents of this city have had difficulty in driving their cars in or out of their garages because some neighbor parks his or her automobile the year around on the street.

Following the action of the Aldermen in passing the traffic ordinance in 1936, the Newton police department made a short drive against automobile owners who use the streets as garages, and a number of cars parked all night on Newton highways were tagged. But the campaign was short lived and soon the all-night parking was resumed and has continued. Waltham's new Chief of Police, Asa McKenna, has been making a determined drive to end all-night parking of automobiles on the streets of that city. The Newton police department should do likewise; not a spasmodic drive, but a regular enforcement of the law in order to end all-night parking of automobiles on public streets.

The two DiStasios were finally executed, more than 2½ years after they had cruelly murdered a stranger in a cold blooded plot to fraudulently collect $20,000 in insurance. Something should be done to make it impossible in Massachusetts for resourceful lawyers who specialize in defending murderers from obstructing the execution of justice by taking appeal after appeal to the Supreme Courts of this State and the nation, appeals based on technicalities and not on the merits of the case. Governor Hurley in granting a last minute hearing to DiStasio's attorney on the night of the execution to listen to an argument that the murderer's constitutional rights had been violated because the warden of State Prison had taken a short autobiography written by the younger DiStasio was characteristic of the nifty-pammy attitude displayed by the Governor in the repeated reprieves he had granted in this case.

Undoubtedly there will be numerous and strong protests against the action taken by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company in establishing a new schedule of rates for domestic and commercial users of gas. The increases will hit the class least able to stand additional living expenses, persons in humble circumstances whose gas bills total a few dollars each month. The gas company frankly states there are two reasons for its action in announcing these higher rates. The reason, according to the statement of E. M. Farnsworth, president of Boston Consolidated Gas Company is—"The rate proposed is a promotional rate—that is to say it is designed to encourage and promote the greater use of gas—as well as provide needed revenue to the company."

We can't see justice in making people pay more for a necessity of life in order to practically coerce them into becoming larger consumers of gas for fuel purposes. If a dealer in coal or fuel oil resorted to this method he would speedily lose trade to his competitors. Because the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has a monopoly in this public utility in Greater Boston, is no good reason why it should be allowed to resort to this expedient. If the gas company is entitled to additional revenue because of increased taxes and wages to its employees, it should increase the rates it charges to all its customers, both commercial and domestic. Certainly domestic users of gas who are wealthy or in comfortable circumstances, should contribute to the additional revenue which the gas company states it requires. The poor should not be the goats.

In order to relieve residents of Massachusetts of burdensome real estate taxes, some of our statesmen are advocating the levying of a "sales tax" in this Commonwealth. They contend it will reduce real estate taxes by 20 per cent, perhaps it will; but it also will add much more in taxes on a large percentage of Massachusetts people than the 20 per cent it saves them in real estate taxes. It has been estimated that even on families with only $1500 yearly income the sales tax will total $27.30. It will stimulate politicians, both in our State legislature and in misgoverned towns and cities throughout the Commonwealth to become more wasteful and extravagant in spending public funds and in creating additional sinecures for their relatives and friends. Furthermore, if a sales tax is established in Massachusetts, many thousands of persons residing even considerable distances from bordering States will motor into these States to purchase necessities of life, as well as luxuries, and Massachusetts business men and women will suffer accordingly. What Massachusetts needs is not more taxes but more economy in the conduct of public affairs. And we observe repeated demands for higher salaries for State and municipal officials who are already well paid, and who used all their resources to obtain the positions they hold.

Mayor Childs was quoted as saying this week that the Newton police department needs two ambulances. We do not know whether or not the Mayor was speaking facetiously, but if he was serious, we agree with him. Automobile accidents have become so increasingly frequent, that often there are serious accidents in which several persons are injured. In past years this city had to add to its equipment in various departments to cope with changed conditions. There is just as much reason for acquiring a second ambulance as there was years ago for obtaining more fire apparatus, more trucks for the street department and more schools to care for a larger number of pupils. When ambulances are needed, they are needed badly. If Newton can spend money for policemen, it can spend money for a second ambulance. And the Aldermen are willing to authorize such an expenditure.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Feet on the Ground

It would not be surprising if somebody should chide me with that bit of poetic philosophy, "Look up, not down." Last week I wrote about over shoes and today it's more foot-wear. Strictly speaking, I am merely taking life as I find it, and at present, I must say, the air is surcharged with references to missing galoshes. "O! I've forgotten my rubbers!" has become almost a common cry. We walk out bravely, drop into a friend's house and kick off our rubbers as if we were never to need them again. Then we go out at the end of the evening and have proceeded half a block or so when we realize our feet are cold. Rushing back, we find a surprised host, unlocking the front door, with the query, "Anything wrong?" No need to rehearse these painful recollections. "Look up, not down," indeed! More looking down is imperative, I argue.

Their Own Almost Everything

Conversation drifts to snow when snow drifts fill our streets. So, it isn't surprising that shoveling-out is a favorite topic, particularly the big undertaking to get to the garage so the doors could be opened and the car taken out. Everybody, whether they shovel or not, knows that when the streets are banked with snow that a path to the street is most important. What makes me hot, even on the coldest day, is to have some car owner decide that the path from the sidewalk to the road was designed for his exclusive use. Doesn't he show that is what is in his mind when he parks his car right across the opening so that nobody can pass. Look around and you'll be upset to think that there are so many thoughtless if not hoggish people in our midst.

Abuse of Books

The dilapidated condition in which some of our Newton Free Library books are returned distresses me. Not that I have to contribute to the upkeep of the library, but I don't quite understand why books are not read instead of mutilated. The latest example was a book on dog-training. It was not a large volume—more pocket-size, though not quite that. However, on the covers were the marks of dog's teeth. Unmistakable evidence that canine molars had done their work. I couldn't explain it to my satisfaction except I thought somebody may have felt the library would like an autographed copy.

Sensible View

It has never been a practice of mine to sit in judgment on the youth of today, although I hear parents expressing their views pretty forcibly. Only the other day I listened to a parent and mother talking over the employment their son had obtained on a morning newspaper. The mother seemed to think it was unfortunate her boy should be obliged to keep such unearthy hours. Not so the father. "Shucks," said he, "the boy always stayed out late and now I'm glad somebody's paying him for doing it."

What About This?

Ever since I learned that the report of the New England Water Works Association gives the average daily per capita consumption of water at 70 gallons I have been wondering if some do not get more than they need. Furthermore, I am inclined to believe that many people, not especially in Newton, fail to avail themselves of all to which they are entitled. Certain of these could do with more, as the British would express it. Unless you stop to think you'd be surprised at the many uses to which water is put and which of course is included in the per capita estimate. How about the waste of water? Shall water be denied those who hop into the bathtub on the slightest, or without provocation whatever? Or should we penalize only those who almost invariably leave the faucet running? Of course there may be something in the assertion that as long as a man pays his water tax he ought to be permitted to use as much water as he desires, not necessarily enough for drowning, however.

Newton Centre Man Gets Delivery Of First Cadillac Special

The first delivery of a 1938 Special Cadillac Sixty in New England was made this week in Newton Centre. The car was sold by Mr. Norman Appleyard of the Newton Centre Garage, local Cadillac-LaSalle, and Oldsmobile dealers to Mr. Sherman B. Ward of Prentice Road. Mr. Ward is president of the Stowe-Woodward Co. of Newton Upper Falls. He left this week on an overland trip to California.

"This Sixty Special Cadillac eliminates Cadillac's thirty-five years of automotive leadership," says Mr. Appleyard, who is enthusiastic over this new wonder car of 1938. "There has never been a car like it," he continues, "a car with such definite modernity of line, yet so obviously right in taste. It is a precedent-breaking car prophetic of motor cars not yet on other drawing boards, yet a car devoid of freakish trappings."

"There has never been anything like the vivid, spirited performance of this car. Its inexhaustible vitality, its eager-flowing power, its quiet, obedient responsiveness, overshadow any seemingly perfect motoring experience you may ever have enjoyed. "There has never been anything like the inviting, all-embracing comfort of its seats, davenport seats with extra width and depth made possible by its special design."

"There has never been anything like the vision with which you drive the Sixty Special. There is more outward vision than in any closed car ever built heretofore. You see in all directions. You relax and drive in a freedom of uncramped environment foreign to all other cars."

Jan. 31. Twelfth District, joint with Fifth and Eleventh Districts, Legislative Conference, at Framingham.

Club House, from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation; Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, Twelfth District director; and Mrs. George H. Tracy, president of the Hostess Club, greeted club members and guests in the Director's Room. The Hospitality committee, Mrs. Henry E. Johnson, chairman, had three of its members in charge for the day, Mrs. Henry Weidner, Mrs. Ernest Wing, and Mrs. Georgedna Harlow, chairman.

The pourers were three past presidents of the Newton Federation: Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., both of Newton Centre; and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, of Newtonville.

Of unusual interest was the Poster Exhibit in the Art Gallery. The posters, covering the four walls of the Gallery, and owned by the Art chairman, Mrs. Harry L. Harding, were large in number and distinctive in design. One could take, in a short tour around the room, a trip in imagination around the world, for French chateaux, rolling Scottish landscapes, and quaint glimpses of Germany, Normandy, and other foreign lands, carried their characteristic appeal and travel urge. Most striking of all was a poster of Fingal's cave, with primitive, massive rocks in contrast to a modern, sophisticated ocean liner alongside, while for an amusing note, penguins frolicked in the face of a huge setting sun on a Norwegian fjord. Australia invited its tourists with a chubby little Koala bear poster, England's Spa at Harrogate was charming in coloring, and our own country was well represented by a very new and modern poster of the Dartmouth Carnival to be held this February.

After this delightful social hour, club members went over to the Newton High School Auditorium for the afternoon's program. Mrs. George H. Tracy, president of the Newtonville Woman's Club, presided at the short business meeting and paid a tribute to Mrs. Henry H. Carter in the following words: "On January 10th, one of the charter members of the Newtonville Woman's Club passed away. She was President of this Club from 1897-1901, and from 1901-1904 she was president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. It is therefore especially fitting at this joint-meeting of the Newtonville Club and the City Federation that we all stand for a minute in silent tribute to the memory of Mrs. Henry H. Carter."

In recognition of Mrs. Carter's services to the Club, it was decided that the club members should make a copy of the club's regrets, and that a copy be sent to the family. The following committee, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, chairman; Mrs. Wallace Boyden, and Mrs. Grahame Harris, will have such resolutions ready for the next meeting, so that they may be incorporated in the records.

Mrs. Tracy then welcomed the Newton Federation president, who took charge of the meeting. Mrs. Hay read the minutes of the Federation's last fall meeting, and spoke briefly about the WPA concert sponsored by the Federation, and she introduced Mr. Morgan who explained the use to be made of the proceeds.

Many Features for Pop Concert

Colorful Tyrolean decorations, a lively orchestra, and an entertaining Floor Show furnish the ingredients for "Das Spießfest" or Pop Concert, which will be staged by the Drama committee, Mrs. John C. Duff, chairman, of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Friday, January 28th, at 8 p. m. The entertainment itself will be supplied by the First Parish Choristers, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Harrington, and will include tap-dancing, pantomime, and a playlet. According to the tradition of pop concerts there will be a master of ceremonies to introduce the numbers, and to announce dancing for the guests between the numbers, with music by the Lyman Bowker orchestra. An opening chorus of twenty voices will start this evening of fun and music. Refreshments will be served by the members of the Drama committee, assisted by four daughters of the committee who, in costume, will make attractive waitresses. The Show will be held in the Social Hall of the Club House, and will last, with the dancing, until midnight.

The next Literature Afternoon will be at the home of Mrs. J. Mace Anderson, on Monday, January 24th, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. William R. Mattson, chairman of the Education committee, is in charge of the tea. There will be another Play-Reading which Club members found so enjoyable at the last meeting.

rant Flowers" will be given by Mrs. Herbert L. Slade.

Newton Community Club

The Newton Community Club celebrated its American Home Day on Thursday, January 13th, with a "Family Treasure Exhibit," and an inspiring talk by Miss Mary Sue Wigley, who was presented by Mrs. C. Lawrence Barber, chairman of the American Home committee. Miss Wigley gave a very true and vivid picture of the Mountain Whites in Alabama, emphasizing their generosity, hospitality, and loyalty. There are no economic classes there, and the bankruptcy law is very unpopular, she said quaintly. To them, work is one of the happiest functions of life, and it is only "the tree with bad roots that falls over," is their motto.

They feel that the United States offers opportunity and justice for all, and that interest, heart, and character are what pave the way for the road of life and love. To win we must do without, they believe. The speaker was not from choice, but forced upon them by nature, the speaker declared.

Leroy P. Gulon spoke of the WPA Concert that the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring, for February 4th.

Mrs. Louis J. Hunter gave out bags for clothing for the unemployed of Newton. She showed five pairs of mittens that had been knitted by a member for a deserving family, and a pair of bed slippers made out of odds and ends of cloth and fur for the children at the Peabody Home.

Mrs. Arnold Barker gave a notice of a Dancing Class series to be held in Underwood School Hall, on Tuesday evenings, beginning January 18th, sponsored by the Newton Circle; also, of the Y. M. C. A. Women's Auxiliary meeting on January 26th, in the Y. W. C. A. Hall, when Dr. Harold Choppe will be the speaker, and the Glee Club will furnish the music.

A Food Sale was held, with Mrs. Ralph M. Patterson, chairman. A Cake Shop, of Newton Centre, donated a most attractive cake on which chances were sold.

It was announced that the Annual Dessert-Bridge for Club Philanthropies will be held on January 24th, in the homes of several members.

Mrs. Burdett Mansfield reported that $56.20 had been realized as the Club's share of profits from sales at Mrs. Howard M. Le Sourd's Gift Shop, which sum will go toward the Scholarship Fund.

Tea, delicious sandwiches, and candied fruit-pearl were served by Mrs. Allan N. Kee and her committee, with Mrs. George W. Barber, Mrs. Arthur Kendrick, Miss Beatrice Clegg, and Miss Margaret F. MacLean as hostesses.

The next meeting of the Club will be held on Thursday, January 27th, when Professor S. Ralph Harlow, by the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company, will be the speaker.

He is a noted lecturer and traveler, and has spent several years in Geneva as director of the Students' International Union. He has lectured in China, Japan, and India, and the Near East, as well as in European university centers. Professor Harlow will tell something about unrest in the Mediterranean, its roots, and its future threat to peace. He can give firsthand knowledge of real value to his hearers on the present world turmoil.

Mrs. George Wheeler, noted Boston Tenor, will be the soloist at this meeting. He is second tenor of the Embassy Club Quartet and soloist at Eliot Church. He has won marked recognition for his work in oratorios.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Dr. Samuel Macauley Lindsay will resume his discussion of World Affairs at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Monday evening, January 24th, at 8 o'clock.

"Don Giovanni" will be the subject of the Opera Recital-Talk on Tuesday morning, January 25th, at 10:30, at the Club House. Lucy Simonds depicts in a pleasant and humorous manner the scenes of the opera as she plays the themes. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Harry C. Gibson, or at the door.

Sponsored by the Civic and Legislative committee, a meeting, open to the public without charge, will be held at the Club House, on Thursday morning, the 27th, at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Mark T. deSilva, of Danvers, Massachusetts State Federation Legislative chairman, will discuss Bills to come up before the Legislature, which the State Federation of Women's Clubs recommends to the clubs for study. The meeting is in charge of Mrs. Alden H. Spere.

Donald Gordon Squier is exhibiting in the Newton Centre Woman's Club Art Galleries until February 4th, his New England scenes. The Art committee gave a tea on Wednesday afternoon, in the Gallery, in honor of Mr. Squier.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club at the meeting Friday transacted an unusually large amount of business. Among the interesting announcements were those by Mrs. Thomas W. Cumer of the Newton Federation Clothing Drive, and of the Symphony Concert to be given February 4th, at the Newton High School. Mrs. George H. Crosbie, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, asked the Club members to reserve Wednesday, March 16th, for the Spring Activity A Style Show, during the late morning, followed by a luncheon and bridge party, will be a day to see the latest spring fashions, just in time for Easter buying, and to enjoy a game of bridge, after a simple luncheon. In the Reception Room all day three tables of articles, one of dainty Easter gifts, one of food to take home, and one of flowers and plants, will be for sale.

The speaker of the afternoon, Rolfe Walter Brown, entertained the membership and friends with his interpretation of novel-reading and the manner of building material into books. During the social hour in the Recreation Room, before the business meeting, Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock and Mrs. Kirtley F. Mather presided at the long tea-table. Spring flowers formed the centerpiece for the individual tables around the room and for the tea-table.

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Collector's Luck" was the subject of the informal talk by Mrs. Rebecca Chilcott Jackson, of Wellesley, at the meeting of the American Home committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Wednesday, January 12th, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Harold Sherman, on Mill st. Mrs. Chilcott took her audience on an imaginary trip into New England's past, and showed the beautiful and durable articles our ancestors made with their hands. Among the many lovely fabrics were blankets and spreads made from the wool of sheep on the owner's farm, and carded and dyed from apple bark, hickory, and other materials, in soft browns, greens, blues, and reds. Mrs. Chilcott also stated that in the little town of Sandwich, New Hampshire, she found that people were still carrying on the old crafts and exhibiting them to the public. This project, initiated by Mrs. J. Randolph Chubb, of Brookline and Boston, who became interested in the talents of these old New England descendants, while at her summer home in this quaint town, has given delightful opportunity for these people to develop their abilities and to market their handiwork most lucratively.

Another attractive feature of her talk was a display of bridal dresses and finery of 150 years ago, with their tiny waists and puff sleeves. In the discussion period Mrs. Chilcott answered questions that were sent in by Club members such as the difference between blown, pressed, and moulded glass, and the outstanding characteristics of Chippendale, Sheraton, and Heppelwhite furniture. Tea was served at the close of the meeting, and guests enjoyed again the hospitality of this delightful activity of the American Home committee.

Club Enjoys Pageant

Wearing the full skirts and narrow waists of the grandmother's and great-grandmother's day, twenty members of the Abundant Junior Woman's Club appeared as models in a picturesque "Pageant of Brides" Tuesday afternoon, January 18th, in the Abundant Club House. Some of the gowns were nearly 100 years old and some were worn by direct descendants of the original owners.

The Pageant which was directed by Mrs. Robert S. Allingham, of Newton Highlands, was presented with a background of appropriate music by Mrs. Dan Kendall, soloist; Mrs. Franklin Leland, pianist; and Miss Irene Forte, violinist. Mrs. J. Arthur Wilson was Day chairman, assisted by Mrs. Joseph C. McCarron, chairman of the Program committee.

The first gown, made in 1840 and the oldest in the pageant, was a sea-green taffeta with lace fichu, worn by Eleanor Boardman, and the property of Mrs. Edward P. Kelly. Next came one of mauve-gray changeable taffeta, with full skirt and bodice trimmed with tiny buttons. This was shown by Mrs. Anne Wheeler, whose great-grandmother wore it in 1849 and who came on a covered wagon trip for her honeymoon.

The third was a blue wool "walking-out dress" from a bride's trousseau of 1850. Trimmed with unusual buttons and scrollwork of red plaid, the dress was modelled by Virginia Southgate, and belongs to Mrs. Austin W. Fisher. Mrs. Richard L. Kenney modelled the fourth wedding-gown, which was of white damask with full skirt and unusual v-shaped shoulder-line, worn in 1852 by a bride of the Gold Rush days, and also the property of Mrs. Fisher. Mrs. Kenney was attended by two bridesmaids in blue, two in rose, and a maid-of-honor in American-beauty red.

Dorothy Stamm appeared in the next gown, which her great-grandmother wore at her wedding which took place in Rockport in February, 1873. Now in the possession of the Stamm family, the dress was brown, trimmed with inserts of darker brown velvet and made with a bustle. 1880 was the next date represented. This was the property of Mrs. Earl D. Wood, and worn by Jane Ricketson. Made of white moire, the gown was tightly laced in front, with leg of mutton sleeves, a long train, and ruffles inset in the skirt.

Barbara Felton modelled the seventh dress. This was her grandmother's dress of finely-embroidered lawn, with sash and lace underskirt, which made a striking contrast with the model's auburn hair. First worn in 1886, the outfit also included the original satin slippers. The gay 90's was represented by June Krueger in a cream-colored damask, belonging to Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, and made with short sleeves and lace overskirt and bustle.

An unusual outfit was worn by Constance Hirst, president of the Juniors. This was a rose silk wedding-gown, made for a Chinese bride of 1900, and now the property of Miss Anne E. Bunker.

From 1900 on, the gowns became more traditional in their style and material, with white the predominant color, and satin the favorite material. In this group were Ruth Baird, whose white satin dress was first worn in 1902, and now belongs to the Baird family; Sue Blackey, whose intricately-laced white cashmere, now the property of Mrs. John H. Harding, was first worn in 1905; and Annetta Couchman in white brocade with gored skirt, imported from Paris in 1906, and owned by Mrs. D. M. Houghton.

Jane Ansley's airy point d'esprit wedding-dress was worn by Mrs. John H. Heibek at her wedding in 1907. Fashioned with many ruffles, a train, and a high standup collar, the gown was the very essence of the Gibson Girl period of fashion history.

1907 was also the date of the blue taffeta "going away" dress worn by Mrs. Grace H. Fiske after her wedding, and modelled by Dorothy Chandler. Marjorie Boardman wore a white satin outfit, with unusual lace and satin sleeves, dated 1908, and the property of Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury, while Virginia Southgate appeared for the second time in an exquisite hand-made white satin gown with lace overskirt, belonging to Mrs. Earl H. Ordway.

In 1909, the style for women's clothes changed radically as shown in the white satin wedding-gown of that date modelled by Dorothy Houghton. This change came even more pronounced in 1926, evidenced when Betty Armstrong appeared in Mrs. John F. Wheelock's dress of ivory satin, with skirt to the knees and a panel train attached to the shoulders. In 1931, Virginia Wilson was flower girl at her aunt's wedding. Tuesday, she appeared as a bride in the original white satin gown worn seven years ago and with its beautifully-embroidered full-length veil, portraying the modern bride was Barbara Ordway. However, whose marriage took place September 4, 1937, in the Abundant Congregational Church. Mrs. Brewer wore her own white lace gown over a satin slip.

The two little page girls, dressed in red with white organza caps and capes, who helped the brides arrange posing on the stage, were Joan Armstrong and Donna Joyce Sprague. Preceding the Pageant, Dr. Harold D. Choate, of the Newton Health Department, discussed briefly the developments in the work of his organization during the past year.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON TOPS EVERETT AND BROCKTON RUNNERS

The Newton high track team opened its season this past week with victories over Brockton High and Everett High. The Brockton meet was staged on Saturday in the Shoe City State Armory and the Everett meet at the Newton track in the old drill shed at Newtonville.

Everett was conquered 49 to 28 with the orange and black winning six first places and tying another in the nine events contested. Gil Walker of Everett was the individual star winning the dash for the visitors and tying with Bud Hines, Newton star in the 300. The relay was the other event taken by Everett.

Walker and Ellston took first and second in the dash with Hurley picking up the third place point for Newton. Cheney, Pescosolido and Fisher swept the hurdles to give Newton nine points to take the lead. Ashley of Newton took third in the 300 behind Hines and Walker. Another sweep for Newton came in the 600 with Art Hughes breaking the tape ahead of Fred Hall and Joe Antonelli. Basil Babcock won the 1000 with his teammate Cotton taking third for six Newton points in the distance event. Lanciani finishing second. Pescosolido cleared 6 ft. 3/4 in. to win the high jump over Callahan. Messier and Maguire tied for third to give the home team still another sweep. MacNeill won the broad jump with Everett taking the remaining two places and Walsh won the shotput with two Everett lads finishing second and third. The relay went to the visitors against a Newton quartet of Shepherdson, Foster, Cheney and Pescosolido.

The Brockton team pressed the Newton runners more closely than was expected with Newton eventually winning a 42 1/2 to 34 1/2 battle. With the meet concluded with the exception of the relay and the high jump Newton was leading by a 34 to 29 count. Brockton took the relay with Coach Enoch using a quartet of newcomers to the Newton squad bringing the count to 34-44. With exceptional strength in the high jump the Newton mentor was taking no chances as the orange and black jumpers grabbed 8 1/2 of the 9 points in the event to win by its eight point margin.

Co-captain Bud Hines won both the 30-yard dash and the 300-yard run for Newton's only points in the short distances although these two first gave Newton a 10-8 margin. Don MacKinnon and Billy Pescosolido finished one, two for eight points in the hurdles to increase the Newton lead. Fred Hall won the 600 over Coughlin of Brockton and Co-Captain Jerry Allen in third place. The 6-3 split of points in those events was offset by Brockton's first and third in the 1000 with Babcock of Newton taking the three points for second place. Pocius of Brockton set a new track record of 2m 35.3-5s in the distance event. Brockton took first and second in the shot with Walsh of Newton taking the third place with a toss of 39 ft. 3/4 inches.

Bill Albert's 9 ft. 9 in. leap in the standing broad jump was sufficient to win by almost a half foot with Steward McNeill taking third place, 3/4 of an inch behind the Brockton bid for second place. Donald Ashley, Kit Fisher, Bob Hurley and Wally Shepherdson were Coach Enoch's choices in the relay which went to Brockton.

With the bar in the high jump at five feet eight inches only four remained in the field. They were Billy Pescosolido, John Callahan, and Mark Messier of Newton and Peterson of Brockton. Messier and Peterson failed at the next height to divide the third place point and Pesky and Callahan went on to finally tie after clearing six feet.

Osteopaths Elect Newton Men at Convention

Dr. Harry E. Cash, 170 Warren st., Newton Centre, was elected president of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Society at its 35th annual convention, held Saturday at the Hotel Kenmore, Boston. He succeeded Dr. Ralph D. Head of Pittsfield. The convention, most successful in the Society's history, was attended by 200 osteopathic physicians, surgeons, and specialists from all parts of Massachusetts. Dr. Cash, who was Sergeant-at-Arms, is also a member of the Middlesex South Osteopathic Society, one of the eight component societies in the state organization.

Dr. Ernest A. Marcoux, 337 Washington St., Newton, was re-elected secretary of the Society.

One of the most interesting addresses of the event was given on "Infections of the Hand," by Dr. Albert E. Leach, 146 Beaumont ave., Newtonville, attending surgeon at the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital and Clinics, Jamaica Plain.

Also attending the convention were Dr. and Mrs. Walter N. Keene, of 128 Lowell ave., Newtonville. Dr. Keene, recently appointed to take charge of Newton's part in the tenth birthday celebration of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital, next month, and Mrs. Keene, who is active in the Newton Auxiliary, were guests at a luncheon given by the Hospital Trustees to discuss plans.

Her arm was fractured at the elbow and she received bruises on her body.

NEWTON FIVE KEEPS SLATE CLEAN—WINS 4TH

The Newton High School 1938 basketball team bids fair to hang up the best record of any orange and black quintet since the sport was resumed at the high school about ten years ago. The team is undefeated in four games and has defeated some of the strongest competition it will face in its schedule. Overwhelming Rindge Tech at the Cambridge team's court last Friday 24 to 22 for its second Suburban league victory Coach Simmons' quintet went on to edge Arlington on Tuesday of this week, 29 to 25 on their opponents' floor. The win over Arlington in a hard fought game that was not decided until the last half minute of play put the Newton team out in front in the race for league honors.

The afternoon game between orange and black will meet the Waltham high five in the first game of the season on the Newton floor in the high school gymnasium. In its four games the locals have shown an orderly and positive precision which only needs to be speeded up to make them one of the strongest five in school boy basketball in the state. The individual brilliance of the Newton players but an emphasis upon team play which seldom is turned aside. In the Rindge game Gene Leger led the team with six points each from Don Abbott, Dick VanGundy and Johnny Flag. Wally Maguire and Pepper Martin with four points each completed the scoring. At half time Newton led the orange and black 17 to 9 and the third period was practically even although at one time Rindge reduced the Newton lead to but four points. In the final period Newton forged ahead to build up its final lead of twelve points.

The illness of Olivigni, a better than ordinary guard forced Coach Simmons to call upon Flag to fill the gap. The latter, a sophomore and a brother of the Newton team, has shown sportsmanship at Newton a few years ago, responded nobly holding his own against forward and substitute but to one solitary basket. In the third period when Rindge began to click and reduce the Newton lead Dick VanGundy, another sophomore, took over Maguire's berth and came through with six floor baskets to offset the Rindge scoring spree.

The Arlington game on Tuesday was nip and tuck. Arlington led most of the first period but twice the orange and black drew up on even terms. Maguire sunk a foul shot to open the scoring but a free try for Corbett and a floor goal by Burke put Arlington in front. Before the end of the quarter Corbett caged two more free tries to set the score at 6 to 4. In the second period a free try by Van Gundy knotted the count at 7 all and then Flag's toss put Newton in front. Near the end of the half and floor goal and a foul shot for Arlington tied the count again at 14 all. Martin put Newton in front with a foul shot and Flag added another shortly after the third period opened. Corbett of Arlington caged a foul try to change the lead again but Leger's rebound shot and Abbott's basket put Newton in front to stay. At the end of the third period the score read 22-20.

Arlington came within a point of Newton three times in the final quarter but Newton's defensive tactics repeatedly saved the tying or leading counts. With two minutes to go and Newton leading 26 to 25 Abbott scored a basket from the floor and then, with a half minute to go, made good on a free try to clinch the verdict.

Abbott was the Newton high scorer with 9 points with Leger scoring 8, followed by Flag, 5, Van Gundy 4, Maguire 2 and Martin 1.

HOCKEY SIX LOSES—SEASON IS HALF OVER

The Newton High hockey team dropped another Greater Boston League game last Saturday with Arlington the winners in a 2 to 1 contest. The Sp. Ponders built up their winning total with two tallies in the opening period. The first came before two minutes of playing time had gone by with Babine taking a pass from Lyons and skating almost into the Newton net before he let go a shot which Smith had no chance to turn aside. With less than a minute left to play the same stanza Blanchard and Duffey teamed up, passed back and forth several times as they skated down the ice and neared the Newton net. As Blanchard passed across right in front of the net Alex Skene, Newton defender, tried to intercept and the rubber bounced off his stick into the net.

About midway of the second period with Duffey off the ice on a three minute tripping penalty Jack Carder soloed for Newton to avert a shutout. Throughout the third period Arlington played a tight defensive game to protect its lead. Newton forced the going but several times was outwitted when chances came for the tying tally.

The halfway mark of the season is reached tomorrow with Newton meeting Melrose in the set of games to be played at the Garden.

Gas Company Asks Rate Increase

The Boston Consolidated Gas Company has filed with the State Department of Public Utilities a new schedule of rates for general domestic and commercial use of gas. Approval of the Department must be received before the proposed schedule can be put into effect.

Monthly bills of customers using one hundred cubic feet of gas or less will remain unchanged since the first step of the new rate will be the same as the first step of the present domestic rate. The principal change is in the second step where the charge will be twenty cents per hundred feet for six hundred feet. For the following eight hundred feet the proposed change is ten cents per hundred. The rate then decreases to eight cents per hundred for the next 23,500 feet and to seven and one-half cents for the next 75,000 feet. For all gas over 100,000 feet the rate will be six cents per hundred.

Approval of this new rate will mean replacing three existing rates which now cover the sale of gas for general domestic use, general commercial use and automatic water heating. All other rates of the company, including house heating, kitchen heating and industrial rates, will not be affected.

The rate proposed is a promotional rate, says E. M. Farnsworth, President of Boston Consolidated Gas Company. "That is to say, it is designed to encourage and promote greater use of gas as well as provide needed additional revenue to the company."

"There will be no change in the first step, or initial charge of the new rate as compared with the one now in force. This has been arranged by the company in order to avoid the controversy which arose in previous rate proposals when a higher initial charge was sought."

"Some of the middle steps of the new rate are higher than corresponding steps in the old rate. On the other hand, customers who use gas for several purposes and thus require more of it will get it at less cost. This is especially true of customers with larger families."

The present rates charged by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company are 60c for the first 100 cubic feet, 10 cents per hundred for the next 99,000 cubic feet, and 8 cents per hundred for all over 100,000 cubic feet, with a minimum bill of $7 for any 12 month period. The new monthly schedule calls for 70c gross and 60c net for the first hundred cubic feet; 20 1/2c net and 20c net per hundred for the next 600 cubic feet; 10 1/2c gross and 10c net per hundred for the next 800 cubic feet; 8 1/2c gross and 8c net per hundred for the next 23,500 cubic feet; 8 1/2c gross and 8c net per hundred for the next 75,000 cubic feet; over 100,000 cubic feet, 6 1/2c gross and 6c net per hundred cubic feet. The net rate will be given to customers who pay their bills, including arrears, within 20 days of billing. The cities and towns included in the new rate schedule are: Boston, Brookline, Newton, Waltham, Weston, Chelsea, Milton, Quincy, Wellesley and Somerville. The company estimates that it will receive $1,165,000 additional revenue if the Public Utilities Commission allows the new rates to be put into effect. It was originally intended to have the new rates become effective on February 1, but the Public Utilities Commission has ordered a hearing on this matter at the State House on February 1, and the changed rates will not go into effect until March 1, and not then if the Public Utilities Commission refuses to endorse the changes.

The Gas Company has 18,229 meters in the City of Newton and sold 1,439,093,000 cubic feet in this city in 1936. The revenue to the company from its Newton sales in 1936 was $1,171,167; the average sales per meter 6500 cubic feet per meter and the average revenue per meter for 1936 was $52.30. Newton has a large percentage of gas users obtaining special rates. The increases in cost to smaller users, as estimated by the gas company, will average about 35c per month, and the maximum net increase is estimated to amount to 60c.

Officials of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company state that the proposed increases provide the only way to obtain additional needed revenue in a short time. In 1937 the company earned only about 2 per cent on capital invested. Federal, State and municipal taxes on the company have been increased to the point where, between 1933 and 1937 the wages of employees have increased several hundred thousands of dollars.

The Boston Consolidated Gas Company is affiliated with the Eastern Gas & Fuel Company, and the Koppers Company of Pittsburgh. In 1929 the company received permission to change its rates from $1.20 per 1000 cubic feet to a service charge of 50c per month, and a domestic rate of $1 per thousand cubic feet up to 100,000 cubic feet. In 1934 the service charge was abolished, but an equivalent was established in a rate of 60c for the first hundred cubic feet used monthly, and the present sliding scale of rates, with special rates for particular users of gas in larger quantities. In 1935 the gas company applied for the right to establish rates practically the same as are now proposed, but the Public Utilities Commission disallowed the company's application.

Supt. of Schools Warren Discusses 'No School' Signal

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night, Supt. of Schools Julius Warren discussed with the committee the episode on January 13 when about 100 youths went on a so-called "strike" and marched from Newton High School to City Hall to protest to Mayor Childs on the failure of the "no school" signal to have been given in this city on that morning. Of the approximately 2500 pupils attending high school, with the exception of the small minority who engaged in the demonstration, all the large student body maintained the excellent reputation of Newton for discipline. On the morning of January 13 a light, dry snow had fallen, which caused little inconvenience to traffic.

In discussing the matter of "no school" signals in Newton, Mr. Warren, on Monday night stated that ordinarily parents of Newton children must decide for themselves whether or not they believe the weather conditions are unfit to send their children to school. He said that the school department would not close the schools except on days when the weather was unusually severe. The following day, with its high wind and driving rain, such a day, and Supt. of Schools Warren had the "no school" signal sounded on the fire alarm bells, as well as announced through the medium of Boston radio stations. Mr. Warren said that parents who decide to keep their children from attending school on stormy days, can rest assured that although such children may be marked absent or tardy, they will be given ample opportunities to make up the school work they missed.

Referring to conditions on January 13, Mr. Warren stated that so many telephone calls were sent to police and fire department headquarters on that morning inquiring as to whether or not there was school, that emergency calls could have been transmitted only with difficulty. The Fire Department had to request the telephone company to answer the inquiries regarding the school attendance. Complications were caused by a telephone operator at the Centre Newton exchange giving misinformation by stating there would be no school, and by a private school in this city announcing no school over the radio. Mr. Warren stated that on January 13, 74.5 per cent of Newton public school pupils attended classes. He said that the boys who went on the "strike" were motivated by mischief, and a number of them have since apologized. He informed the committee that in Newton for some years prior to 1935 the "no school" signal had been abandoned, and parents had to decide whether or not to have their children attend school on stormy days. In 1935 the then School Committee adopted a system for the announcement of no school. This included the sounding of the 3-3-3 signal on the fire alarm, and the use of radio stations WBZ, WEEI and WNAC. In the near future Supt. of Schools Warren will issue a circular for parents on the matter of the "no school" signal.

Mayor Honored At Nonantum

A testimonial banquet in honor of Mayor Edwin O. Childs was held last night at Nonantum. A. A. Hall, Dalby street, Nonantum. About 125 were present. The committee which arranged the affair was headed by Alderman Edward Fahey. Among those who spoke were Rev. John Sheridan of Our Lady's Church; Rev. Joseph Robichaud of St. Jean Evangeliste Church, and Rev. Martin Goslin of North Congregational Church.

Protest Using California St. As Extension

The extension of the Metropolitan parkway along the Charles River at Galen st., Watertown, towards Bemis and Waltham is again before the State Legislature as a result of a bill filed by Representative Leo Landry of Watertown. The parkway was planned many years ago and the Metropolitan District Commission then acquired land bordering the Charles River as a route for it. Several years ago Metropolitan District engineers changed the original plan and prepared plans using California st. in Nonantum as a part of the parkway route. Strong protests were made against this proposal.

These protests were renewed on Monday night at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen when Alderman George Rawson of Ward 7 moved that the Board go on record as opposed to the use of California st. for the parkway and favoring the original route near the river. Mr. Rawson called attention to the many automobile accidents which have occurred on California st. and to the fact that the street is used by hundreds of children and a large number of women employed in nearby factories. His motion authorized the Mayor and City Solicitor to appear before the Legislative committee at the hearing to be held on the matter. The motion was seconded by Alderman Fahey of Ward 1 and carried.

On Thursday Mayor Childs announced that he would oppose the use of California st. for the parkway and called attention to the fact that the playgrounds located near California st. necessitate the crossing of that street by large numbers of children.

Community Chest Fund Reaches Goal

Final report of the Newton Community Chest Campaign for 1937 made this morning by A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., campaign chairman, showed total pledges of $194,395.97 or 101.6 per cent of the $192,305 goal. In announcing the final figures, Mr. Harwood paid tribute to the generous response of Newton citizens to the appeal and pointed out that the number of subscribers had increased from 14,189 in 1936 to 15,202 in 1937.

The Newton Chest, which is the oldest in Greater Boston, has steadily increased its goal and the number of its subscribers for the past four years. Mr. Harwood stated, "The success of the campaign," he said, "assures the continuance of the good work of Newton's 14 health and social agencies in 1938."

School Committee Holds Meeting

The Newton School Committee at its meeting on Monday night voted to grant permission to have the McGlinchey house on Elm road moved across the high school athletic field to a new location. The McGlinchey property was recently acquired by the city, the site being wedged in at the high school property. It had been proposed to use the house as an administration building for the School Department. The committee voted to reduce the mileage rate on automobiles to two school department employees from 8c per mile to 5c per mile. These employees have been obtaining the higher rate in using their cars to travel about this city.

Twelve Apartment House At Newton

Excavation work for the foundation of a new apartment building on Mount Ida street, Newton, started this week. The location, at the corner of Centre street was formerly the Alden property. It is situated on a steep grade and at a sharp curve on Centre street. Several years ago when it was proposed to build a large apartment building at this place, Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher, then a member of the Board of Aldermen, proposed that the city take sufficient of the land to straighten out the curve on Centre street at this point. His suggestion, however, was not followed.

The lot on which the building is to be erected contains 13,000 square feet of land, and the structure will cover about 4500 square feet, or about 30 per cent of the area. It will be set back 15 feet from the street line and its outside dimensions will be 127 feet by 42 feet. Two stories high, of brick construction, it will contain twelve apartments of 3 rooms each, including kitchenette. The estimated cost is $40,000. The owners of the building are the Morris Realty Trust of Dorchester; the builder, Jacob Ditch; and the architect Saul Moffie.

Barbers Want City To Restrict Hours

A petition has been sent to the Newton Board of Aldermen by the Master Barbers' Association of Newton asking that the city establish an ordinance which will regulate the hours during which barber shops in Newton may be operated. On all week days except Saturday the shops would be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on Saturdays and days preceding legal holidays, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Shops would not be allowed to open on legal holidays. Beauty parlors would not be affected by the ordinance unless they catered to male patrons. Penalty for violating the ordinance would be $10 for the first offense and $25 for a second offense. The petition is signed by 21 members of the Association, headed by the officers. These include Paul Garten, president; Thomas Green, vice-president; Joseph Nargis, recorder; John Tirone, financial secretary; Vincent Buecheri, treasurer.

Similar ordinances are in effect in Boston, Worcester, Lynn, Lowell and other cities. An attorney for a Worcester barber who was recently fined for violating the ordinance there, took an appeal on the ground that such an ordinance is not constitutional.

New. Hlds. Woman Hit By Automobile

Mrs. Lillian Ross, 38, of 315 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, was critically injured last Saturday about midnight when she was hit by an automobile opposite her home. She had alighted from another automobile just before she was struck. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters by Maurice Sheehan, 28, of 73 Charlemont st., Newton Highlands who told the police he had found the woman lying in the snow. Sheehan took Mrs. Ross to his home, and from there she was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. It was found she had a fractured skull and a possible fracture of the spine. Sergeant Cleary investigated the accident and it was supposed to be another case of a hit-and-run driver.

Sunday night Sheehan appeared at police headquarters and told Lieutenant Crowley that at the time of the accident he heard a thump on the right side of his car, and it was probably his automobile which had hit Mrs. Ross. Sheehan said that with the aid of another man who had come along in an automobile, he placed Mrs. Ross in his car, intending to take her to the Newton Hospital, but as he had a flat tire on his automobile, he took the injured woman to his home, a short distance away.

He was sent to Bridgewater State hospital for observation as to his mental condition, and it found sane will be later sentenced. The young girl told her parents of the assault and in company with two Cambridge policemen, was driven back to Watertown where she had been picked up by DiLuca. Rainey Speaks On Youth At Newton Forum

Tells Of Endeavors To Solve Employment Problem

Last Sunday, January 23, Homer P. Rainey, Director of the American Youth Commission of the American Council in Education spoke at the Newton High School on "The Youth Movement Here and Abroad." Roy E. Coombs, State Secretary of the YMCA of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, acted as chairman in Dr. Mather's absence and was in turn introduced by H. W. Bascom, Secretary of the Newton YMCA.

"Youth," Dr. Rainey began, "is being more discussed today than ever before." In countries maintaining a dictatorship, such as Germany, Russia, and Italy, youth literally takes the form of a movement, for in this way the dictator helps to assure himself of continued power. Russia has over 100,000,000 youth dependent upon the government for a living. It is this, the speaker continued, that we want to keep away from. In America we have as yet no organized youth movement. The youth movement here consists rather of the problem of fronting youth and the endeavor to solve it. This problem is concerned with what is to be done for the hundreds of thousands of young people between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one. Industry today is not employing men under twenty-one years of age and the large majority of youth are out of school at sixteen, some sooner than that. Something must be done to keep them occupied and out of the streets. What is more, the older generation, more or less disintegrated by the effects of the world war, is not giving its sons and daughters much assistance. Today's youth is bewildered, uncertain about economic and political as well as moral and intellectual issues.

There are at the present time 4,000,000 between the ages of sixteen and twenty-four unemployed, with an additional 2,000,000 every year. One of the greatest inducements to be dealt with is the declining birth rate. In 1850 there was a ratio of 1000 to 880 of youth over adults. Today that ratio is reversed. What is more, the larger families occur among the poorest communities; mining districts, mill towns and other centers of industry. Large cities are not reproducing their population. In fact, Salt Lake City is the only city in this country where birth rate balances death rate.

The American Youth Commission is made up of sixteen or seventeen outstanding American men and women. It was organized two years ago and is working, so to speak, on a five year plan. That is, for five years it is to study the youth problem and make out a program whereby it can effectively rectify this situation. In the past two years it has interviewed, personally, 50,000 young people between the ages of 16 and 25. Each interview has lasted from forty minutes to two hours and a half. These interviews have afforded the Commission its best source of information regarding the trend of thought and the aspirations of youth, and it is only in this way that it can hope to solve the problem.

Dr. Rainey said that the CCC and the NYA have to some degree aided this situation, and that the continuation of these organizations is to be hoped for. On the other hand, they cannot take care of all the unemployed between the ages of 16 and 21.

The speaker brought up the question of training schools, but the difficulty there lies in the fact that 75 per cent of workers can be trained in six months for their specific duties, and out of the 60 per cent or more who express the desire to enter professional fields, only 8 per cent can be accommodated in these fields. There are more students enrolled in America's secondary schools today than in all the secondary schools in Europe put together.

Youth is naturally eager and enthusiastic to get ahead and be successful but it needs leadership and has no one to turn to; it is the future of Democracy and even the meaning of that is becoming obscure. "The older generation," Dr. Rainey concluded, "has failed its youth."

On February 6, Arthur Garfield Hays of the American Civil Liberties Union will speak on "Let Freedom Ring—Civil Liberty in 1937-1938."

Newton Police Get Handbag Snatcher

Last Thursday night about 7 o'clock Bradford Aucoin, 27, of 25 Oakland st., Watertown was arrested on Ruthven rd., Newton by Patrolmen McEnaney and Sherman on the charge of having robbed Miss Mary Foley, 27, of 274 Beacon st., Boston of her pocketbook. Miss Foley had come from Boston to visit a friend in Newton. After alighting from a street car at Tremont st., Newton she was followed along Waverley ave. by Aucoin. Near Ruthven rd. he seized the young woman's pocketbook, and as she struggled to retain it she was knocked down. Miss Foley went into the home of Atherton Clark at 231 Waverley ave. and reported the robbery. A message was phoned to police headquarters and a police car hastened to the scene. Sergeant Bannon with Patrolmen Maguire, McEnaney and Sherman started to search the neighborhood. A couple of minutes later Aucoin was captured. Bannon and Maguire followed footprints along Waverston rd. and recovered Miss Foley's pocketbook behind a garage where Aucoin had thrown it after allegedly taking $15.72 out of it.

According to the police Aucoin admitted having robbed Miss Foley and the money taken from the pocketbook was found in his possession. He told the police that he was out of work had not eaten for a couple of days, and was desperate. He was arraigned in the Newton police court last Friday and his case continued until January 27.

Shortly after Aucoin was arrested on Thursday night, as Miss Cleveland of 32 Maple ave., Newton was walking on Church st., near Centre st., two thugs attempted to snatch her handbag. She slapped one of them across the face and screamed. The pair fled.

In the Newton Court on Thursday morning Aucoin was found guilty by Judge Mayberry. Arnold Barker of Jameson road, Newton pleaded for leniency for the defendant. Judge Mayberry gave Aucoin a suspended jail sentence of one year. Aucoin had previous convictions for drunkenness and a fare evasion.

Return To Work On WPA Projects

A special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was called by Mayor Childs on Monday night to have $1,000 appropriated so that 180 men could be given more employment at the WPA project at Cold Spring swamp playground at Newton Highlands. Two weeks ago 196 Newton men obtaining WPA relief were laid off because weather conditions made it impossible to continue activities at Edmands Park where they had been assigned. Harold Young, liaison agent between the City of Newton and the WPA, obtained the approval of WPA officials to put the men on another project at Cold Spring swamp playground on another hill at the low land there. The $1000 appropriated by the aldermen is for the purchase of the gravel. The Newton Playground Department will assist in supervising the work.

The contest was close, Lyons nosing out Patrolman James McHugh by one vote. Serg. Thomas Leehan was re-elected treasurer, defeating Patrolman William Riley. Patrolman John Monaghan was re-elected secretary. Directors elected were Sergeant Thomas Burke and Patrolmen Hunt, Mague and Turner.

More Stolen Mail Found At Allston

More of the mail which was in the mail truck stolen at the Newtonville postoffice on the night of January 14 was found on Tuesday near the signal tower opposite the Allston depot by two boys, Richard Hill, 13, of Church street, Newton, and Robert Madigan, 12, of Mansfield street, Allston. The Hill boy formerly lived in Allston and went down there to visit one of his chums. The boys were walking near the railroad tracks when they found a quantity of envelopes and contents, including money orders, stock and bond certificates. The boys picked up some of the envelopes and took them to their homes. The Hill boy's mother notified Newton police headquarters on Tuesday evening and Newton police went to the boy's home and obtained the mail matter. It was turned over to postal inspectors who made a search in the vicinity of the railroad at Allston in an effort to find more of the stolen mail.

Not Guilty Of Reckless Driving

Herbert Bubert, 25, of 6 Dearborn st., Weymouth was found not guilty by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Friday on a charge of driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. On December 13 according to testimony presented by Newton police Dr. Abram Cohen of Crosby rd., Chestnut Hill, was driving his car westerly on Worcester turnpike. Opposite 233 Boylston st., Newton Centre, Cohen stopped his car after heading partly into the crossover to the eastbound roadway of the turnpike, preparatory to driving back toward Brookline. A car driven by Bubert came along and hit the rear of Cohen's car. Dr. Cohen, his wife, and a young girl riding with them, were reported as having received injuries.

In court on Friday Dr. Cohen and his wife testified that he had given the signal for a left turn, had made the turn and was stopped before the Cohen's testimony was substantiated by two Brookline girls named McPhee and Steverman who were passing in another car when the accident occurred. Bubert did not testify. His lawyer, over the objection of Inspector King of the Newton police, who prosecuted the case, introduced the question that Cohen has instituted a civil suit against Bubert. Judge Mayberry found Bubert not guilty.

She was taken to the Newton Hospital in Auerbach's car. It was found that the girl, who is the daughter of Irving House, inspector in the Newton Health department, had marvelously escaped critical injuries. Her right leg and chest were injured, but no bones broken. Pope reported that he did not see the girl until his car was only 6 or 8 feet from her. Auerbach said he did not see Miss House, but felt the jar when his car ran over her.

A special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was called by Mayor Childs on Monday night to have $1,000 appropriated so that 180 men could be given more employment at the WPA project at Cold Spring swamp playground at Newton Highlands. Two weeks ago 196 Newton men obtaining WPA relief were laid off because weather conditions made it impossible to continue activities at Edmands Park where they had been assigned. Harold Young, liaison agent between the City of Newton and the WPA, obtained the approval of WPA officials to put the men on another project at Cold Spring swamp playground on another hill at the low land there. The $1000 appropriated by the aldermen is for the purchase of the gravel. The Newton Playground Department will assist in supervising the work.

Lyons President Of Police Asso.

Patrolman Joseph B. Lyons of West Newton was elected president of the Newton Police Benefit Association at the annual election held last week. The contest was close, Lyons nosing out Patrolman James McHugh by one vote. Serg. Thomas Leehan was re-elected treasurer, defeating Patrolman William Riley. Patrolman John Monaghan was re-elected secretary. Directors elected were Sergeant Thomas Burke and Patrolmen Hunt, Mague and Turner.

Exam For Newton Fire Department

Members of the Newton Fire Department, who will have been at least five years in the service on Feb. 26th of this year, are eligible to take a competitive examination for the rank of lieutenant. The examination will be held at that date by the State Civil Service Commission.

Sagging Ceilings Cause Closing of New Carr School

The new Carr School at Nevada street, Newtonville, was ordered closed on Monday by the School Department because cracks had developed in the ceiling in many of the class rooms and school officials did not want to take any chances of the ceilings falling and injuring the children who attend the school. The Carr School is an elementary school and is attended by children in the first to sixth grades inclusive, as well as a kindergarten and two classes for backward pupils. The building was started in 1934 and completed in August, 1935. It was first occupied in September, 1935. It contains 16 class rooms and has ultra-modern school equipment. The architect of the school was Ralph Henry of Newton; J. Slotnik Company of Boston, the builders; and it was constructed as a PWA project. It was under the supervision of WPA officials and the Newton Public Buildings Department. Harry Hagman was then Public Buildings Commissioner and Joseph Jobling was "Clerk of the Works" on this job for the city. Slotnik was the lowest bidder, and in accordance with WPA rules the contract had to be awarded to the lowest bidder, provided he had a satisfactory financial standing and could obtain a satisfactory bond. The total cost of the building was $300,811.75; of this $57,008.30 was received as a WPA grant.

The sub-contractor who was given the plastering job backed out and this work was eventually done by F. Guidara & Son of Boston. According to the plans, hangers from which the ceilings were to be suspended, were to be placed in position before the concrete floors were poured. Because of the failure of the firm which was first awarded the sub-contract for plastering to perform this work, the concrete for the floors was poured before the hangers for the ceilings were installed. Then, as a substitute method, some of the ceilings were supported by expansion shields set vertically in the concrete. Late last June, after the school had closed, a ceiling in a corridor had sagged to such a degree, that it was replaced. At that time the Slotnik Company was notified of the defect, but declined to stand the expense of the repairs, as over a year had elapsed since the completion of the building, and the contractor's liability had terminated. Public Buildings Commissioner stated on Monday that the school building itself had not settled, nor can the defective ceilings be attributed to faulty construction work in the masonry of the school. The sagging of the ceilings must be caused by some defect in the ceilings themselves. Mr. Campbell, as yet, has not given the specific cause of the trouble.

Monday morning, after the 454 pupils who attend the Carr School had assembled in their classrooms, they were given notes to be read by their parents, and told to return to their homes. On that day Supt. of Schools Warren issued the following statement:

"During the past few days weakness in the ceilings of the Carr school has developed. From the standpoint of safety, it has been decided by the School Department and the Public Buildings department that the wisest policy is to close the building until the weakness can be investigated and rectified. The closing of the school was ordered as a matter of precaution in order to rectify conditions. All ceilings of the building are being investigated by the Public Buildings department."

"It is known that certain ceilings will have to be replaced. This means that at best the ground floor will not (Continued on Page 3)

At 3 a. m. that morning she observed DiLuca standing in Watertown square, and the policemen arrested him.

MUSIC IN THE COMMUNITY

Newton music lovers who are always glad to hear and foster music within the community will be accorded an unusual privilege through the efforts of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs in the symphony concert to be given soon by the State Symphony Orchestra. There is added interest in the program—one of real artistic and musical merit—because it will include a composition by a former Newton youth now a well known American composer, Frederick Converse. Through this concert, as well as in many other ways, Newton enjoys its rightful place in the front rank of cities of wholesome ideals and a center of art and culture. More and more the average person is being given opportunities to appreciate music and the finer arts—opportunities which can only lead to the general uplifting of humanity.

Our Lady's Church Workers Feted

About 100 members of Our Lady's parish attended a banquet at the Hotel Touraine in Boston on Tuesday evening as guests of Rev. John Sheridan. They were mostly younger members of the parish who have been assisting as ushers at the church services, and as members of the staff which assist in conducting the beano parties run by the alumni association on Monday nights. The gathering was addressed by Father Sheridan, who praised those present for their cooperation in aiding the parish. Rev. Russell Haley and Rev. Daniel Rindard, curates at Our Lady's Church, also spoke. Following the dinner about 70 of those present went to the hockey game at Boston Garden. The remainder of the guests attended the production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," at the Wilbur Theatre.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

On Tuesday January 25, Mrs. Clark E. Woodward of Hovey at Newton Centre, opened her home for a large silver tea and musicale which was given by the Newton Smith College Club to raise money for Glinling College, an American institution in China. Mrs. Harold Cranshaw was general chairman. Mrs. Haven W. Andrews was chairman of the tea, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Jameson of the tea. Mrs. Dartne Trickey Wells of Waban sang a group of songs. She was accompanied by Mrs. Gladys L. Parker, also of Waban. Mrs. Parker later played a selection of Chopin solos.

This delightful music was followed by a short talk by Mrs. Lawrence Thurston, ex-president of Glinling, who told vividly about experiences in China since last August. She got material for this talk from facts written in the diary of an instructor at Glinling College and from letters she has received from there.

Those who presided over the tea service were Mrs. Edward W. Pride, Mrs. Elliot Rogers and Mrs. Constance Kemper. About seventy-five attended.

Sunbeam Chats

I have a grand time in the bath tub every morning. Mother lets me play with some rubber toys and I can splash all I wish. Whoopee! do I have fun! She always washes my head and rinses it well so I won't get cradle cap. She cuts my nails, too, so I can't scratch myself.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

Kiwanis Club

Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton was the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club. International Trustee Jim Gallagher of the Newton Club had with him as his guests Judge Donald E. Mayberry and Probation Officer John M. Enegress both of the Newton District Court.

Ed Pease, chairman of the Education Committee, presented a fine report on the history of Kiwanis telling of its beginning in Detroit in 1915 and of its fine and steady growth up to the present time.

Jim Gallagher introduced Mayor Childs to the assembled group and observed that Mayor Childs would make a fine Republican candidate for Governor.

Stressing the fact that every citizen has certain definite obligations to his community the Mayor listed them as follows:

(1) Attention to Civic duties. Every man or woman having the right to vote is duty bound to exercise that right. Mayor Childs cited the fact that in the last City election there was cast only 46 per cent of the total registered vote of our City.

(2) Citizens must set a good example for others to follow. Service Club members in particular have an ideal opportunity in this respect.

(3) Educate Public Opinion to a high standard. By example and teaching show to our neighbors a high standard of civic responsibility.

(4) Exercises a keen interest in youth. By our example the youth of today are learning how to be the citizens of tomorrow.

(5) Prevent Crime. Prevention of Crime is a much better investment in youth than the task of reforming criminals.

In closing his talk Mayor Childs insisted that the future of our country is definitely tied up with our conformity with religion. Religion is the light that shows the way. "Remember that until a young fellow is fifteen or sixteen years of age he is what his Mother wants him to be. After that he becomes what his Father is."

Participate In Honoring Swedenborg

Local Church Observes 250th Anniversary of Birth of Founder

Last Friday evening, January 21st, in connection with the approaching commemoration of the 250th anniversary of the birth of Emanuel Swedenborg, the Rev. Franklin Blackmer, principal of the New Church Theological School of Cambridge, delivered a lecture upon the life and times of the noted Swedish scientist, philosopher, and theologian, in the parish house of the New Church, Highland ave., Newtonville. The lecture, illustrated by lantern slides and rare copies of Swedenborg's works, was well attended.

Other events in the Swedenborg commemoration program, include a banquet in the special auditorium of the Church of the New Jerusalem, 136 Bowdoin st., Boston, on the date of the anniversary, Saturday, Jan. 29th, at 6:30 p. m. Among the prominent speakers will be Dr. Howard Davis Spoerl, Director of the psychology department of the American International College at Springfield, Mass.

On Sunday, January 30th, at 3:30 p. m., at the church, 136 Bowdoin st., Boston, a choir of seventy trained voices will sing "The Glorified Christ," a cantata composed especially for the occasion by Rollo Maitland, organist of the Philadelphia New Church Society, and one of the most distinguished members of his profession in the country. Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited.

Other events for the Swedenborg commemoration will take place during the next fifteen days in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and also in Canada. In London will be held a banquet of 1200 guests with Sir Campbell Rhodes as chairman, and with the King of Sweden, the Prince of Connaught, and many other titled and literary notables as sponsors. Several radio broadcasts will be made from the larger meetings both in the United States and in Europe.

Public libraries are revising or completing their volumes of Swedenborg's works with the assistance of the Swedenborg Foundation, 51 East 42nd st., New York City. The purpose of the commemoration is to make Emanuel Swedenborg, last of the great "universal" scholars of the Renaissance, better known as a man, a scientist, and a theologian.

Emanuel Swedenborg, noted physicist, mathematician and engineer of the 18th century, was the only successful man of science known to history to become the founder of a religious organization.

Swedenborg was for 30 years Assessor of the College of Mines of the Swedish government. During this period he published works on mineralogy, metallurgy, geology, physics and mathematics. He later turned from the study of inorganic nature to investigations in anatomy, physiology and psychology.

Swedenborg's remarkable deductions on the functions of the brain and of the spinal cord received little recognition until confirmed more than a century after his death by modern experimental science. In psychology he was the first to teach that the mind functions on various levels of consciousness.

Swedenborg's attention was focussed on religion as the result of a remarkable spiritual experience in middle life. During his last 30 years he produced 83 theological volumes. After his death a church was founded on the doctrines he formulated.

Swedenborg claimed that he had been introduced while still in the body into the spiritual world. He wrote detailed and interesting accounts of things seen and heard in heaven and hell and in an intermediate world of spirits. During his years of extraordinary experience he was an active member of the Swedish House of Nobles, enjoying excellent health until a few weeks prior to his death at the age of 84, in 1772.

Newton Republican, Jan. 29, 1876

The attendance at the Newton Lyceum in City Hall on Monday evening was very large, hundreds being obliged to stand in the aisles and passageways. Good music was provided. The lecture by H. H. Lincoln a "Trip to the Gold Coast" was very interesting.

The debate on the Amnesty Bill was opened by James T. Allen. He favored the bill, said only 500 Southerners are awaiting amnesty and it would be good for this country. Dr. Whitney did not favor the bill in conjunction with his centennial of the U.S.A., but was willing it should pass for the next Centennial. Jeff Davis is not worth making such a fuss over. He should not be pardoned until he asks for it, and should have been shot down when first captured. He believed Davis knew of the horrors of Andersonville prison and could have prevented them. Mr. Drew thought it unwise to stir up the past war and rebel prisoners. This talk of Davis brings him too much before the public. All these things are in the past, let the bill become law, and pardon them all. Mr. Van Duzee was ready to clasp hands across the bloody chasm and let the past alone. Don't put Jeff Davis' name in the bill. It should include everyone. If Davis had been tried at the time he was captured, the world would have been a different place. Chief Justice Chase knew this to be the case.

Letter to Editor of Republican:— "Facts are stubborn things. I notice in last week's issue that Mr. James T. Allen in his remarks before the Newton Lyceum made the statement that the schools of Newton are the most expensive in the United States, if not in the world. Now the fact is by the last report of the Mass. Board of Education that Newton stands 19th in the cost per pupil, viz. $23.52, while the neighboring town of Brookline pays $36.56, or 55 per cent more. And Brookline is in the United States. There are four towns in Middlesex County with more expensive schools—Arlington, Lexington, Winchester and Watertown. When compared with these places with regard to valuation, Newton stands 160th, paying 3 and 4/10 mills on each dollar of taxable property, and there are 25 towns in Middlesex County outranking Newton in this respect. Will Brother Allen be more careful as to the truth of his statements hereafter, when he pitches into his rivals, the public schools. And will he tell us how expensive his West Newton Classical School is?

For one, I firmly believe that every faithful teacher of Newton earns every dollar she gets from public funds. Can the same thing be said of every other public servant? Newton owes the position she now occupies to the superiority of her schools. Let no "penny-wise" policy injure our enviable reputation."

Newton Graphic, Jan. 27, 1888

Howard Brothers finished cutting ice at Bullough's pond on Tuesday, having filled their ice houses there.

The other day a man was seen to fall down and pick himself up four times while traversing about 20 feet on one of our slippery principal streets.

The reports of frozen and burst water pipes came in from all directions on Sunday and Monday. One Newton plumber had so many calls that he had to give out numbered tickets, and before Monday night got up to 25, and calls were still coming. Even the gas pipes on some streets became frozen and a number of houses have been without gas most of the week.

A cook stove in the kitchen at the home of Rev. A. D. Earle on Galen street, Newton, exploded on Monday morning. Kettles, pots and other kitchen utensils were scattered in every direction. The trouble was caused by frozen water pipes.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Alderman Childs presented an order providing for the flowing of private lands to provide skating ponds for smaller children; the city to furnish the water at nominal cost, but no expense for the use of the land. The order was passed.

WANTED—The undersigned would like to correspond with a respectable young lady of Newton, Address James W. Cress, Fort Grant, Arizona Territory. (advertisement)

Mrs. Eben Clark of Newtonville was thrown from her sleigh at the corner of Washington and Walnut streets on Tuesday and rendered unconscious by the shock. She was carried into Gaudet's drug store and after a short time was able to be taken to her home on Eddy street.

A. J. Fiske & Company, West Newton plumbers, had over 50 orders to thaw out frozen water pipes since Sunday noon.

The Jackson homestead on Washington street, Newton, was the scene of a brilliant reception on Wednesday evening. The occasion was complimentary to Edwin Francis Smallwood of Newton on the attainment of his majority. Nearly 150 guests offered congratulations during the evening.

Powers' Paragraphs

Nature was lavish this week in gorgeous displays. Persons motoring last Sunday afternoon observed phantasms, eerie effects produced by the unusually heavy fog which crept over this region late that day, and made traffic conditions very hazardous on Sunday night and early Monday. There was sufficient moisture from the fog and the temperature was low enough to create weirdly beautiful hoar-frost coverings on trees and shrubs which afforded a fairland like spectacle from sunrise until near noon on Monday. Tuesday night old Aurora Borealis got busy at its power-house up in the Arctic region and put on the grandest illumination which this generation has seen. According to European scientists it was the most marvelous display of Northern lights in over two centuries.

One of Newton's most practical philanthropies is that conducted by the Mothers' Rest Association. For 35 years this association has maintained a rest home at Oak Hill where each summer a two weeks' vacation is given to groups of needy mothers and their children. All expenses are provided by the Association, including transportation, nursing service, medical care and entertainment. The Rest is located in a quiet grove on Pudding Stone Lane, off Brookline st. at Oak Hill. It has light, airy rooms, one for each mother; modern bathrooms, a fully equipped kitchen and a large recreation room. In the pine grove are swings, sand boxes and other play devices for the children. The Rest affords poor mothers a respite from year round drudgery in an atmosphere of peace and quiet. Catering to them is a staff which includes a matron, nurse, mother's helper, cook, laundress and two maids.

From June until the middle of September six weeks' parties enjoy the Rest. Each one includes at least 20 mothers and their children, 5 years of age and younger. They are invited through churches and charitable organizations of Greater Boston, preference being given to Newton families. The property is entirely paid for, and through efficient management and the generosity of many friends yearly expenses have been paid. The aim of the Mothers' Rest Association is to have a membership large enough to meet the annual budget of approximately $4500. Newton women are asked to help by becoming members. The annual dues are but $2. On Friday, February 4, the Association will hold a Bridge and Tea at the Newton Centre Women's Club at 2 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained from the officers: Mrs. Harold Kellar, president; Mrs. Frank N. Nathan and Mrs. Roy Arkesinger, vice presidents; Mrs. Norman Allard, secretary; Mrs. Ernest V. Alley, treasurer, or Mrs. Charles E. Bailey of 21 Lake ave.

The closing of the new Carr School on Nevada st. Newtonville, because of defective ceilings warrants a rigid investigation. This school, erected at a cost of over $300,000, has been completed slightly over two years. Public buildings erected in this city are supposed to be carefully planned, and under expert supervision while they are being built. Because this was not done in the case of the John W. Weeks School some seven or eight years ago, taxpayers of Newton have paid thousands of dollars since in attempts to stop leaks at that school and have conditions caused by dampness corrected. Now taxpayers of this city must stand the expense of additional thousands of dollars because of necessary repairs at the new Carr School. In addition 450 young children are being inconvenienced for several weeks. There should be no pussyfooting or whitewashing in regard to the situation at the Nevada st. school. Responsibility for the condition there should not only be ascertained, but citizens of Newton should be acquainted with the facts. It is up to the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen, the School Committee and the Public Buildings Department to have a show-down on this matter. There should be no polite buck passing.

The business of government of this country has been held up while a filibuster was conducted in the United States Senate against the Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill. Senators from the Southern States argue that the lives and honor of their women folks will have inadequate protection if they cannot continue to resort to lynching. It is deplorable that even a small number of negroes are lynched each year in the South. It would be a wonderful thing for this country if our Senators would give as much attention to the 37,000 sudden deaths that occurred in this country last year from motoring, as they have been giving to the few deaths which resulted from lynching.

There was an editorial in the Boston Herald last Saturday which commended American women for refusing to cease wearing silk stockings in order to boycott Japan. The editorial stated that these same women are shocked by the indiscriminate slaughter of Chinese children and non-combatants by the Japanese, but the ladies are sensible in not foregoing little creature comforts in order to emphasize ideals. The editorial is an example of short-sighted, materialistic philosophy. The writer of that editorial probably cannot visualize that within a comparatively few years the girls and women of America who prefer silk stockings to principle may pay for this choice by sacrificing their sweethearts, brothers and sons in a horrible war with Japan if that country is not curbed now by peaceful means. Boycott Japanese products. Silk is the principle export of Japan.

According to investigations made by the State Auditor, employees at various State hospitals for the insane have been dishonest. A couple of weeks ago some employees at one State hospital were accused of having wrongly diverted thousands of dollars worth of food supplies. These employees were ousted from the service of the State. If they were guilty, as was alleged, why were they not prosecuted?

Chief Asa McKenna of the Waltham police has been making a determined campaign against violators of traffic ordinances and traffic laws, with the result that he is being severely criticised. Any public official who endeavors to enforce the law is bound to be condemned. And his critics include a lot of hypocrites who are among the most blatant advocates of law and order. Enforcement of the law will promote traffic safety. "Fixing" and undeserved leniency will not.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Nerve Always with Them

Why is it that one year we get enough snow for two winters and another not enough for one? And while you're trying to find an answer to that what do you think could be accomplished if we started a movement for a more equal distribution of snow? These are the kind of questions, it seems to me, that weather forecasters could answer. In fact, they appear to be able to reason to any sort of query. I think the man who gets up the meteorological information contained in an almanac has no end of courage. He is willing and ready to risk his reputation in prophesying a year ahead on the weather. That takes daring and heroism at least. Nobody with an inferiority complex pretends to make wild guesses. When I think of self-confidence I think of weather prophets and almanac editors.

Deserving of Sympathy

"Talk about leaving rubbers behind," writes Fuller Calverley, who has been mute for a long time, "what about forgetting gloves and mittens and losing scarfs? In fact, is there any article of winter apparel that doesn't have a way of disappearing at the most inopportune and inconvenient moment? I have had a half-dozen colds this winter all from leaving off something by accident. I'd take a course in memory training if I weren't afraid I'd forget the place and time of the lectures."

"You're Next!"

It seems that almost every day I read that somebody is seeking to regulate something. Now it is the hours that barber shops shall be open for business. The Legislature is asked to cut down the time of employment to the advantage, I presume, of the employees. It is, however, a matter on which I cannot write with authority so I withhold comment. If it were a bill to reduce the hours a customer is sometimes compelled to wait his turn on a busy day you would find me one of the most earnest if not most eloquent supporters of such a measure.

I believe it would be worth while to compel barbers to make that "No Waiting" sign mean exactly what it says. I try to relax as I sit and watch other men receive the ministrations. Before long I become impatient at the time the barber spends cutting a bald-headed man's hair or trimming the thatch of a boy who is eager to be released and doesn't care much how he looks. The final and discriminating touches the tonsorial artist gives a patient may show expert workmanship but it is enough to make me eager to shout, "Stop it, and let me in that chair!"

"Electrically Transcribed"

It is no surprise to learn of the indignation fire in England over the fact that in Dorsetshire the bell-ringers have been ousted in favor of a mechanical contrivance. The chimes are no longer played by hand but from a phonograph record which is amplified with loud speakers. When the "canned" chimes were sprung last Christmas for the first time there was something akin to an uprising on the part of professional bell-ringers and their supporters. I am very positive I should have joined. I enjoy chimes and to think of talking-machine substitution would spoil the charm and beauty. I think I might go as far as some of the natives in denouncing "this beastly American importation."

What They Wanted

When I read of men compelled to pay the penalty of a capital offense with their lives I can appreciate the earnest efforts of those seeking to have this form of punishment abolished in favor of life imprisonment. Evidence that morbid people follow every detail of the final hours of the condemned is not needed. To what lengths they go is shown by an inquisitive woman who asked a newspaper man, "What was their last meal?" The reporter, speaking the truth, answered, "Meat cakes and spaghetti." The woman looked astounded, "O," said she, "and they could have had turkey."

Lecture on Capitals of Europe At N. Congregational Church

Rev. Martin L. Goslin will give an illustrated talk on the capital cities of Europe based upon his recent visit to them at the North Congregational Church at 8:00 p. m. next Wednesday evening, Feb. 2nd. He will touch upon the political situation as well as the historical and artistic interests which they afford the traveler. The course of the talk will be from London to Istanbul and back again through the Mediterranean countries. There will be an opportunity for questions and answers after the talk. The eyes of the world have often been turned to such places as Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade and Sofia, and no little interest has lately centered in Prague. These capital cities offer foci of political interests along with Berlin, Rome, Paris and London. All proceeds will be used in the church's varied activities.

Newton Trust Co. Among Nation's Largest Banks

The Newton Trust Company is one of the nation's largest banks in statistics revealed by the "American Banker" this week. These statistics applying to commercial banking institutions are published annually. The Newton Trust Co., with deposits of $17,428,749 is ranked 298th to become included in the first three hundred.

Rotary Club

Dr. Alfred C. Lane, of Cambridge, gave a very interesting talk to the Rotary Club on "The Age of the World," at the Monday noon meeting at the Charles River Country Club. He explained first of all the methods by which scientists attempt to determine the age of various parts of the world. He spoke of the progressive erosion of surfaces, breakdown of various radio activity substances, the studies of stratified rocks and soils. By determining rates of erosion, breakdown of radio activity substances, and build-up of strata, scientists are able to determine rather accurately the ages of mountains, continents, river beds and the like. Dr. Lane did not attempt to say how or when our world began, saying that he naturally could not answer these questions. He did stress, however, that the insatiable curiosity of man has enabled him to make wonderful progress in understanding his environment and that, because of continued and sustained application of effort, man is constantly bringing to light more data concerning his world and the cosmos.

Sagging Ceilings Close School

be ready for occupancy for perhaps two weeks. It will be a month, in my judgment before the building can be fully reoccupied."

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night it was decided that the committee would not interfere in any effort to fix the blame for the expensive defects which developed in the new school, and to pass this responsibility to the Buildings department. The Public Buildings Department on Monday engaged the firm of Muir Brothers of Boston to repair the ceilings. The cost of the work is estimated at between $4000 and $5000. It is probable that the ceilings in all the eight classrooms on the first floor of the school will have to be repaired, and this work will take about two weeks. The work of repairing the ceilings on the second floor will not prevent the resumption of classes in the first floor rooms, as the second floor ceilings can be strengthened from above.

The pupils who attend Carr School had a two day vacation on Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday 454 pupils started to attend other schools under the following arrangement, which was announced by Supt. of Schools Warren:

1. Kindergarten afternoon session all children to Horace Mann School with the exception of some kindergarten children who live in the vicinity of the Stearns School, who will have opportunity of going there.
2. In fact, wherever a child lives near enough to the Stearns School so that it would be easier for him to go to that school than to the school to which he is assigned, that privilege will be granted.
3. Preprimary — Miss Waddell—to F. A. Day Auditorium, 23 pupils.
- Grade 1—Miss Irvine—to F. A. Day Auditorium, 27 pupils.
- Grade 1—Miss Babcock—to F. A. Day Auditorium, 30 pupils.
- Grade 2—Miss Emerson—to F. A. Day Auditorium, 26 pupils.
- Grade 3—Miss R. Brown—to Old Claffin, 26 pupils.
- Grade 3—Miss Melzard—to New Claffin, 27 pupils.
- (One bus to be provided).
- School Session 8:30-12 noon daily.
- Grade 4—Miss Sullivan—to Peirce School, 29 pupils.
- Grade 4—Miss Genevieve—to Peirce School, 29 pupils.
- Grade 5—Miss Fisher—to Peirce School, 32 pupils.
- (2 busses to be provided).

School Session 8:30-12 noon daily.

6. Grade 5—Mrs. Robb—to 3rd floor Horace Mann School Auditorium, 33 pupils.

Grade 6—Miss Vara—to 3rd floor classroom Horace Mann School, 27 pupils.

Grade 6. Miss Hickey—to 3rd floor classroom Horace Mann School, 26 pupils.

Session—Regular full session.

7. Special Classes (2)—to Peirce School basement. Transportation by car ticket.

George Kellar, assistant to the superintendent of schools, and Arthur Swanson, supervisor of janitors, did some intensive work between Monday at 1 p. m. and Tuesday at 6:15 p. m., and with the assistance of employees of Hunting's Express and several extra janitors, furniture and supplies from 14 rooms in the Carr School were transferred to the four school buildings where the pupils of the Carr School are temporarily being housed. Busses will be provided for the pupils who have to go to the Claffin and Peirce Schools. These busses will cost the city $15 each day. The cost of moving the school furniture back and forth will amount to about $1000.

Girl Scouts

The Challenger, the first Girl Scout Mariner ship to be organized in Newton, will hold a land cruise at the house of the Skipper, Mrs. James Melcher, on February 5th. At this time the crew of nine girls will receive their first insignia, the Mariner pin.

This ship was organized in the Fall of 1937 and was registered in November as ship number 36. The meetings are held every other week. The girls are over fourteen years of age and all have a love of the sea and of boating. Some of the crew have been sailing and racing their own boats for many summers. Others have never been in a small boat but are learning things that will be of value to them. At one meeting four Sea Scouts gave a demonstration with the United States life belt and rings. In the spring there will be a trip to some shipping center, an expedition to the New Bedford Whaling Museum, and also a week end at the shore where there will be an opportunity to make use of the knowledge gained during the year.

There may be groups of people in the other Newton villages who are interested in having their own ship or in helping on a village committee. The Newton Girl Scout headquarters is ready to assist in having ships organized in other communities. Details may be obtained from Mrs. James B. Melcher, chairman, Newton Mariner Committee, 16 Garden rd., Newton.

Hospital Trustees In Annual Meeting

Plans For New Nurses Home

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees was held at the Newton Hospital on Tuesday, January 25. Mr. William Chase presided in the absence of Mr. Herbert Cole whose illness prevented his attendance.

Mr. Frank L. Richardson was elected president for the coming year and three new trustees were appointed, namely, Charles M. Cutler of Newtonville, W. Elliott Pratt, Jr. and Mrs. Robert L. Studley of Wellesley. The complete list of the Board of Trustees is as follows:
Officers—Frank L. Richardson, president; William F. Chase, vice-president; Herbert M. Cole, vice-president; William H. Rice, clerk; Executive Committee—W. F. Chase, H. M. Cole, W. H. Hill, H. F. Keever, M. D. Mrs. Vernon B. Swett, E. D. Leonard, M. D., A. W. Rayner, F. L. Richardson, H. A. Wentworth, L. B. Rogers, Mrs. E. P. Saltonstall, W. J. Spaulding, R. A. Whidden, Finance Committee—Louis Harvey, D. D. McKay, J. A. Paine, H. J. Nichols, F. L. Richardson, J. J. Robinson, W. J. Spaulding, W. E. Stanwood, W. E. Jones, C. H. Walker, Investment Committee—F. L. Richardson, S. M. Bolster, W. J. Spaulding, M. L. Madden, E. J. Frost, Auditing Committee—F. L. Richardson, C. B. Gordon, W. E. Pratt, Jr.
The business meeting was followed by a dinner which was attended by members of the Board of Trustees, doctors, School of Nursing Committee, executives of the hospital staff and school of nursing. Mr. Frank J. Richardson, President of the Board of Trustees for the forthcoming year, presided.

The following is a summary of a report given at the annual meeting by Mr. William Chase, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees:

The year 1937 marks the first year of the second half century of the life of the Newton Hospital. Much has been done to improve the physical plant and to bring the conduct of the hospital to a high state of efficiency during the past year. The scope of the service to the community has been broad. The daily average number of patients was 160.38; 5,186 were admitted to hospital beds in addition to 125 patients who were in the hospital on January first, making a total of 5,311 patients who received 58,596 days' care. In addition 1,886 patients were admitted for x-ray and as out patients; 3,876 were treated in the Out Patient Department making a grand total of 11,073 patients who received care in the various departments. 649 babies were born including five sets of twins; of these births 402 were of Newton residents. 103 pre-school and school children upon recommendation of the Board of Health of the City of Newton had their tonsils removed through the tonsil clinic without charge.

The operating deficit was wiped out by the contributions of the community chest and Wellesley residents, and the income from invested funds and donations.

Tribute was paid to the splendid work the chest is doing throughout the city and extended thanks for the generous cooperation in aiding the hospital to solve its problems.

Many outstanding improvements in the physical plant have been made which will enable the hospital to render more satisfactory service to its patients, an outstanding one being the modernization of the repair shop.

A general program of repair has continued throughout the year with the result that the institution and its equipment are in good condition. The nursing department of the hospital has two responsibilities, that of providing adequate nursing service to patients and to insure sound professional education to its students. The hospital and school were recently chosen by a national committee as one of fourteen institutions in which a study is being made of the cost of hospitalizing nursing to patients. The criteria upon which the selection was made are adequate nursing service and an acceptable educational program.

An outstanding problem confronts the attention of the Board of Trustees, that of a new nurses' home which has long been needed and which is now necessary in order to accommodate the number of nurses demanded for the care of the patients. It was voted to conduct a drive, subject to the approval of the Newton Community Chest, for $225,000 for a nurses' home. Architectural plans have already been drawn up and the finance committee was instructed to go ahead with preparations for raising the fund.

A second problem is the modernization of the Children's Ward which was built in 1898; the cost of this modernization is estimated at $2,500. The Board of Trustees would welcome gifts from hospital friends for this purpose.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS

The committee that at the coming convention of American Asso. of School Administrators, six of the personnel of the Newton Public Schools will attend. These will include the superintendent, principal of the high school, elementary supervisor, director of research, a junior high school principal, and an elementary school principal. Heretofore such conventions have been attended only by the superintendent, and the principal of the high school. The reason given for the increase in the number of those who will go to the convention is that it will be held at Atlantic City, which is comparatively nearby, and the expenses will be proportionately less than if the convention were held in a more distant city.

The retirement of Susan Doran, a teacher at Day Junior High School was announced, and the resignation of Genevieve Doran, a teacher at the Franklin School. L. Francis Knowles, a teacher at the Hyde School was granted a leave of absence for the balance of this school year. The transfer of Sarah Moses from the Ward School to the Franklin School as principal's assistant, was approved.

Clubwomen Sponsor WPA Concert

Friday evening, February 4th, will be an evening of music in the Newton High School Auditorium, sponsored by the clubwomen of Newton. The list of clubwomen for the several sections of the city, belonging to the clubs affiliated with the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, who are patronesses of this musical event, indicates the keen interest which is to make the concert a successful affair.

This is the first time that the State Symphony Orchestra, which is an orchestra of the Federal Music Project, has played in the Newtons. Its concert given in Jordan Hall, Boston, and in Saunders Theatre of Harvard University, Cambridge, have given it prestige as an outstanding musical organization in New England. Alexander Thiede is its conductor.

The program, which will begin at 8:15 p. m., includes the following delightful compositions: Wagner's Overture to Tannhauser; Debussy's Nocturnes; Nages, Potes, Sirenes; Converse's American Sketches; Manhattan, The Father of Waters, Chicken Reel, Bright Angel Trail; and Tschakowsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor, Opus 36 Andante sostenuto, Andante in mode di canzona, Scherzo, Finale-Allegro con fuoco.

Of added interest to Newton audiences is the name of Mr. Converse on the program. Frederick Shepherd Converse was born in Newton and graduated from the Newton High School. He took his A.B. at Harvard in 1893; then studied music in Munich. He became an instructor at the N. E. Conservatory and also at Harvard. His career as a composer has carried him to a distinctive place in the musical world. His home is now in Westwood. It is expected that Mr. Converse will be present at the concert.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs in sponsoring this WPA Concert is not only bringing the opportunity to a Newton audience to hear this State Symphony Orchestra, but is assisting students who have musical ability to follow the study of music by providing musical instruments for their use. The proceeds from the sale of tickets for the concert will be contributed to the Newton School department for the purchase of musical instruments which will be used in school orchestras by children who are not able financially to supply their own instruments. These will remain the property of the School department.

Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation, has announced the following committee for the selling of tickets for the concert. In the several sections of Newton: General chairman, Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson; Auburndale, Mrs. Guy M. Winslow and Mrs. Austin was head for many years. This little tribute was especially fitting as Mr. Boyden had, on several occasions read in his delightful manner, before this literary group of which Mrs. Boyden is a most active member.

Mrs. Andrews then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ernest Kuebler who gave an artistic reading of the prison scene of Jeanne D'Arc. Mrs. Kuebler next asked members of "The Circle" to read a short one-act play by Dorothy Allen, in which parts were taken by Mrs. Charles H. Abrams, Jr., Mrs. Laura Hudson, and Miss Ruth Spear. This play took up the theme of the overcoming of death through a strong desire to live by two young people who were seriously injured in an automobile accident.

To add to the variety of the afternoon's program, Mr. Carl P. Birmingham, of the Newton High School faculty, reviewed informally Noel Coward's "Present Indicative," and read two of his amusing and clever short plays entitled "Ways and Means" and "The Family Album." Community Service Club of West Newton

The members and guests of the Community Service Club of West Newton at the meeting on January 19th enjoyed a most educational and informative talk by Adele Hoes Lee on "The Theatre and the Current Plays in New York." She reviewed briefly the trend which plays for the past few years have taken: the gangster plays of a few years ago; last year the drift to classical backgrounds and tendencies; and for the plays now running, Mrs. Lee considered that they could be generally spoken of as of the heavy drama type. It is particularly noticeable that straight comedy seems to be almost entirely lacking. Attention was called to The Mercury Theatre, where a group of young people are having such a tremendous success, and to The Labor Theatre, where "Needles and Pins" is being produced by a group of dramatic enthusiasts from the Ladies Garment Union.

A good play, Mrs. Lee pointed out, must present an element of conflict and create what is known as aesthetic distance or "empathy," the quality which puts the actor and the audience in sympathy. "Susan and God," a comedy with a message by Rachel Crothers, and starring Gertrude Lawrence was reviewed; also "Mice and Men," John Steinbeck's own dramatization of his novel; and "The Star" (Continued on page 8)
